MAD LOVE FOR MARRIED WOMAN HAS SEQUENCE IN A TRAGEDY

WILLIAM COSTELLO. OSCAR L. HOWARD. MRS. DALLIS DOUGLASS.

New Castle Man Probably Mortally Wounds Wife of Well-Known Millworker.

POLICE PREVENT A LYNCHING

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 9.—Crazed by drink and his mad infatuation for the wife of another man, Oscar L. Howard, a young married man of East Reynolds street, shot down Mrs. Dallis Douglass, wife of William J. Douglass of 124 Galbreath street, while she was standing at Mill street and Long avenue at noon today.

Mrs. Douglass was waiting for a street car and did not see Howard, who alighted from a car, and, stepping behind her, shot her in the back. The shot and her screams as she dropped to the street, caused a crowd to gather. Howard was unsteadily attempting to fire again at the prostrate woman, when William Costello, a tinworker, saw her danger and knocked Howard down by a blow on the jaw. The revolver dropped from Howard's hand and Costello kicked it into the street, and then jumped upon the man and held him down.

The crowd made threats of lynching, but Costello and Albert Wooley forced Howard into a nearby barber shop and held him until the police arrived. Mrs. Douglass was hurried to the hospital where an X-ray photograph showed that the bullet had lodged in the abdominal region. It was at first thought that she was dying, but this afternoon she revived somewhat and has a fighting chance for life.

Mrs. Douglass is 23 years old and was formerly Miss Dallis Shelto of Conneaut. She was married three years ago to William J. Douglass, a boss roller in the Green tin mill, where Howard is employed as a heater. Howard is a son of Lewis F. Howard of 509 Pollock avenue and has lived here all his life. He is 20 years old and was married seven years ago to Miss Bessie Thatcher of 15½ East Reynolds street, where he lived with his wife and mother-in-law.

Mrs. Douglass revived sufficiently this afternoon at the hospital to speak of the shooting. She did not see Howard until after she was shot. While lying on the pavement she saw him aiming to shoot her again, when Costello knocked him down.

Howard does not yet know how serious her condition is. He asked Mayor Hainer to go and "square this scrape" with Mrs. Howard. He claimed to Mayor Hainer that he had been drinking absinthe all morning and was crazy drunk and did not know what he was doing.

Howard for a long time has admired the woman and has annoyed her with threatening letters. Not knowing who sent them, last winter she appealed to the mayor for protection. Finally Mrs. Douglass received a note ordering her to meet the writer at North street at 10 o'clock one morning. She notified Chief of Police Horner, who advised her to appear, while he would also be near by. Howard appeared and talked with Mrs. Douglass, but slunk away when the officer came in sight. He was afterward taken to police headquarters and admitted writing the letters, but begged to be allowed to go without the disgrace of publicity, promising to annoy the Douglasses no more.

This afternoon District Attorney J. V. Cunningham and Chief of Police Spiers took Mrs. Douglass' deposition.

ENTIRE FLOCK ON PEACE BOND

Kentucky Pastor Has Members of His Congregation Placed Under a General Bond.

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The most far-reaching peace bond ever issued in the state of Kentucky was granted by Judge Riley this morning against all members of the Liberty Baptist church on the petition of the pastor, the Rev. L. C. Holloway.

There has been friction between the pastor and his flock and this reached a climax two days ago when the minister was arested on a charge preferred by church members, of carrying concealed weapons. The divine now retaliates by having the entire congregation in court and forcing a general peace bond of $500. Further trouble is expected.

Referendum Proposal is Defeated.

CHRISTIANIA, NORWAY, Oct. 10.—The storthing at 1:30 o'clock this morning proceeded to a division on the proposal of the republican minority to submit the Karistad agreement concerning the dissolution of the union between Norway and Sweden to a referendum. The proposal was rejected by a vote of 109 to 8.

The agreement was then accepted by a vote of 101 to 16. This is a great victory for the government.

Hot Springs Physician Is Shot.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK., Oct. 9.—Dr. C. H. Alexander was shot and killed tonight near his home by "Merch" Jamison. Dr. Alexander and his daughter Nora were going home when they met Jamison, who began shooting. The shooting is said to have been the culmination of family troubles.

BABIES EATEN IN HAYTI BY CANNIBALS

Special Agent of the United States Finds Deplorable State of Affairs.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—H. F. Worley, an agent of the insular bureau, who was sent to Santo Domingo to investigate the revenue conditions on the border between the Dominican and Haitien republics, has made a partial report to the war department. He estimates that the smuggling that has been going on across this border has cost the Dominican government from $250,000 to $400,000 a year.

Mr. Worley also made a trip into the interior of Hayti while he was on the island, and says that reports were often brought to him of savage customs in the wildest regions, including cannibalistic feasts, where the victims are babies. These reports were sufficiently authentic to be believed by him.

The method of smuggling, he said, was to land goods in ports at Hayti and send them by coasting vessels near the Dominican line. They were then carried over the border by mule trains. Some of the largest mercantile houses in Monti Cristi had their warehouses far inland, where these goods were smuggled across the border. Mr. Worley was sent down there to establish customs houses in the interior between the two countries, and he was warned that if he attempted to carry out his instructions he was liable to be assassinated, so determined are the smugglers to continue their traffic. But customs houses have been established and others will be established until it will be impossible to continue the smuggling. The department doubtless will send enough men to Santo Domingo to protect the revenues of the government. The tariff in Santo Domingo, according to estimates made by Mr. Worley, is about 75 per cent ad valorem, which is a great inducement to smugglers.

FORMER RAILROAD CASHIERS ARRESTED

Sensation Caused at Toledo by Charges of Embezzlement Being Lodged Against Prominent Citizens.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 9.—William W. Edwards and J. E. Sheehy, former cashiers of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad, were arrested this evening on embezzlement charges, the former in the sum of $2,000 and the latter for $100. Edwards was taken at his magnificent residence in Jefferson avenue and Sheehy was arrested two hours later in the street. The warrants were sworn out by Walter E. Jones, one of the bookkeepers of the railroad company. Edwards was soon out on bond, but at this time Sheehy is still held.

Edwards' attorney says they have been courting arrest for the past three months, or since Edwards has been asked to resign following an examination of the books of the company by experts. Twenty thousand dollars were found to be missing, dating back over a period of several years.

When the investigation was being made it was found that many of the records had been destroyed, and for a time it was thought an arson charge would be brought against some of the employes, as it looked like a deliberate attempt to conceal the shortage, when an incipient fire occurred which destroyed the books only. Both men stand high in the community, and the arrest has caused a sensation.

OLD TRUNK CONCEALED THE MERCHANT'S BODY

Peculiar Tragedy Unearthed in Havana. Police Search for Youthful Clerk as the Murderer.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

HAVANA, Oct. 9.—The body of Ramon Carmona, manager of a trunk store, was found this afternoon inside a locked trunk which had been concealed in a remote corner of the store underneath a stairway. The police are searching for a youth known as Jose, who had been employed in the store for a month past and slept there, and who has disappeared. Carmona had opened the safe, presumably under compulsion, and $2,000 had been taken from it.

Carmona entered the store at the usual hour this morning, but later the police were notified that the store had not been opened for business. Several hours later the police found the body, which was then warm. Beyond a wounded finger, there were no marks on the body except where the throat had been clutched. It is believed that Carmona was killed by strangulation.

WABASH TILT REACHES A CRISIS AT TOLEDO

Messrs. Ramsey and Gould Meet in Battle Today.

FALSE EVIDENCE CHARGE IS MADE

Former President of the Road Says Court Decision Was Obtained Through Fraud.

BOTH FACTIONS ARE ARRAYED

Principals in Approaching Contest Are Cool, While Lieutenants Are Hustling for Advantage at Meeting Which Will Decide Supremacy.

Special Telegram From WILLIAM L. ROSS, Staff Correspondent.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 9.—"The decision against me in St. Louis today was obtained on false evidence," is the strong statement made tonight by Joseph Ramsey, Jr., former president of the Wabash railroad.

"If you will read the text of the decision as telegraphed to the newspapers you will see the judge admitted the case was replete with illegal actions, but he stated that as I had voted the proxies of the stock owned by the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain at the last annual meeting I was not entitled to the relief that I asked.

"Whatever evidence was introduced to show that I voted these proxies last year or the year before was false. If I had been there it would never have gone undenied on the records. I did not collect the proxies, nor did I vote them. My part in that meeting was merely to call it to order. Then as I had some business connected with the Ann Arbor railroad to attend to, I excused myself and left the room. The proxies of the Missouri Pacific and the Iron Mountain were voted by the secretary of the Wabash Railroad Company.

Trial Becoming a Farce.

"We determined to withdraw our suit in the Toledo court against the serving of certain inspectors of election because the trial was being made a farcical one, based upon mere technicalities. It had reached a point where it was a question also of showing our hand to the entire opposition as to our strength or allowing the case to go by default and not opposing the inspectors."

"Notice this," said Col. A. D. Palmer, who was with Mr. Ramsey today. "We did not impugn at any time the motives of the gentlemen named as inspectors. What we did impugn and still impugn is their ability to judge the many complicated legal questions which will arise in connection with tomorrow's election."

Both of the gentlemen chiefly interested in the fray, George J. Gould and Mr. Ramsey, are spending their night before the battle with much more ease of mind than the thousands who are watching the conflict. Mr. Ramsey is engaged in a game of chess which seems much more complex than the proxy game he has been playing. Mr. Gould, sitting in his private car, Atlanta, at the Union station with E. T. Jeffrey, Benjamin Nicoll and the others of that party which Mr. Ramsey designates the "kitchen cabinet," seems to have no greater worry than the effort to make his perfecto burn straight.

Gould Brings a Crowd.

The lieutenants, however, are busy. With Mr. Gould came enough lawyers to conduct any kind of a fight, and in their rooms at the Boody house the long distance telephones are ringing and orders are going out. Among the lawyers in the Gould party are Winslow S. Pierce, Lawrence A. Grier and Rush Taggart. Besides, Mr. Gould is reinforced with his Toledo staff and from the Wabash proper at St. Louis there are present: Wells H. Blodgett, vice president and general counsel; C. N. Travous, attorney for Illinois; B. C. Winston, assistant attorney; E. B. Pryor, vice president in charge

THE FROST IS ON THE BERRY

NECK OSSIFIED; GALLOWS HAS NO TERROR

"Can't Hang This Man, and No Use Trying," Says Gardiner's Lawyer.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Because of a peculiar freak of nature, Robert Gardiner, a prisoner in the county jail here, charged with the murder of Agnes Morrison, may escape the death penalty. When he was arraigned in court today his attorney, William Vuckner, startled the court by turning to Assistant State's Attorney Barbour and saying:

"This is a case where it won't do you any good to ask for the death penalty. They can't break this man's neck if they do try to hang him, and you may lose him altogether by hanging him and failing to execute the sentence in full."

The prisoner is suffering from ossification of the vertebrae and tissues of the neck. According to Professor Steffenson of Rush Medical college, only five cases similar have ever come to the notice of the medical profession.

Gardiner was formerly a cashier. He is unable to move his head or incline it except with great effort and is barely able to eat or speak.

MR. BURKE LEASES HOUSE AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Representative James Francis Burke and Mrs. Burke of Pittsburgh were here today and leased a handsome apartment in the Highlands where they will make their home this winter. Mr. Burke will bring his automobile to Washington. He called at the White House today to pay his respects, and he and Mrs. Burke left on the midnight train for Pittsburgh.

Woman's Error Causes Her Death.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Mrs. Harry Herbert, aged 48 years, died at Follansbee, W. Va., this evening from the effects of a dose of carbolic acid taken by mistake. She was alone at the time and it was some time before her condition was discovered. The family lived at Leechburg, Pa., where her remains will be shipped for interment.

TO CONTRIBUTE A LARGE SUM FOR A CURE

Henry Phipps Believed to Have Made Offer to Aid in Consumption Research.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Professor Behring's announcement to the international tuberculosis congress in Paris of a cure for consumption has aroused widespread interest in America.

The full reports and comments, which have been fully cabled from Paris, have interested one of New York's wealthiest and best-known citizens, whose name is withheld for the present, but who is believed to be Henry Phipps of Pittsburgh.

He has authorized the New York Herald to announce he will contribute $50,000 to a fund to present to Professor Behring if he will at once announce to the world his treatment and not withhold it for a year.

The only qualification to this offer is that the treatment must first be pronounced successful by a competent committee of physicians, of which the donor's physician, one of the widest known practitioners in America, is a member.

CLERK IMPERSONATES DEAD MAN TWO YEARS

City Employe Holds Place for Which a Deceased Relative Has Passed Civil Service Examination.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—After working two years as a trusted clerk in the bureau of assessments and arrears, appearing on the records of the civil service board in the name of a dead man, Joseph Ford, who has served sentences in prison aggregating more than 23 years for manslaughter and assault and battery, was arrested today at his office by detectives from the district attorney's office and locked up at headquarters. Ford is charged with having impersonated a cousin, Frank A. Sliney, who died a year ago, after having successfully passed a civil service examination for a junior clerkship.

In assuming the name and personality of Sliney, Ford gave his own correct age, which is 51 years, while Sliney was carried on the civil service roll as 28. So thoroughly were the officials hoodwinked that on the day when the warrant was obtained for his arrest Ford had his salary raised from $600 to $1,356.

Ford's arrest came about through information sent to Assistant District Attorney Vandiver a week ago and an investigation of the records of the municipal civil service board disclosed the fraud. On January 5, 1905, Frank A. Sliney, a clerk in a clothing store, applied to the civil service commission for a position as junior clerk. He took the examination successfully, but continued to remain in his old position for a time. He died in September, 1904.

RAMSEY LOSES HIS PURSE.

But the Valuable Property Is Recovered By a Pullman Porter—Contained Large Sum.

GOSHEN, IND., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—A purse belonging to ex-President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash railroad and containing cash and negotiable notes to the amount of $5,000 was recovered here this morning on a west-bound Lake Shore passenger train. Upon leaving his stateroom in the Pullman sleeper in Toledo, Mr. Ramsey forgot the purse.

Not until two hours after the train left did he make the discovery of his loss. Then he wired to intercept the train here and it was learned the porter had found the purse. It was taken on to Chicago and sent back to Toledo this afternoon.

CROWE IS SORE; PINKERTON IS IN DANGER

Kidnaper Says He Has Only to Say the Word and Detective Will Be Planted.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

OMAHA, NEB., Oct. 9.—Pat Crowe is very sore at the Pinkertons. "If that pair Pinkerton rags against me during my trial in Omaha," he said today, "I'll have him killed so dead that he won't even kick. All I have to do is to say the word to a man who is waiting to do the job. He would have done it long ago, but I would not let him.

"Now just let him rap, and there will be flowers planted on his grave before I am put under the sod."

Crowe was not inclined to talk of the past. He declared that much had been published on his alleged doings, confessions and other matters, which was without foundation. Among these he mentioned a confession said to have been signed by him at Butte implicating young Cudahy in a conspiracy in connection with his kidnaping.

"When this case comes to trial," said Crowe, "the truth will be known to the world."

"Is it true that you once offered to return $21,000 to Edward A. Cudahy if he would not prosecute you?" Crowe was asked.

"I believe Mr. Cudahy has made the statement that I did so. I do not think he would tell a lie for $21,000," Crowe replied.

In registering Crowe was asked by the police what his occupation was. Crowe remarked: "Dodging you fellows has been about all I have done for the past six or seven years."

PENNSY WILL REQUIRE MANY MORE ENGINES

Company Short of Locomotives and Orders Will be Placed for More Than One Hundred.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has before him the schedule of locomotives that will be required next year. It is understood that there will be ordered at least 120 new locomotives to take the place of those that have been relegated to the scrap heap or have been disposed of to some other road. As to the number that will be required to handle the largely increasing business, nothing has been decided upon.

It is believed that there will be required a large number of locomotives next year and that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will place an order nearly as large as was given this year. The company is at present short of both locomotives and freight cars.

WOULD LIMIT FORTUNES.

Retired United States Naval Officer Thinks $10,000,000 Is Enough Wealth for Any Individual.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Commander Robert Berton Rooney, U. S. N., retired, has sent broadcast a most remarkable circular calling upon the United States government to limit fortunes of individuals to $10,000,000, all holdings over that amount to be condemned and confiscated into the United States treasury.

Commander Rodney points out the danger of increasing fortunes and the possibility of revolution started in the crowded cities. For national safety, he says, cities should be reduced rather than increased in size. He pardons pecuniary for the men who have collected money from the masses.

WOMAN VISITS MORGUE FIRST ALIVE, THEN DEAD

Dead House Attendants Discussing Her Behavior Recognize Their Sunday Caller in the Corpse of Suicide Just Brought In.

Attaches of the morgue were talking last night of a young woman who on Sunday had visited the morgue and seemed much interested in the bodies lying behind the glass cases in the mortuary. One of the bodies had not been identified and the girl said:

"If they ever bring me here there will be no trouble about telling who I am. Both my arms are tattooed."

While the morgue attendants were discussing the case a call came on the telephone and the wagon was sent to the Homeopathic hospital. It returned with the body of a young woman, and when it was taken to the receiving room it was recognized as that of the morgue visitor. On one arm was tattooed a heart transfixed with an arrow, and on the other arm were the initials "L. H."

These marks may serve to identify the girl, but up to midnight no one had learned who she was. The corpse is that of a rather handsome woman, with black hair and about 30 years of age. She was clad in a black dress and black turban hat.

About 9 o'clock the Central police patrol wagon was summoned to 41 Chatham street. On the sidewalk in front of the house the wagon men found the young woman lying, unconscious. She was lifted into the wagon and taken to the Central police station. Sergt. Thomas Morley was called to the cellroom, the wagon men having laid the prisoner on the floor, and Morley immediately said she was not drunk, but was dying. She was put into the wagon and died just as the horses drove up to the hospital. The morgue ambulance was telephoned for. The people living in the Chatham street house say they know nothing about the girl, and when they first saw her she was lying on the sidewalk. She had taken carbolic acid and had swallowed it so cleanly that the usual acid marks about the mouth were missing.

HUGHES REFUSES THE NOMINATION

Insurance Investigator Says His Duties Will Not Allow Him to Accept Office.

MR. YOUNG ALSO DECLINES

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the insurance investigating committee, today declined the Republican nomination for mayor of New York city. In stating his grounds for refusing he said:

"In this dilemma I have simply to do my duty as I see it, in my judgment I have no right to accept the nomination. A paramount public duty forbids it. It is necessary to enlarge upon the importance of the insurance investigation. This is undisputed. It is dealing with questions vital to the interests of millions of our fellow citizens throughout the land. It presents an opportunity for public service second to none and involves correlative responsibility.

"This work commands all my energies. It is imperative that I continue in it. You have frankly recognized that it must continue unembarrassed and with unimpaired efficiency. But it is entirely clear to me that this cannot be if I accept the nomination. You know how desirous I have been that the investigation should not be colored by any suggestion of political motive. Whatever confidence it has inspired has been due to absolute independence from political consideration. It is not sufficient to say that an acceptance of this nomination, coming to me unsought, would not deflect my course by a hair's breath. The non-political character of the investigation and its freedom from bias, either of fear or of favor, not only must exist, they must be recognized. I cannot permit them, by any action of mine, to become matters of debate.

"There are abundant opportunities for misconstruction. Doubtless many abuses will remain undisclosed, many grievous wrongs to which the evidence points from time to time may be found unsusceptible of proof; many promising clues will be taken up in vain. Were I with the best of intentions to accept the nomination it is my conviction that the work of the investigation would be largely discredited; its motives would be impugned and its integrity assailed. To many it would appear that its course would be shaped and its lines of inquiry would be chosen, developed or abandoned as political ambition might prompt or political exigency demand.

"Such a situation would be intolerable. There is but one course open. The legislative inquiry must proceed with convincing disinterestedness. Its great opportunities must not be imperilled by alienating the support to which it is entitled or by giving the slightest occasion for questioning the sincerity and single-mindedness with which it is conducted."

Richard Young, nominee for controller, also refused the nomination. He said: "I appreciate very highly the honor conferred upon me by the Republican party of this city in nominating me for the office of controller.

"I also appreciate its expression of esteem and the confidence of my friends and fellow citizens in me as indicated by the numerous messages and letters which I have received, and I regret very much that I cannot see my way clear to accept the nomination."

YOUNG BRIDE DROWNS AND HUSBAND IS UNDER ARREST

Suspicious Circumstances Surround the Death of a New York Woman in the Harlem River.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Kathren Duerr, 18 years old, and a bride, was drowned in Harlem river at dusk today under circumstances that caused the arrest of her husband and of Charles Hahn, a boarder in the Duerr family, the latter being suspected as an accessory. Mrs. Mary Messnick, mother of the young woman, told the police that the couple often quarreled, and Duerr threatened to kill his wife.

Duerr admitted he had quarreled with his wife, but denied he had any designs on her life. Duerr says he asked Hahn to give his wife an outing, as he had business which would prevent him accompanying her.

Hahn's story is that he went to Fort George with Mrs. Duerr and hired a rowboat to row down the Harlem. The passage of a tugboat caused the boat to rock and Mrs. Duerr, he says, stood up suddenly, lost her balance and fell overboard. He had lost an oar and was unable to get back to the spot where she sank.

THE WABASH RAILROAD FIGHT REACHES A CRISIS AT TOLEDO

of accounts; Lawrence A. Pierce, a director, and George A. Francisco.

With Mr. Ramsey came only his private secretary and Col. Palmer. There are others here who are looking out for his interests. Col. Palmer is pretty well convinced what the course will be. He said this evening: "We have approximately 750 different proxies. A Wabash proxy is sometimes a peculiar instrument and there is much room for dispute. It has been so long since there was a dividend on the stock that years have passed and the stock has gone through many hands and no other mark of ownership than its indorsement in blank. The transfers on the books have not been made. When the stock was issued any name was put on the books. The elevator man's name with his indorsement in blank was plenty good enough, while in a pinch, if there were not others handy, the firemen at the furnace in the basement helped some.

Some Well-Worn Proxies.

"Why, some of the certificates are so worn by passing through many hands that the names on the back where the indorsement was made are hardly legible and the writers have died or disappeared. With each of our proxies, however, we have obtained an affidavit that the person from whom we secured the proxy is the rightful owner, and this under the Ohio laws gives us the prima facia evidence needed.

"Now I have not the slightest doubt in the world that there will be a large proportion of these proxies disputed. Nor on the other hand is it probable that we shall dispute some of Mr. Gould's. It appears to me that the meeting will be a prolonged one.

"We have a considerable number of proxies coming from Europe. They probably reached New York on Saturday's boat, but were not delivered until this morning. Instructions were left for them to be sent on to us here at once. They should be here before the meeting."

Frederick A. Delano, who since the summary ousting of Mr. Ramsey from the presidency of the Wabash railroad proper last week, is now president of the entire Wabash system, reached Toledo this evening. He still says smilingly, "It's not my fight."

In a statement by a Gould lawyer after Mr. Ramsey withdrew his case today, the case decided in Missouri today was reviewed. He said in conclusion: "There was no question involved as to any violation of the statute of any state other than Missouri and there was no claim made that the voting of the stocks or bonds would have been a violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Gould Victory Predicted.

Mr. Gould this afternoon declined to discuss the probably outcome of the meeting, but his friends confidently predict that he will not only retain control of the Wabash system by an overwhelming majority of votes, but that when the smoke of battle has cleared away, it will be found that not only has Mr. Ramsey failed to gain control of the system, but that he has been removed from it entirely, and that his name does not even appear in the new board of directors.

Mr. Ramsey, like Mr. Gould, declines to make predictions. He is, however, to all appearances, cheerful and confident to a degree. Neither side will give figures as to the total number of proxies controlled, but the Gould party declared tonight that the decision of Judge Taylor in St. Louis, which gave to Mr. Gould practically 150,000 votes, meant nothing to him so far as ability to control the meeting is concerned. No matter how that case was decided, they claim, Mr. Gould has so large an excess of votes, that he could not only have lost the 140,000 but could even have transferred them to Mr. Ramsey, without altering the result. To statements such as these Mr. Ramsey says nothing. He simply laughs and says:

"We will know all about it tomorrow."

The stockholders' meeting will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in the offices of Smith & Beckwith, the local attorneys for the Wabash road. It is scheduled to last until 12, but will probably be over before that hour. The probability is that the meeting of directors will not follow that of the stockholders, but will be held some weeks later in New York.

The decision of Judge Taylor in St. Louis, which released for use against Mr. Ramsey all the votes controlled by the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain railroads, was mentioned in court this afternoon by Judge Doyle. Mr. Ramsey's attorney, as "this important decision affecting one-thirtieth of all the votes," but Mr. Ramsey himself did not outwardly, at least, invest it with as much importance as did his lawyer.

However, at a conference held at noon between Mr. Ramsey and his attorneys, it was decided, in view of the decision of Judge Taylor, to abandon the fight started by Mr. Ramsey for the removal of the three men who have for several years acted as judges of election at the annual meetings of the Wabash road. Throughout the morning the attorneys for Mr. Ramsey, and those acting for the Wabash railroad, argued upon the power of the court to remove the three inspectors. The counsel for Mr. Ramsey submitted a long list of names, appended to an affidavit which set forth that the people whose names were submitted, were actual owners of Wabash stock or of debenture bonds. The Gould lawyers insisted that there was no proof in court that the owners of the names were bona fide holders of either bonds or stock. The Ramsey attorneys admitted this, but declared that they could not prove this positively without the stock book of the Wabash railroad, which was in the possession of Mr. Gould, and they asked that the court order the stock book brought into court.

Swing Around Legal Circle.

Then they all swung around the legal circle again. The Wabash lawyers claiming that the court had no power to order the stock book produced because it had not been shown that it was asked for by any person having the right to ask for it. There was no proof, they said, that Mr. Ramsey represented anybody but himself. When court adjourned at noon the attorneys for Mr. Ramsey were practically demanding that the stock book be produced to show that their clients had the right to ask for it. The Gould lawyers held that the stock book could not be ordered into court for the sake of proving that somebody had the right to ask to have it produced. It was a regular legal merry-go-round. Every time it started off, it stopped where it started, only to start again where it had stopped. The direct path out of the labyrinth was revealed when the court met in the afternoon.

Judge Kirkade took his seat, the attorneys for the Wabash road, apparently in high feather over the St. Louis decision, laughing and whispering among themselves. Mr. Ramsey was represented only by Judge Doyle. There was a long pause —and the silence was broken by Judge Kinkade remarking: "The gentlemen may proceed if they are ready."

There was another prolonged silence. Judge Doyle was busily reading a corpulent law book and the Wabash attorneys sat still and looked pleasant. The silence continued until it grew into an embarrassment. Then Judge Doyle looked up quickly, saying:

"If your honor waiting for me?"

"I'm waiting for somebody—anybody," said the judge, patiently.

"Your honor," said Judge Doyle, "since the adjournment of the hearing this morning we have seen the telegraphed decision of the federal court in St. Louis upon Mr. Ramsey's application to restrain the voting of the stock held by the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain railways. The decision says that great illegality have been committed, but because Mr. Ramsey last year voted the stock in the same manner in which he is now seeking to prevent, he is estopped from asking relief. In view of this important decision which affects fully one-thirtieth of the vote, we now ask permission to withdraw our application for the removal of the three election inspectors."

The move of Mr. Ramsey's attorneys occasioned great surprise, and for nearly a minute nobody spoke. Judge Kinkade then said:

"I believe that an attorney making an application to the court for relief has the right to withdraw such application if he so desires."

"We are willing, your honor," said Attorney Brown for the Wabash.

"Well, we make the application to withdraw," said Judge Doyle.

"It is granted and there is nothing in the matter before the court," replied Judge Kinkade, and the hearing was over.

RAMSAY LOSES HIS INJUNCTION SUIT

St. Louis Court Denies Restraining Order Against the Gould Interests.

PERMITS VOTING OF STOCK

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—In the St. Louis circuit court today Judge Daniel G. Taylor denied the application of Joseph Ramsey, Jr., deposed president of the Wabash railroad, for an injunction to restrain the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain roads or their trustees from voting Wabash stock held by or for those roads, in the annual Wabash election to be held in Toledo tomorrow.

News of the decision was telegraphed at once to Toledo, where George J. Gould and his supporters and Joseph Ramsey and his personal advisers awaited the decision. The failure of the injunction suit, which, if successful, would have tied up a large block of Gould stock, is regarded as a most important victory for the Gould interests.

Judge Taylor in his decision says:

"It appears from the plaintiff's verified return and the verified returns of such of the defendants as have been served in this case and the evidence adduced upon the hearing for a preliminary injunction that the plaintiff is a minority stockholder of the Wabash Railroad Company; that the Missouri Pacific Railway Company is the beneficiary owner of 20,000 shares of the stock of the Wabash Railroad Company, which are now registered upon the stock books of the Wabash Railroad Company in the name of H. M. Walker, under an instrument of pledge given to secure certain obligations of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company held by persons who are strangers to this suit; that the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway Company, practically all the shares of which are owned by the Missouri Pacific Railway Company, has an interest in $5,435,000 of the debenture bonds of the Wabash Company, which are in the possession of and registered on the books of the Wabash company in the name of the Mercantile Trust Company of New York, under the terms of Wabash campany's unifying and refunding mortgage and owns 65,000 shares of the preferred stock of the Wabash company, which are in the name of George Gould and W. L. Wilson; that George Gould is the chief executive officer of all three of defendant railroad companies and that the board of directors of all three of them are composed largely of the same persons, while the principal active officers of the Iron Mountain and Missouri Pacific companies are practically the same and that at the last annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wabash company, held in October, 1904, the plaintiff holding proxies and representing the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain companies' holdings in the Wabash company, as well as those of others, cast all the ballots cast at the meeting and elected the entire present board of directors of the Wabash company.

Claims Securities Are Illegal.

"It also appears that while the defendant Wabash Company and the Missouri Pacific Company have lines extending through various parts of the United States that both of them have Missouri charters and the most important portions of their Missouri lines are those extending across the state of Missouri from St. Louis to Kansas City and from Kansas City to St. Louis.

"The plaintiff contends that the Wabash Railroad Company and the Missouri Pacific Railway Company are parallel and competing lines, within the meaning of the provisions of section 17, article 12 of the constitution of Missouri, and of section 1052 of the Missouri statutes, and hence that the holding of these securities of the Wabash Railroad Company by the Missouri Pacific Company is illegal and that inasmuch as the Missouri Pacific owns and controls all of the stock of the Iron Mountain Company, that the holding of the Wabash securities by the Iron Mountain Company is illegal because that cannot be done indirectly which cannot be done directly, and seeks by his bill filed herein to enjoin the voting of these securities at the meeting of the Wabash Company to be held October 10 upon the ground that they are illegally owned and will be voted so as to effectuate a purpose to stifle competition between the Missouri Pacific and Wabash companies in Missouri, through the operating of these two competing lines under one control, and in combination and that he as a stockholder in the Wabash Company will be injured thereby. All of the defendants who have appeared or been served disavow such illegal purpose and attack the good faith of the plaintiffs application. The court finds the record in this case so replete with evidence of violations of the provisions of certain or the Missouri laws enacted for the protection of the public, that it has been loath to reach the conclusions herein expressed.

"In the consideration of this case it must be constantly borne in mind that this is an action in equity between individuals, involving only private rights; and in which the state and the public have no interest whatever beyond the incidental one which they have in seeing justice done between all parties litigant. In this vital particular it differs from the Northern Securities case, which has been so often referred to and which was a proceeding instituted by the government to enforce a public law.

"A court in equity has not jurisdiction to restrain the mere doing of a wrongful or illegal act, or to enforce the performance of a moral duty; and, before it can grant the extraordinary relief of injunction in a suit by an individual, it must be made clear, not only that the suit or property rights are threatened, but that he is himself in nowise responsible for the existence of the condition which menaces him. Conceding all of the plaintiff's contentions, are his rights and property now menaced by any threatened condition with the creation of which he is not himself chargeable? He complains that persons who unlawfully own stock in a corporation in which he is likewise a stockholder are about to vote the stock for an unlawful purpose and one which will result in dire injury to him.

Ramsey Voted Same Stock.

"The record develops the fact that at the last annual election of the Wabash Railroad Company the plaintiff (Ramsey), holding the proxies of the then and now owners of the several shares of the stock, the voting of which he now seeks to have enjoined, voted all of them for the election of the very persons whom he now charges will be elected and will so conduct the property of the Wabash road as not only violate the provisions of the laws of Missouri, but also to injure him. I am of the view that this action of plaintiff is sufficient to compel the court to deny him the relief which he seeks in the absence of proof showing that something has transpired since the time of such voting of this stock by him, which would indicate that the purposes of those who will be elected by the voting of this stock at the meeting to be held on the 10th of October will be different from those of the persons elected by the plaintiff.

"The plaintiff by voting these very shares of stock, knowing, as he must have known, that they were the property of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company and the Iron Mountain Railway Company, or more properly of the Missouri Pacific, elected persons as directors of the Wabash company who were then in control of a competing and parallel road, and is now in the position of asking the court to enjoin some one else from doing the very thing which he himself has done. It is presented to the court on behalf of the plaintiff that when he voted this stock for George J. Gould and his associates, who were then and are now in control of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company, he did not know of their unlawful purpose to unify and amalgamate the Wabash and other Gould properties, but that since that time he has been made aware of their unlawful purposes. An examination of the record fails to show any evidence of any change in the purpose of Gould or his associates during the past year. If any evidence exists it must be in the plaintiff's possession and he has offered none.

"If the court is to conclude that Gould and his associates will, if elected directors of the Wabash Railroad Company, through the voting of the stock and bonds which plaintiff seeks to enjoin, act illegally and to the injury of plaintiff, it must do so solely upon the hypothesis that being in control of the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain and Southern railways they will, if they are put in control of the Wabash, operate it in combination of these other properties. But all of the facts which are now before the court and upon which it is asked to arrive at this conclusion, were in the possession of the plaintiff when he voted for and elected as directors of the Wabash Railroad Company these same persons. If he was a party to the placing of these several roads in the hands of one set of persons he cannot now be heard to complain if the court refuses to enjoin others from continuing that condition which he has inaugurated.

The Lack of Evidence.

"If the court is to conclude that the holding of the Wabash by the Missouri Pacific and the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern is illegal, it must conclude that it was illegal and held for an unlawful purpose from the time of its acquisition and that the plaintiff in this case not only knew and acquiesced in this unlawful holding, but exercised, when it was to his benefit to do so, the powers growing out of this illegal ownership.

"There is no evidence in this case that any other course will be pursued towards the interests of the Wabash stockholders in the future than that which has been pursued under the plaintiff's direction and if that course was unlawful and injurious to plaintiff he cannot now be heard to complain, for he is not in the position of a suitor for equitable relief who comes into court innocent and injured.

"The opinion above announced being conclusive against plaintiff's right to recover, the court refrains from any expression of its views upon the other questions of law and fact involved in the case, believing that to do so would only be the expressing of personal views, not necessary to the determination of the case and having neither force nor effect.

"The order will therefore be that the rule heretofore made upon the defendants to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be issued, will be vacated and plaintiff's application for a temporary injunction denied.

"DANIEL G. TAYLOR."

May Contest the Election.

The junior member of the firm of Lehmann & Lehmann, counsel for Joseph Ramsey, Jr., in conducting the petition for injunction, made the following statement:

"If the shares of stock held by the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain Railway companies are illegally held, as the court intimated in the decision, and the voting of those shares determines the result of the election at Toledo, then there is nothing to prevent the state of Missouri or a stockholder in the Wabash Company who objects to the voting of this stock and who has not himself acquiesced in the holding of the stock in the past, from attacking the validity of the election."

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 9.—Hearing on the motion for the appointment of a receiver for the Little Kanawha syndicate as brought by John S. Jones of Chicago this afternoon, was, on motion of defendants, postponed until October 21.

The Little Kanawha syndicate is a community of interests controlling coal lands and railway interests in West Virginia. Both George J. Gould and Joseph Ramsey, Jr., are interested in the syndicate.

MUST BECOME LEFT HANDED TO RESTORE HIS MEMORY

Peculiar Case Reported from California—Front Part of Young Man's Brain Has Been Destroyed. Portion of Faculty Is Gone.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Oct. 9.—According to Dr. L. C. Riggin, who has charge of the case of Earl A. Sargent, formerly an Oregon university student, who lost his memory of words, after he was shot in the head while fleeing with a stolen bicycle in Oakland, the patient may be restored to normal condition by learning to use his left hand instead of his right hand as the principal member.

This the doctor explains as follows: The tract of the brain which is the storehouse of words, or the controlling element in the memory of words, is in a right-handed man on the left side of the head. The wound inflicted on Sargent was through that tract, destroying convolutions of cerebrum, or front part of the brain, and thus upsetting the normal.

The result is evident. Sargent has lost certain portions of the faculty. He cannot remember words required in ordinary speech. What few words he remembers are stored away in the corresponding convolution on the right side, or in the fragment that is left of the damaged one. This is an exceedingly rare affliction and is known as amnesic aphasia, or the loss of speech because of lack of memory.

Nature will repair the loss in course of time by developing the comparatively dormant second temporal convolution on the right side of the brain. This development will be materially assisted by using the left side of the body; becoming left-handed, in other words, for in the brain the convolution on the opposite responds.

The process will be long and slow, taking, perhaps, two or three years. Under favorable conditions Sargent should then be able to speak about as well as ever.

STUDENTS FIGHT FLAMES; SAVE THE UNIVERSITY

Forest Fires Threaten College, and Faculty and Cadets Do Great Work in Stemming Blazing Circle.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BERKELEY, CAL., Oct. 9.—A fierce fire swept over the Berkeley hills behind the University of California today, and had it not been for the heroic work of 1,002 students from the university, and for the Berkeley fire department, assisted by hundreds of citizens, much property would have been destroyed. The flames were first discovered in Strawberry canon, at 11 o'clock. Fanned by a north gale the sheet of flames bore down toward the university buildings. Seeing the danger, President Wheeler dismissed the student cadets and called upon them to fight the flames. President Wheeler himself led the students, and, hatless and coatless, they fought the flames with wet sacks until late this afternoon. Many students had narrow escapes from the flames. Prentiss S. Grey, president of the student body; Ray Gabbord, editor of the Blue and Gold, and Roy Elliott, a football player, at the head of one division, were cut off by a circle of fire and compelled to wrap themselves in sacks to save their lives. Others, including many professors, were scorched and burned.

By tonight the flames were well under control, though still burning.

BITES WILLIAM RILEY.

Negro Arrested as a Suspicious Person Puts Up Stiff Fight.

Detective William Riley was walking past the store of Benjamin Cohen, 517 Sixth avenue, last night, when the proprietor signaled him to intercept a negro just going out. Riley asked the negro where he got the two overcoats under his arm, and the negro threatened to punch his nose.

Riley arrested him and the fellow put up a stiff fight, biting Riley on the arm and leaving marks, although he did not draw blood. Cohen ran to the public safety building and got Detective Charles Aymer and Special Policeman Edward Dunn, who subdued the negro. He gives his name as George Wilson. The detectives say one of the coats was stolen Saturday night from a store in Penn avenue.

PRISONER MAKES BAD START IN HIS 100-YARD DASH

David Lewis don't like Constable F. J. Kavanagh of Alderman Groetzinger's office, because Lewis feels the constable played him a nasty trick last night while going to the jail. Lewis also feels a little sore about the body, as he struck the street pretty hard, and when he least expected. Lewis had been given a hearing on a charge of surety of the peace, his wife alleging before Alderman Groetzinger that he had whipped her severely. On the way to jail Lewis told the constable he could run 100 yards in 11 seconds, and then made a break for liberty. Kavanagh did not want to run a foot race, so he gave Lewis the foot and both men landed in a heap. Lewis then went to the jail quietly.

AFFLICTIONS COME FAST ON VETERAN POLICEMAN

The entire police force in the First police district sorrows with the veteran officer, Thomas Paisley. Paisley lost a daughter, a young woman, several months ago, and a few days ago his 18-year-old daughter was sent to the hospital. Sergt. Thomas Morley did not know this when Thomas Paisley reported at Central station yesterday at 4:10 p. m. and told him somebody wanted to talk to him at the telephone, the call having just come in. Paisley went into the booth and presently emerged, his face pale.

"What's the matter, Tom?" asked Morley.

"Mark me off, sergeant," said the policeman. "My daughter's dead. I'm going home."

SUPERIOR COURT HEARS APPEAL OF JAMES WILSON

Attorney Ferguson Argues a Point of Law for the Former Allegheny Police Captain.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Attorney John S. Ferguson today in the superior court argued a point of law in the case of James Wilson, the Allegheny City police captain charged with extortion.

Mr. Ferguson said regardless of what else the police official might have been guilty, he was not guilty of extortion for the reason that the woman gave him the money voluntarily, without a request or demand having been made by him.

The court reserved decision until tomorrow. Mr. Ferguson will remain here until that time.

AN EXCITING RUNAWAY.

Terrified Steed Causes Diversion in Vicinity of Carnegie Institute.

Men working on the Carnegie institute addition, chauffeurs in their automobiles and pedestrians on the pavement near the entrance to the institute and Schenley park, were thrown into a panic yesterday afternoon by the charge of a terrified horse attached to a light buggy.

The outfit was the property of Robert R. Jobs of Turtle Creek, and had been left in front of John A. McCracken's livery stable, while the owner attended to some business. A passing automobile's tooting horn frightened the horse, and it broke loose and dashed down the pavement toward the institute.

Capt. John Callan of the Oakland police was standing near the sidewalk and hearing the cries of the terrified men and women, ran to head off the horse. Callan made a great sprint and came up with the animal just as it crashed into a pile of brick and stone. He managed to quiet the animal and extracted it from its dangerous position.

In his sprint Capt. Callan lost his revolver, but he recovered it later.

NAVAL FUNERAL FOR AN OILER.

Notable Scene at a Newport Church When a Member of the Italian Navy Is Buried.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—There was a notable scene at St. Joseph's Catholic church this noon when a naval funeral was held for an oiler, Gastro Dierter, on the auxiliary supply ship Lecinidas, who dropped dead yesterday. He leaves a widow and two children in Coronno, Italy.

Captain, officers and crew took up a collection for his burial, for the purchase of a plot in the cemetery and a headstone. The officers and crew, headed by the captain, attended the funeral in full uniform. Despite his humble position Dierter had endeared himself to all on board, and the honors shown him made a most favorable impression.

ADMINISTRATION WILL GO SLOW IN VENEZUELA

Whole Dispute Will Be Laid Before Congress Prior to Action by President.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—It is apparent that the administration will "make haste slowly" in the controversy with Venezuela.

Judge Calhoun, the president's special commissioner, returned to Washington tonight from Venezuela and stated that although he would make a verbal report to the president tomorrow, he was going to his home in Chicago to complete his written report, which would not be ready for several weeks. Not only does the policy of this government depend upon the nature of Judge Calhoun's report, but the French government, provoked by Venezuela's refusal longer to deal with M. Taigny, the French charge d'affaires at Caracas, is awaiting it with much interest.

Judge Calhoun's statement that it would be several weeks before he completed his report indicates that it will be an elaborate one; that it will not be ready for publication much before congress meets.

It is still keenly realized here that any ultimatum to Venezuela cannot be delivered with advantage unless this government is prepared to back it up with force of arms. President Roosevelt is indisposed to resort to military action without the approval of congress so long as the question at issue is one of such long standing as the troubles of the New York and Bermudez Company in Venezuela.

WANTS TO SMASH RECORD.

E. H. Harriman Planning a Transcontinental Trip on a Special Train.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—A time-shattering trip across the United States from ocean to ocean is to be attempted by E. H. Harriman, who has developed an ambition for the big record.

"We hope to have Mr. Harriman make the trip from San Francisco to Chicago in 50 hours flat," said one official of his road. "That would beat the record to date by six hours. I understand that the best time ever made between Chicago and New York is 20 hours, the time of the Twentieth Century Limited, June 18 last. We hope to arrange a 15-hour trip, making the whole time 65 hours."

STRICKEN ON A TRAIN.

Sharon Man Attacked by Apoplexy While Returning from Grand Army Encampment in Denver.

DENVER, COL., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Charles Powers, a mining stock salesman of Sharon, Pa., was stricken with apoplexy while in the joint-room of a Colorado & Southern train yesterday. The door of the room which he entered was locked and the body could not be reached until the train stopped at the Union depot, when his body was taken from the room through the window.

Powers was an old soldier and came here to attend the G. A. R. encampment and was preparing to return home.

LUMBER BARGE BURNED.

HOUGHTON, MICH., Oct. 9.—The barge Noquebay, in tow of the steamer Lizzie Madden, caught fire yesterday, when 20 miles east of Rockfield, and was burned to the water's edge. The Madden succeeded in beaching the burning boat at Presque Isle Point, where the crew was saved.

The Madden had the Noquebay and Manitowoc in tow and was bound for Bay City with lumber. The burned barge had on board 600,000 feet of lumber. The Noquebay was owned by the estate of T. F. Madden of Bay City.

WILL FACE MANY CHARGES.

Grand Jury Returns 84 More Indictments Against Professor Dougherty.

PEORIA, ILL., Oct. 9.—The grand jury this afternoon reported 84 indictments against Newton C. Dougherty in addition to the 13 already found. Forty-five of these are for forgery, each containing six counts. The amounts involved are from $14 40 to $800.

Bonds are fixed in the sum of $1,000 on each indictment for forgery and for $500 on each for embezzlement, making a total of $56,500. Joseph Weil, Dougherty's attorney, announced that Dougherty would appear in court of his own accord.

LOCATES TERESA RAUERT.

Dr. Francis Bruso's Friend Is Now on the Way to Los Angeles.

Teresa Rauert, the young woman whom Dr. Francis Bruso of Buffalo is trying to find, has been located by Richard Kelly, special policeman. Dr. Bruso had given her money to go to Baltimore and complete her medical studies, but learning she did not go there he came to Pittsburgh to find her.

Kelly says she came to Allegheny on October 6 and stopped with a woman friend, going away the next day. Since then the friend has received a letter from the girl, postmarked Chicago, saying a position had been offered her in Los Angeles, Cal., and that she was going there. Dr. Bruso's mind is much relieved.

MR. LARKIN GETS VERY COLD DEAL

Bigelow Members Bury His Ordinances for the Hamilton Avenue Repeal.

ANNEXATION LAID ON SHELF

Although Controller Larkin estranged himself from his Orphan friends and took the stump for the Citizens party, he got a cold deal last night from Director Bigelow when he tried to introduce three ordinances for the repeal of the Hamilton avenue extension, for which the city was assessed the expense of $276,000, and the property owners directly benefited were asked to pay only $10,000.

The controller was supposed to be playing the game of politics and Director Bigelow played his own game. Controller Larkin intrusted the three ordinances into the hands of Daniel J. Bole, chairman of the finance committee of councils, who is known to be subject to the will of Director Bigelow. Mr. Bole happens to be from the Nineteenth ward, the home of Director Bigelow. Mr. Bole at once sought to shift the responsibility by asking other members of common council to introduce the ordinances. The bills finally found themselves in the hands of Councilman John Taylor of the Twenty-first ward, a stalwart Bigelow member, who refused absolutely to have anything to do with them. He carried them to the desk of President Ward of common council and from there they went back to Mr. Bole, who finally presented them to council with an apology.

One ordinance of the three was for the repeal of the opening and widening of Hamilton avenue. The second ordinance from Larkin's office was for the repeal of the location of Hamilton avenue, dated 1891, and the third ordinance for the repeal of the relocation of Hamilton avenue, dated 1903. Mr. Bole took great care that the rules were not suspended and the ordinances acted upon immediately. He asked that they be referred to the regular committees where, in the usual course of affairs, they will not be acted upon until long after the November election.

Bigelow's Hand Exposed.

The Republicans, of their own accord, introduced one ordinance in regard to the Hamilton avenue extension, repealing the opening and widening of the street, but they announced that their ordinance did not have any connection with Larkin's three bills, which they declared were pure buncombe. The four bills dealing with Hamilton avenue were referred to Director Bigelow's carefully selected public works committee and will not be heard of again for several months.

William Brand showed the hand of Director Bigelow by moving to take up the resolution laid on the table at the previous meeting. This resolution instructed the clerk of councils to draw up an ordinance repealing the Hamilton avenue extension. The resolution, laid upon the table at the previous meeting, came up last night under the head of unfinished business, but upon motion of J. J. McKelvey, a Bigelow member, was indefinitely postponed and cannot again be called up during the present councils.

"It is time to call a halt on this indiscriminate annexation of small boroughs of 400 or 500 population, making separate wards of them and giving them equal representation in councils with other wards which have a population of 5,000 and 6,000," said Dr. H. B. Burns, member from the Eleventh ward in select council, yesterday afternoon when the ordinance granting the consent of the city to the annexation of the borough of Aspinwall was being discussed.

Aspinwall Annexation Opposed.

Dr. E. R. Walters, Dr. W. H. Weber and others also opposed the ordinance, which Director Bigelow admits is intended to annex Aspinwall to the city for the sole purpose of permitting employes of the city filtration plant at Aspinwall to vote for the Citizens party candidate for mayor of Pittsburgh next February.

Director Bigelow has claimed all along that the filtration plant was outside of the limits of Aspinwall, and that the plan was to annex the borough first and then annex the filtration plant afterwards as a part of the new ward when Aspinwall would form.

President Wightman, however, claimed yesterday that the filtration plant is inside the limits of Aspinwall borough. The question was raised by Dr. W. D. O'Brien of the Twenty-third ward. Dr. O'Brien is a Citizens party man, and was anxious to get definite information on this point before he voted on the ordinance. "I understand that the filtration plant is within the limits of the borough of Aspinwall," said President Wightman, in reply to Dr. O'Brien's question, and Dr. O'Brien voted against the motion made by Frederick Fichtel and amended by Dr. Walters to lay the ordinance on the table until the next meeting and to appoint a committee of three to confer with leading residents of Aspinwall and ascertain what their views are concerning annexation, the committee to report at the next meeting of councils.

Costello Gets the Laugh.

John Costello, a Citizens member, tried to have the ordinance passed. "A conference has been held with citizens of Aspinwall, and every person in the borough is now in favor of annexation and is willing that this ordinance shall pass," said Mr. Costello.

"Where do you get your information that the people of Aspinwall are in favor of annexation?" demanded Dr. Weber.

"From the department of public works. The director talked with them," said Mr. Costello. The councilmen laughed when the source of Mr. Costello's information was given.

Dr. Weber insisted that some better authority for such assurance should be had than the department of public works. Dr. Walters denied emphatically that the people of Aspinwall were in favor of annexation.

"I know quite a number of people in Aspinwall and they are all opposed to annexation," said he. "They have a well-improved town, paved streets, water works, electric lights and low taxes. I don't think that we ought to force this bill through here until we know the views of the Aspinwall people, and I think we should have a committee appointed to confer with them."

Very Old Bills Paid.

The motion to delay the matter until the next meeting and to appoint a committee to confer with the Aspinwall citizens was adopted.

Select council finally approved a number of resolutions for the payment of money, among which were the claims of E. K. Morse and W. F. Miller, of $250 each, for the inspection of the old South Tenth street bridge, and to refund to the Western Union the sum of $1,016 20 for the payment of taxes under the linear tax ordinance, which was declared unconstitutional by the courts. The ordinance for the retirement of $62,000 worth of bonds of the former borough of East Birmingham was passed finally.

An ordinance was introduced yesterday authorizing contracts for a stable for an ambulance and a dead house at the Municipal hospital, cost $8,000. A bill was presented to amend the ordinance licensing brokers by increasing the penalty from $50 to $100 fine for violation, or 30 days' imprisonment for failure to pay the fine.

WANTS CHANGE MADE.

Councilman Bernhart Has Plan for Collection of Allegheny's Taxes.

At a meeting of the finance committee of Allegheny councils last night Charles P. Bernhart of the Third ward presented a resolution providing for the appointment of a special committee of seven to devise a plan for the collection of the city taxes in June and December, instead of March and September, as is the custom now. In asking for the committee Mr. Bernhart said that business men and all taxpayers were better able to pay taxes in the months he recommends than at the times they are now required to pay. He declared that at the end of winter it was harder to pay taxes than after the period of spring business activity. The same he said was true in the fall. There was no opposition, and Chairman Morris Einstein will appoint the committee.

Several resolutions providing for exonerations from the payment of damages resulting from the improvement of the old Franklin road were referred to a sub-committee.

SAYS MOTHER STOLE BREAD TO FEED HUNGRY CHILDREN

"Please let me take my mother home," wailed a little girl at Central police court hearing in McKeesport yesterday. The child's mother had been arrested and locked up on a charge of suspicion. The child told the officers that the woman had stolen a loaf of bread from the Lichenstein bakery to feed her three children, the youngest of whom is but nine months old, who were starving, their father having deserted them. Mayor Falkenstein sent the woman home to her children with enough money to keep her from stealing until the proper authorities can take hold of the case. The woman was unable to speak English.

Scared Italian Pays Fine.

After crying and protesting that he had only $8.75, Tony Wardini, an Italian fruit dealer of No. 816 Second avenue, charged by the Humane society before Alderman Toole with cruelty to an old horse, produced such a big roll of money that the alderman gasped. Wardini had been fined $10 and when he said he could not pay it he was told he would have to spend 20 days in jail and that the horse would be sent to the municipal shindery. Wardini offered a $20 bill in payment of his fine.

Will Discuss High School Site.

At the meeting of the diocesan school commission of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Roman Catholic church today, a site for the proposed Catholic high school will be discussed. The project to establish a Catholic high school was started some time ago, but so far no site has been decided upon.

Increase to County Is Slight.

County Treasurer Collingwood made a final return yesterday to City Treasurer Steel of the liquor license fees for 1905, the balance amounting to $15,732 32. The county treasurer had previously reported $498,000, making a total of $513,732 32, or an increase over last year of only $5,030 12.

Injured While Riding to a Fire.

While hurrying to a fire in Frazier street last night, Albert Mayer, 11-year-old son of J. C. Mayer of 3805 Forbes street, fell from his bicycle and had one hip badly injured and was cut and bruised about the head.

OPENING RALLY IN OLD CITY HALL

Local Republicans Will Present the Real Issues of the Campaign at This Meeting.

DR. M'CLENAHAN LIFTS LID

Preparations are being made for the Republican mass meeting to be held in Old City hall Saturday night. Local men and the county candidates will make the speeches. At this opening rally the real issues involved in the campaign will be presented.

Chairman Ford expects to be able to announce today the names of the speakers at the Saturday meeting. He has an abundance of material to select from and will have men who can outline the issues in this campaign. From the number of inquiries received at headquarters the attendance at the opening meeting will be very large.

The fusionists are trying to get away from the real issue. They want to talk about the way the offices in the court house have been handled in the last three years in order to prevent attention being given to the rotten administrations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. The future of the two gangs depends on the result of this election. If they can win in November, they believe they will have a show in the mayoralty elections in Pittsburgh and Allegheny in February. Both Bigelow and Wyman would claim the election of the fusion county ticket as an indorsement of the city administrations.

Dr. McClenahan Lifts the Lid.

The Rev. Dr. D. A. McClenahan, chairman of the executive committee of the Allegheny Federation of churches, in an address yesterday before the Ministerial union, lifted the lid and exposed the rottenness of the two administrations. He showed what bunco games had been worked in the name of "reform." His subject was "To What Extent Is the Ministry Responsible for the Present Moral Condition of Allegheny County?" Among other things he said:

> The minister should be careful not to go into any fake reform, as a real reform. He should not go with the public in the cry of "reform," when such cry is nothing but a pretense to get office and eventually the spoils of office. I know of one minister in Pittsburgh who took an active part in the factional fight between the Bigelow and Flinn elements. He preached in the pulpit and he worked personally for the overthrow of the Flinn party and for the enthronement of Bigelow. This he did under the name of reform. As between these two factions in the Republican party of Pittsburgh he had a right to his judgment as to which was the better of the two, and he had a right to work for the faction he thought was the better. But he should have been more careful about calling the Bigelow-Hays movement a reform.

Bad Use of the Word.

I know a number of ministers in Allegheny who worked for the election of the Citizens ticket in Allegheny with the present mayor at the head of the ticket, and they did it under the name of reform. Every man had a right to use his judgment as to whether the old city hall party in Allegheny, or the Citizens party, headed by James G. Wyman, was the better, and he had, in a sense, a right to work for the party he thought was better. But he should have been more careful about using the term reform in connection with such a movement, the sole object of which was the entrenchment of office. It was a misuse of the word reform. It was a mere playing with the term. In both cities, as I suppose everyone is today ready to admit, those were false reforms. I do not pass judgment as to whether the present regime in Pittsburgh is better or worse than that which it displaced. But to call the present administration in either Pittsburgh or Allegheny reform administrations, is to abuse the term and prostitute it to base use. The minister should be careful not to call a fake reform the real thing.

Every citizen should be careful in this matter. Such a misuse of the word by the preacher and moral people dulls public conscience on the whole subject of reform.

Just as Bad in Pittsburgh.

Dr. McClenahan said there are 253 disorderly houses in lower Allegheny. "They are run wide open," said he, "and more than 1,000 women live in them. There are members of the official family in Allegheny, according to the testimony given by themselves in open court, who frequent these houses. Some of these officials use the houses for loafing places. There is close fellowship between vice and the official family on the North Side. They seem to be in partnership, as the court records show." He said the conditions in Pittsburgh were similar.

The September registration of voters shows that 221,710 electors are qualified to take part in the November election. The figures follow: Pittsburgh, 92,189; Allegheny, 84,749; McKeesport, 8,775; Sharpsburg, 57,179; townships, 28,818. For the February election this year there were 218,817 voters registered.

Major A. P. Burchfield, representing the old soldiers interested in the soldiers and sailors memorial, had a conference with the county commissioners yesterday about the printing of the ballots for the fall election, when the voters will decide whether $1,250,000 is to be spent for this purpose. The commissioners think the question should be printed on the official ballot. Major Burchfield is not certain this will be legal and the commissioners will submit the matter to their attorney.

Socialists Protest.

Fred. L. Schwartz, organizer of the Socialist party, has filed a protest with the county commissioners against their accepting nomination papers from the Socialist Labor party. Mr. Schwartz shows his party polled the necessary 2 per cent of the largest vote cast in Allegheny county last fall, and is entitled to the exclusive use of the word "Socialist." So far the Socialist Labor party has not filed nomination papers and the commissioners will not dispose of the question in advance.

The Seventeenth ward Citizens organization met last night at No. 5 police station. Thomas D. Stewart, the former police magistrate, is chairman of the ward committee, having been elected while in office. Mr. Stewart was not present last night and some doubt was expressed as to his devotion to the Citizens cause. It was decided to place Vice Chairman George Metcalf in charge of the campaign so far as the Seventeenth ward is concerned.

YELLOW FEVER POSTPONES DEDICATION OF MONUMENT

The yellow fever epidemic in the south has caused the postponement of the dedication of the monument to Pennsylvania civil war veterans at Andersonville, Ga., from November 13 to December 7. The state has agreed to furnish transportation to all Pennsylvania veterans who were prisoners in Andersonville during the war. Col. J. D. Walker has been authorized to sign identification papers for those desiring to attend.

Driver Is Hurt; Horse Killed.

Joseph Sweeney of 1818 Pennsylvania avenue, Allegheny, driver of an express wagon, was probably fatally injured and his horse was killed in a collision with a traction car at Second avenue and Brady street, Sobo, last night. Sweeney was thrown about 20 feet and when picked up was unconscious. He is at Mercy hospital.

Manion Gets Salty Sentence.

Patrick Manion of Pike and Thirteenth streets, who attempted suicide by hanging himself with his suspenders in his cell at No. 3 police station Sunday evening, was fined $25 or 30 days to the workhouse.

AUSTRIAN MURDERER FALLS FROM WINDOW

Flees to America After Killing Mother-in-Law and Stabbing Brother.

Testimony given yesterday at the coroner's inquest into the death of Stephen Gerkovicz, indicates that Gerkovicz had a past. Gerkovicz was found fatally hurt beneath the window of his boarding house, 265 Carey alley, a month ago. He said he had been thrown from the window and at the hospital identified two fellow boarders as the men who had thrown him out, but later confessed that he fell out.

It was testified at the inquest that 22 years ago Gerkovicz killed his mother-in-law in Austria by chopping her head off, was sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment and released after serving 15 years. He then stabbed his brother, wounding him, and fled to America, coming here two months ago, having been here only a month when killed. On the first night he slept in the boarding house he tried to jump out of the window, but was restrained by his nephew, Michael Gerkovicz. The two men accused by Gerkovicz, Nicholas Kosanovicz and Nicholas Sedlar, were released yesterday by the coroner, the jury's verdict being accidental death.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict that William Austin, 2 years old, of 626 Collins avenue, died of alcoholism. The testimony was that the boy's father took a drink of whisky on Sunday morning and left the bottle on a chair. The boy found the bottle and drank much of the contents, dying yesterday morning.

The relatives of John L. Grimm, the Homestead man who disappeared from home last spring, yesterday secured an order from the coroner authorizing them to exhume an unidentified body found in here. Grimm had two false front teeth here. Grimm had two false front teeth missing, and on the coroner's records appears a similar mark of identification on the corpse. Some months ago a man was found hanging to a tree in the suburbs of Cincinnati. The body was supposed to be Grimm's, but relatives who went to Cincinnati said it was not his.

Ladislaus Wolaczak, 4 years old, was playing yesterday afternoon in South Fourteenth street, when he was run over by a heavy wagon belonging to John Hickey, Jr., and driven by Eugene Neelis. The boy was removed to the South Side hospital, where he died an hour later. Neelis was arrested and locked up in the South Thirteenth street police station, and later released on giving $1,000 bail. The little boy lived at 24 South Sixth street.

BANK CLERK GOES TO JAIL.

Stephen Bernolak Is Charged With Embezzlement by Braddock Bank.

Stephen Bernolak, a clerk in charge of the foreign department of the First National bank of Braddock, and well known among the foreign population of that section, was committed to jail last night on a charge of embezzlement made by George C. Watt, cashier of the bank. It is alleged Bernolak's irregularities will amount to about $6,000. The auditing of his accounts is not finished.

Bernolak has been employed at the bank for some time because of his ability to speak several foreign languages. It is alleged by the bank officers that he accepted and gave receipts for sums of money to be forwarded to European countries, but the patrons of the bank have been complaining the money never reached its destination. The complaints resulted in an investigation being made with the result that Bernolak was arrested. He was unable to furnish $5,000 bail and was sent to jail by Alderman McMasters.

Horseshow Gowns and Wraps and Furs

Equine glory will radiate from Sewickley Heights this week, and as horses, on such state occasions, seem to have something to do with feminine fashion, it is a fair assumption that the most fashionable garments will be seen during the Horse Show. Paris and Berlin spend more money than any other cities for dress at the great races, and the French couturiers are taxed to their limit to furnish the most exquisite garments imaginable to be worn at these great events.

We have been at some pains to adapt these foreign horse show models, in other words, to preserve the general lines and do away with all extremes, gaudiness, if you please. Pittsburg women do not countenance anything gaudy. Therefore our society gowns and wraps are on the conservative order, yet full of style and handsome withal.

These gowns, wraps and fur pieces represent only one of a kind, in fact after they are sold there will be no more, and any woman may feel safe in owning the original.

The Gowns start at $50.00 and lead up by easy range to $500.00.

The Wraps, those of handsome laces and of fascinating broadcloth in high colors, start at $35.00 and lead up to $200.00.

Of the Fur Neckpieces, while the weather will scarcely permit furs to be worn, yet this is an opportune time to call attention to our fine ermines, chinchillas, Hudson Bay sables and the Russian Crown sables, the richest furs of them all, beginning at $25.00 and leading up to $1,000.00.

A Trio of Women's Garments and Each Line Underpriced

The very latest touches on women's tailored suits, two lines just in the house, and also a line of women's fine coats. By studying these parallel columns it will be observed there is quite a saving manifest in each line which should call for prompt action.

Women's Handsome $70.00 Sailor Suits for $40.00.

YOU would all recognize the name of this Fifth Avenue, New York, maker were we to print it. He stands in the front rank for high art tailoring. And the work on these suits is in his most perfect method.

He imports the best fabrics he can find, and when they are used up, with the exception of just enough to make one or two suits, he lets two of his customers have the collection. We got our half and the suits are now ready.

Coats are 47 inches long, half-fitted French back, fly front, new shoulder seam, collars and cuffs are of broadcloth in combination colors to match cloth. The coats are lined throughout with soft duchess satin. The skirts are made in the new box-pleated effect.

The cloth is a striped weave, light gray and black and white.

$16.75 for New 6-Button Eton Suits, Copies of $35 Models.

THERE are so many different styles that women are going to own more suits this season than is the usual rule—pretty styles in both long and short coat suits make it incumbent upon them to have plenty of variety.

This new 6-button Eton suit is a regular gem of fashion, if the expression will be permitted. There are but 25 of them, that is all the maker had ready.

The eton is made with tuxedo revers of velvet, finished with an edging of white broadcloth; it is double-breasted and has velvet collar and cuffs; the skirt is made with cluster pleats front and back.

The material in these charming suits is cheviot and the color line blue and black.

Women's $35.00 and $40.00 Fall and Winter Coats, $20.00

THEY are made of very dark gray mixtures, therefore in the height of style. A splendid opportunity for women to own a beautifully tailored coat in a mode that is up to the moment.

Why should they be sold under price? Oh, it's a notion of the maker, not ours. Unfortunately he lined them throughout with best grade of black satin instead of half lining them with taffeta as ordered.

The satin has made the coats too heavy for the average woman, but for those who have to be out in all kinds of weather these coats could not be more opportune.

In this instance the pique of the maker sets the price.

Sizes run from 34 to 40.

Notwithstanding this is a resourceful store, a store that has about everything for everybody, yet we have it often put to us, "I didn't know you kept so-and-so." We all have faulty memories. We take this occasion of the big Horse Show down at Sewickley to ask a reading of these notes:

The Mason & Hamlin PIANO

was used by various artists more frequently than were all other makes of pianos combined during the Pittsburg season of 1904-5.

This fact is significant of the tremendous hold which the beautiful qualities of this superb piano have taken upon the interest and appreciation of musicians and music lovers generally.

The Mason & Hamlin Piano would be just as beautiful without the appreciation of these great artists. But the fact that its merits compel the unstinted praise of the people who know, is the best assurance that you can have that you can make no better piano purchase than a Mason & Hamlin. We have a stock of over forty Mason & Hamlin Pianos in various sizes and fine cases. You'll be very welcome if you'll come to see them.

The prices begin at $500 and monthly payments may be arranged if desired. Old instruments taken in exchange.

Tuesday, October 10, 1905.

Joseph Ramsey, Jr., has abandoned his fight for control of the Wabash, according to advices from Toledo, the decision at St. Louis being fatal to his plans. George J. Gould and his friends will dominate the meeting at Toledo today. Pittsburgh will rest content if the change of control does not work any change in the purpose of the Wabash to give an effective outlet and inlet for its tonnage.

Charles E. Hughes, nominated for mayor by the Republicans of New York city, has declined the nomination. He feels he has more important work to perform in Lexowing the insurance companies and will continue to devote his entire energies to that investigation. Mr. Hughes' decision must be applauded, though there can be no doubt he would have made a strong candidate for mayor and, if elected, an excellent chief executive.

Moscow is again the scene of serious disturbances. There is a general strike and every demonstration results in rioting and numerous killings by the troops. Moscow is now witnessing what occurred in St. Petersburg in January; in Warsaw and Lodz during the spring and summer; in Odessa and Baku during the summer. There is no apparent connection between these disturbances, no unity of action, but all have their inspiration in the same unfortunate conditions.

A new manifestation of our many-sided President's energy was afforded yesterday by the conference at the White House with the athletic advisors of eastern colleges on the subject of revising the football rules so as to eliminate unnecessary roughness. If there is any subject of live importance with which the President is not thoroughly conversant and in which he is not actively interested, we should like to know what it is. Mr. Roosevelt's versatility is not that of the dabbler, but of the man who does many things well.

Yesterday began the last two weeks of the Pittsburgh Exposition. The attendance up to the present has been the largest of any season in the society's history and it is well within the truth to say the exposition is the best ever held here. During the remainder of the season there will naturally be a great increase in attendance, as there should be. It is something not to be missed by the people of this region who keep abreast of the times. At the same time visitors from out of town will find much in the city to interest them, also.

The plan to preserve as a memorial the house in New York in which President Roosevelt was born will receive popular approval. On October 27, the President's birthday, a banquet is to be held in the very room where the important event occurred, and Mr. Roosevelt has been invited to be present. As a people we have not been so zealous as we might in marking the birthplaces of our great men, a duty we owe to posterity. For a great many years to come President Roosevelt will have peculiar claims to the gratitude of the nation, and the place where he may be said to have begun his career should not be forgotten.

The cable from St. Petersburg that Count Witte has two rivals for the presidency of the new cabinet in the persons of M. Muravieff, former minister of justice, and Count Ignatieff, former minister of the interior, indicates that all is not to be smooth sailing for the ex-envoy. Ignatieff, now a very old man, has had a busy and exciting career of office-holding under the Russian government. A boy in the Crimean war, he became brigadier general and later minister to Turkey, where by his double-dealing he acquired the title of the "Liar Pasha." His persecution of the Jews, while minister of the interior, led to his retirement in 1882. There is no more cordially hated man in Russia today. With all his faults the government might do worse than elevate Witte to the position.

About the biggest nuisance in the news of the day is Pat Crowe, the alleged kidnaper, who has received enough free advertising to make his fortune were he in a different line of business. For years Crowe's effrontery, reinforced by the apathy and incompetence of Nebraska police, has made him the subject of numerous items. Now that he has at last been captured, it is to be hoped he will receive the punishment long due and subside into silence. His latest bit of impudence was to warn his captors, yesterday, to "look out" for him. Pat Crowe's doings and sayings have acquired a national reputation entirely out of proportion to their importance.

Disgraceful Administration.

When the Rev. Dr. D. A. McClenahan told the Ministerial association the issue is the Bigelow-Hays-Verner combination, he spoke right to the point. It is well enough for the apologists of the Citizens machine to talk about a few county offices, but they know well enough that tattle is intended only to cover the "men behind." Their eagerness to get a county officer or two elected on the fusion ticket and their apologies for the Citizens party are all for the purpose of promoting a continuance of the monstrous administrations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

These city administrations are notoriously bad. The encouragement and protection of vice in Allegheny has been pretty fully exposed; the worse than negligence of the Pittsburgh police bureau is apparent. Less notable, but not less evident is the inefficiency of the other bureaus, which, though increasingly expensive, give inadequate service. Along with this wretched service in administrative functions is the utter failure to redeem a single pledge made in the effort to capture the offices. So far from reform there has been progressive degradation.

It is from these influences the people seek relief through responsible party auspices. After almost three years of Democratic-Citizens control there has not been a single exposure of misfeasance in office under preceding administrations, though misfeasances were freely charged when the men now in office were seeking election. Not only has there been no such exposures of previous administrations, but the public service has suffered deterioration and there have been exposures of wrong-doing under the present administrations. These things make the dominant issue of the campaign. There is no public desire for continuance of the control that has disgraced these municipalities.

A Good Law Sustained.

The opinion of Justice Brown of the state supreme court, in the decision sustaining the juvenile court law, contains a common sense view of the question. To the objection that the act provides different punishments for the same offense by a classification of individuals according to age, answer is made that the act "is not for the punishment of, but for the salvation of children; not particular children of a special class, but all children under a certain age whose salvation may become the duty of the state in the absence of parental care or disregard of it by wayward children. No child under the age of 16 is excluded from its beneficent provisions."

The chief good wrought by the operation of the juvenile court law consists in the separation of youthful offenders from hardened criminals. Were there no other beneficent results, this alone would be sufficient reason for the law's existence. Methods of dealing with juvenile offenders have undergone many changes since the establishment of the first house of refuge in this country in 1824. The idea that the child of tender years is a criminal has been set aside. The modern treatment is educational rather than punitive, with the thought constantly kept in mind that prevention is to be preferred to reformation in after years. The state owes an important duty to those offenders who have not yet reached the age of full responsibility—the duty of giving them the opportunity to become useful, respected men and women.

More Preachers Than Pulpits.

For many years the cry has been that the professions are overcrowded. Lawyers and doctors have advised their friends with much earnestness not to follow in their footsteps if they would escape starvation, for though there may be room at the top, few have any chance of attaining to that desirable eminence. Until lately the clergy have not joined in the discouraging wail, but recent investigation on the part of a curious minister shows there are considerably more preachers than pulpits. By writing to a large number of church authorities, he found only two vacant pulpits in one denomination paying above $1,000 salary, while in the range of his personal acquaintanceship are several times that number of pulpitless preachers. Some denominations, like the Methodist Episcopal, proceed upon the satisfactory principle that every active minister must be given a charge, however small, and some fine calculations are the result, but they always work out pretty neatly. Most denominations permit the minister to shift for himself. He must secure a "call." For every good call there are several willing candidates.

Notwithstanding the cry of overcrowding, universities and seminaries continue yearly to turn out large classes of young men specially trained for the ministry and without the education or tastes that would fit them for other lines of work. The great majority are forced eventually to accept positions in which the pay is not commensurate with their talents and the expense of their education. We have no wish to witness the extension of commercialism to the church, but ministers must support their families and educate their children like other people. Salaries of the rank-and-file of the clergy were never lower than at present, is the general complaint. An over-supply of any class of labor brings down wages. There may be a suggestion here.

Safety and Economy.

Three steel passenger coaches will be bought by the Pennsylvania railroad for experimental purposes, according to report. If they are found good they will be adopted by the Pennsylvania's progressive management, and gradually introduced for general use. The steel mail car built by the Standard Steel Car Company, some months ago, has given satisfaction and is probably the inspiration for the Pennsylvania's experimental coach order.

Meantime the Pennsylvania has undertaken a more important work for the prevention of accidents. It has issued orders for thorough inspection of all equipment, and that no car shall be taken out that is not in perfect condition. Trainmen have strict orders against accepting defective cars and shippers who load such cars are compelled to unload them.

This is a radical and most laudable reform. Experience on double and four-track roads has proven the greatest danger to be the break-down of freight trains. The terrible Harrisburg wreck was from that cause. The new Pennsylvania order goes to the root of the trouble, will decrease the dangers of travel more than any other and will prove good economy for the company.

Another Glaring Exposure.

Referring to Controller Cunningham the Leader, chief apologist for the Citizens machine, pretends to find something in The Gazette editorial that was not there. The Gazette said Mr. Cunningham has conducted his office competently and his record proves previous similar conduct of the same office.

In the effort to show something extraordinary the apologist charges extravagance in offices controlled by Republicans. Of course, the Leader does not know how county salaries are authorized, for it never knows anything, so it may be stated for its benefit that every dollar of additional salaries in the county offices is authorized by the salary board. The members of that board are Controller Cunningham, Commissioner Clark, Commissioner Evans and Commissioner Price, acting with the head of the office in interest. In any case the board must consist of three fusion officials to two Republicans. Controller Cunningham in every case has had the deciding vote. He has authorized and sanctioned every increase. The Leader may think what it pleases, but The Gazette believes Controller Cunningham voted for those expenditures because he deemed them necessary. Without his affirmative vote or that of other Democratic-Citizens, they could not have been made.

Prof. H. A. Surface, state zoologist, agrees to eat a cabbage worm to prove it is not deadly. Mr. Surface is right in classing the cabbage worm as non-poisonous, but as an article of diet many persons will continue to prefer the lobster.

A Chicago professor of mathematics the other day gave his class an hour's talk on the blessings of matrimony. After teaching that one and one make two, he concluded to show how two may become one.

Senator Depew is now going on the stand, and the insurance testimony promises to be enlivened by a few fine, old crusted anecdotes.

According to Secretary Taft "no foreign power could successfully assail our seaboard cities." Will Mr. Castro kindly remember this?

Select council postponed indefinitely the ordinance for the annexation of Aspinwall. But Aspinwall will come in at an opportune time.

The salary board is fusionist. Whatever increase in county salaries has been made since January 1, 1903, has been authorized by that element.

European kings with anarchistic subjects are not worrying about the insurance investigations. They couldn't get policies anyway.

There may be something in all this agitation about kissing causing disease. It has been known to cause palpitation of the heart.

Henry James says the people of America need "elevating." And here in Pittsburgh people are getting "held up" every night.

It is remarkable there should be any persons left in this country who think they can intimidate Theodore Roosevelt.

Reports from London indicate that the day may be coming when the lion and the bear shall lie down together.

Controller Larkin announces a repealer of the Hamilton avenue ordinance. Has he Bigelow's consent to this?

A man may not be ashamed of his record, and yet the community may be ashamed of it for him.

A writer on etiquette says: "Shaking hands is going out." Crooking the elbow is as popular as ever.

One of the most significant features of last Saturday night's meeting was the men who were absent.

It seems too bad that candidates for the Hall of Fame can't present their claims in person.

Several gentlemen are now wondering where the investigation lightning will strike next.

The Society for the Suppression of Unnecessary Noises should look after Mr. Pat Crowe.

The Pittsburgh policeman carries a big stick, but he doesn't go very far—or often.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

That Which We Get Free Gratis for Nothing We Do Not Prize.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Do you prize the air you breathe, or do you take it merely as a matter of course?

In all probability the race would not have prospered as it has if man had been allowed to regulate the air supply.

This inference is supported by the fact that people in this advanced age seem to seek bad air by so building their domiciles and places of resort that they keep out pure air and prevent the escape of foul air.

Fortunately for us it has been so arranged that it is next to impossible to get away from tolerable air.

* * *

It is a notable fact that those who go down into deep mines are careful about the air supply, but when out where the air is free and abundant they are satisfied to breathe any sort of foul stuff.

As a rule the rooms in which miners congregate between shifts reek with foulness. Were they supplied with such stuff when in the mines they would strike, sure, and the people everywhere would raise a terrible howl about the inhumanity of employers.

The average tenement house is ever well supplied with foul air, although there is plenty of good air all around them. But of this you never or hardly ever hear any complaint on the part of the inmates.

* * *

It is generally believed that we get colds from cold air.

It would be more the fact to say that the colds from which we suffer most are due to warm, impure air. Those who spend most of their time in close, warm offices suffer most from catarrhal disorders and bad colds.

You would naturally expect teamsters and those who are out in all sorts of weather to suffer most from colds, but such is not the case, and in most instances when these do catch cold it is after being in a close, warm room from which they go out into the cold air and do not exercise enough to prevent a chill.

Many contract colds by wearing their wraps in church, theater or hall. These usually blame it on the cold, pure air outside.

Some folks there are who do not go to church for fear of catching cold.

* * *

If cold air would give people colds it wouldn't be safe for us to go into the far north in winter. That it does not do this is proven by the fact that persons suffering from catarrhal disorders and greatly benefited by going north after winter has set in.

Cold air has been found to be dryer than warm, or even hot air. This will account, in a measure at least, for the beneficial effects of northern winter air on consumptives and those suffering from other catarrhal diseases.

Yes, consumption is a catarrhal disorder affecting the nutrition of the body. This is brought about by the impairment of the nerves that control taste, appetite, digestion, assimilation, elimination. Therefore the body must consume itself, hence the name consumption.

* * *

Why do people allow themselves to be sick, to suffer and to die, when it is just as easy and much cheaper to be well?

Ignorance, inexcusable ignorance, is the one and only comprehensive answer to this question.

Who, then, is to blame for this woeful state of ignorance? Surely somebody is.

Right here is work for women's clubs, men's clubs, civic clubs, church clubs and others.

It seems to be natural for most people to hunt for those upon whom they can fasten blame of some sort, great or trivial, rather than for those upon whom they can bestow praise or credit for doing something that is worth while.

If our pro bono publico clubs will get down to earnest, honest work they may find out who is to blame for most of the sickness and suffering in the world.

And it will be worth while, too.

* * *

The truth of the matter is, and sorry truth it is, that our city, community and country are all suffering terribly on account of the inexcusable ignorance of the people—not only the uneducated and more or less debased, but of those of whom we have a right to expect better things.

We point with pride to our common schools, but can we point with pride to their products?

Have not the roughs, toughs, loafers, boozers, and other disreputable characters been through these schools? Do not school boys use profane and vulgar language just the same as other boys?

The great lack is in moral training rather than in book learning, and it is from this that our country is suffering most. And it is from this that we have most fear in coming years.

* * *

Don't turn and point to the preachers and head men in our schools. They are to blame some, but not much more than you are, for if you and your neighbors were earnest in your desire for better morals you would soon get rid of incompetent preachers and teachers.

As a rule preachers, teachers, city and state officials, are what the people demand.

For you to help support an incompetent preacher, or to acquiesce in the selection of unfit teachers, is to plead guilty to a charge of assisting in the demoralization of rising generations.

Anyhow, somebody is to blame for the ignorance, the inexcusable ignorance, leading to sickness, intemperance and demoralization of the people.

Where does the blame properly lie?

Here is a problem for women's clubs, church clubs, civic clubs, preachers, teachers and all of us to tackle and to earnestly try to solve, because the future of our country, its institutions and its homes hinges upon its proper solution.

He Sets the Pace.

No sooner does the Hon. William H. Taft reach home from the far east than he prepares to visit the canal strip, whither he journeyed once before. Secretary Taft is a living refutation of the saying that "large bodies move slowly." He moves rapidly and effectively.—New York Sun.

OCTOBER'S BRIGHT BLUE WEATHER.

O suns and skies and clouds of June,
And flowers of June together,
Ye cannot rival for one hour
October's bright blue weather.

When loud the bumblebee makes haste,
Belated, thriftless vagrant;
And goldenrod is dying fast,
And lanes with grapes are fragrant;

When gentians roll their fringes tight
To save them from the morning,
And chestnuts fall from satin burrs
Without a sound of warning;

When on the ground red apples lie
In piles like jewels shining,
And redder still on old stone walls
Are leaves of woodbine twining;

When all the lovely wayside things
Their white-winged seeds are sowing,
And in the fields, still green and fair,
Late aftermaths are growing;

When springs run low, and on the brooks,
In idle golden freighting,
Bright leaves sink noiseless in the hush
Of woods for winter waiting;

When comrades seek sweet country haunts,
By twos and twos together,
And count like misers hour by hour,
October's bright blue weather.

O suns and skies and flowers of June,
Count all your boasts together—
Love loveth best of all the year
October's bright blue weather.

—Helen Hunt Jackson.

LOWELL AND WHITTIER IN THE HALL OF FAME

Two Famous Authors Receive Enough Votes for Admission. Poe Turned Down.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—James Russell Lowell and John Greenleaf Whittier will be more famous hereafter, for they were this morning declared elected to the hall of fame. All the other American authors—there were seventeen in all—and all the twenty-three teachers who were candidates for membership in the "Club of the Immortals" were ignominiously blackballed. Edgar Allan Poe, who was up for election once before, only received 43 out of the 51 votes necessary. There are 56 electors, and the company in the hall of fame is to be so select that Whittier only got in with one vote to spare. Lowell received 38 votes. Among the other authors who had the door shut in their faces were William Cullen Bryant, with 46 votes; James Fenimore Cooper, with 43, and Oliver Wendell Holmes, with 48. Among the teachers, Phillips Brooks came the nearest to getting in, with 49 votes. The other famous people to be elected tomorrow include scientists, soldiers, statesmen, those who distinguished themselves in the service of this country, but who were not of American birth, and the American women who did good work as authors, teachers, scientists and home or social workers. Among the electors are Charles W. Eliot, president of Harvard university; Arthur T. Hadley, president of Yale; Irs. Remsen, president of Johns Hopkins; Henry Carter Adams, Edward C. Pickering, William M. Sloane, Charles Warren Fairbanks, vice president of the United States; Thomas W. Higginson, Whitelaw Reid, Andrew D. White and Chief Justice Melville Weston Fuller.

Bronx Needs Transportation Facilities.

Presently, the Union railway of the Bronx will urge again that New York city shall extend its franchises to new streets. Within a few months it has been inquired into by the state railroad commission. Formal complaints, reinforcing informal ones by residents of the Bronx, had been made by the Bronx board of trade in the matter of neglect to supply adequate accommodation to the public. Meantime, all summer, the residents of the Bronx—which it may not be realized is a settlement second to the city of Buffalo, almost as large as San Francisco, quite as large as Pittsburgh or Cincinnati, exceeding Newark by 100,000 population, and Washington, New Orleans, Detroit, Milwaukee by 70,000—all summer, residents of this, a city in itself, have felt no relief, and the people are shouting for action.

Mayor McClellan Opens Headquarters.

Mayor McClellan opened campaign headquarters today in the Hotel Bartholdi, Broadway and Twenty-Third street, where he has engaged a suite of ten rooms. His private secretary, John H. O'Brien, will act as his campaign manager and will be in charge of the headquarters. Patrick F. McGowan, the Democratic candidate for president of the board of aldermen, will have campaign headquarters on the same floor with the mayor. Mayor McClellan will spend little time at his headquarters, as he has announced that he does not intend to neglect his work in the mayor's office. He will call at his headquarters later in the afternoon several days a week and may spend some time there evenings when he is not making speeches.

Yom Kippur Interferes With Registration.

This is the first day of registration, the formal duty which every citizen who wishes to vote must perform. There are four days of registration. This year they are placed closer together than formerly, being Monday, Tuesday and Saturday of this week, and Monday of next week. The polls opened at 7 o'clock, and remained open until 10 o'clock tonight. An unexplainable mixup has been made in the first day of registration this year by the fact that today is the big Jewish holiday of the year, Yom Kippur, and consequently about 200 inspectors were absent. Their places were taken by temporary inspectors, detailed for the purpose. The registration was light.

Belmont Now Only Needs Rest.

It was said at the General Memorial hospital this morning that August Belmont, who underwent an operation for appendicitis there last week, rested very comfortably last night. The operation was successful and Mr. Belmont has been steadily improving. All he needs, the physicians say, is two weeks of rest. Mr. Belmont surprised all his friends last week by closing his desk and going at once to the hospital. Before many of them knew that he was not a perfectly well man he had already been under the surgeon's knife. The patient's good constitution makes his recovery fairly certain, barring accidents.

Gorgeous Funeral in Little Italy.

One of the most gorgeous funerals "Little Italy" has known, was given today to Mrs. Josephine Garome, the young wife of Michael Garome, a wealthy real estate dealer. For two nights policemen have been stationed at the house guarding the casket, which was covered with brocaded velvet and had gold plate and handles. The dead woman in it was regally gowned, while thousands of dollars worth of gems on her white fingers and throat and on the bosom of her gown flashed under the candle light. The jewels, by her husband's order, were buried with the body.

Very Quiet on East Side.

The visitor to the East Side found that usually busy portion of the town extraordinarily quiet today. The streets were deserted, and the shops and factories were closed, and the few men and women and children whom one met here and there on the streets looked sad and solemn. Today the Jewish people observed Yom Kippur—the day of atonement—the most sacred of all the Jewish fast days. Since sunset yesterday not a morsel of food or drink passed the lips of the observing Jews, this being the day of expiation (Yom Ha Kippurim in Hebrew), a day of fasting and prayer, that the sins of the past year be forgiven and that any evil decree for the new year be averted.

SOME GOOD STORIES OF PITH AND MOMENT

Gossipy Chat and Anecdote of Entertaining and Instructive Character.

A president of a life insurance company was testifying the other day before the legislative committee, about the corporation's agency business.

"What is the chief qualification of a good agent?" he was asked.

"Well, a first-class agent must be a man who is able to butt in."

Just at that moment one of the reporters who was watching the investigation felt some one touch his shoulder. Looking around he saw a stranger with a glaring red mustache and pale blue eyes. This individual leaned forward and whispered:

"I'd like to talk to you for a few minutes."

"What for?" inquired the reporter irritated at being interrupted in the busiest hour of the morning.

"I want to sell you a policy in the ——— Insurance Company," confided the stranger, whereupon there was an abrupt ending of the interview.—New York Post.

Taking Chances.

A small boy had been punished, and in consequence was feeling at enmity with all the world, but with his father in particular. When he came to say his prayers at night he gabbled through them at a high rate of speed, and while asking for the customary blessing on all the other members of the family, including the cat, he left out his offending parent.

His mother understood, but thought it best to "appeal to his better self."

"Harold," she said, sweetly, "what about papa? You forgot, dear."

"Didn't. Don't want papa blessed."

"Why, Harold! when you love him so! Just think, dear, papa has gone downtown now, and how would you feel if he got lost or hurt because you hadn't prayed for him?"

This rather worked on the boy's mind, and slowly he began to clamber out of bed, when, just as he got on his knees, he heard the familiar click of his father's key in the lock. "I guess I'll risk it," he announced, and quick as a wink he jumped back into bed.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Considerate Assassins.

During one of the recent strikes in Russia a delegation of mill hands waited upon the superintendent of a mill. In a most respectful and polite manner they recited their demands. Finally the spokesman said: "Baron, we have decided to assassinate you. We hope you will not feel insulted—the men simply voted that way. We thought we ought to tell you because you might feel hurt if we had not told you beforehand." Then the committee filed solemnly out of the room and the director was left alone to take such action as he might think fit. He laughed immoderately at first, but found it advisable to absent himself from the city for a time.—New York Tribune.

A Happy Compromise.

A Massachusetts gentleman met a colored man who had recently worked for him, and into whose family a girl baby had come shortly before.

"What have you named her?" asked Mr. Green, on being told by the father of the addition to his family.

"That's what we can't 'cide on," was the reply. "I wants her name Clara, and my old woman wants it Nettie."

"Well, then," suggested Mr. Green, "why don't you call her Clarinet?"

"I declare Marse Green," said the colored man, admiringly, "dat is puttier dan either of 'em."

Meeting his colored friend several weeks later, Mr. Green was amused to her him say, "We's named her Clarinet."—Boston Herald.

His Chicago Style.

Simeon Ford enjoys nothing better than to tell a story of the humors of the hotel business.

"A friend in the west," says Mr. Ford, "once related to me the trials and tribulations of the people employed in the office of his hostelry to keep in proper bounds a young man from Chicago, who as soon as he had registered proceeded to make things lively. The first evening he spent with them he did the proprietor out of a neat sum at poker; the next night he returned to his quarters considerably intoxicated after having whipped his cabby; the third night he gave an impromptu concert in the halls. This was too much for the hotel people; they asked for his key and rendered his bill. Evidently the amount thereof was not to his liking, for he exclaimed emphatically:

"'Say, don't you fellows make any discount to the clergy?'"—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

One Campaign Enough.

The split in the Republican party over in Washington county don't amount to much and it will be plainly demonstrated at the election. There are always a few sore heads in all parties who are willing to espouse the cause of an upstart political combination. The average life of such is through one campaign, then the chickens go back home to roost.—Monessen Independent.

Drinkers, Smokers and Chewers.

Some idea of the amount of liquor and tobacco consumed in this part of the state may be formed from the report of the internal revenue collector for the month of September. The collection on beer amounted to $86,221.50; spirit stamps, $3,367.25; cigars, $14,368.95; tobacco, $3,801.45.—Scranton Times.

Dalzell's Proper Time.

The Hon. John Dalzell of Pittsburgh sniffs contemptuously and avers that the tariff will be revised by its friends "at the proper time." Calculated according to the Dalzellian almanac, "the proper time" is the first April 31 after the Day after Never.—New York Sun.

Is This True?

Pittsburgh, like Connellsville, has some people who would like to drive their industries away, and, after having driven them out, would sit down and weep for the consummate folly of having killed the goose that laid the golden eggs.—Connellsville Courier.

He—Yes; the second course. I was the soup.—Harvard Lampoon.

He—If you loved me, why did you at first refuse me?

She—I wanted to see how you would act.

"Have you ever done anything for the benefit of society?"

"Why, yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "I'm still trying to find out what society is. You see the people who give pink teas in tailors and the people who organize dynamite gangs in cellars are all claiming to be it."—Washington Star.

"What is your age, madam?" thundered the attorney. "Must I tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth?" asked the witness.

"You must," replied the attorney.

"Then I will," said the witness. "It's none of your business."—Philadelphia Record.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

The opening meeting of the Traffic club of Pittsburgh for the season of 1905-6 was held at the Hotel Henry last evening and was one of the best of the bi-monthly meetings ever held by the club. The principal matter of interest was the subject for discussion before the meeting, "Co-operation." This subject was presented in an able paper by H. W. Thurston, superintendent of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania lines west, of Cleveland. Mr. Thurston treated the subject from the point of the operating man in particular, but in doing so he brought emphasis upon the matter of every employe of a railroad company co-operating in the policy and work of the company, and also of the departments co-operating with each other. In the latter he emphasized the smaller particularity of the co-operation of the transportation and traffic departments. Mr. Thurston's address was considered as able piece of railroad literature. It will be published by the club.

Following Mr. Thurston came Frederick A. Butterworth, commercial agent of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton system, who spoke in a manner that provoked merriment of "How Not to Co-operate." He was followed by D. E. McCabe, freight traffic manager of the Pennsylvania lines west, who spoke on the subject briefly from the view of the traffic man.

The meeting began with a luncheon supper at 6:30 o'clock, followed by the business session and reception to half a dozen new members, among whom were General Agent O. M. Hilsworth of the Rock Island-Frisco system, General Agent D. L. Wells of the Erie system, Division Freight Agent D. G. Gray of the Baltimore & Ohio and Harry Corbett, commercial agent of the Iowa Central. The club now has a membership of 116 men, all of whom are identified with the traffic side of railroading in an official manner.

The annual election will be held at the next meeting in December. A nomination committee was appointed with George D. Outlaw, division freight agent of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania, as chairman. Officers will be elected for 1906.

Wants to Win Vanderbilt Cup.

C. J. S. Miller, better known as Maj. Miller, and a son of Gen. Charles Miller of Franklin, passed through Pittsburgh last evening on his way to New York, where he hopes to win the Vanderbilt international automobile cup in the races next Saturday.

"Hello, there, general," cheerily called out Maj. Miller, as he espied Col. Willis J. Hullings in the waiting room at the Union station. After a chat with Col. Hullings who, accompanied by his son, left for New Mexico to look after his mining interests there from now until about Christmas, the lover of auto racing turned and said:

"Yes, sir; I'm going to win the cup. Chevrolet and my Flat machine can't do anything else and hold their good record. But that I am going to win is under your hat for the present, of course, it wouldn't do for such word to get out."

Mr. Miller came in from Franklin in the afternoon with E. G. Beatty, also of Franklin, and the two met several devotees of automobile racing here. Maj. Miller said that he expected the Hon. James Francis Burke to be present at the races, which will be held on the Long Island course for the Vanderbilt cup. There will be five machines from each of four countries, Germany, France, Italy and the United States. Maj. Miller will have his 60-horse power Flat machine in the race. This was one of the machines at the Brunots Island races carrying off the medal of honor. Chauffeur Chevrolet will drive the machine on the Long Island course.

Some Unblazoned Heroes.

Among the heroes of the day must be counted the Louisiana physicians who are fighting the battle of the people against the dread scourge and who will not give up the fight even when stricken themselves. It often takes more courage to face plague and pestilence in the sick room than danger on the field, for in the former case there is none of the glory to win in the end. It is simply the sacrifice of life and all that makes life worth living at the call of duty, and many a hero of the battlefield would shrink in fear and loathing from the danger fearlessly faced by these nameless heroes in humanity's cause.—Baltimore American.

The Busy American Hen.

According to an expert who knows all about it, the earnings from the egg and poultry business in this country in a single year recently amounted to $280,000,000. The same authority has figured it out that the eggs produced in the United States annually would fill 47,000,000 crates, each of the latter holding 30 eggs; that a train of refrigerator cars that would carry these eggs would be nearly 900 miles long, and that it would take over 167,000 of these cars to make up such a train. If these figures fail to inspire respect for the American hen the case is hopeless.—Baltimore American.

95 Per Cent Berry.

One rather peculiar feature of Candidate Berry's speech was his reference to "Honest Abe" Lincoln and his enlistment of the first Republican president. Many of the old-line Democrats nearly had a fit and they are now wondering whether Berry is a Republican, a Democrat or a Prohibitionist. He seems to be a little of each and not much of either. As stated yesterday, he is 95 per cent Berry and not much of anything else politically.—Connellsville Courier.

The "Deplore" and "Condemn" Party.

Some of our Democratic contemporaries are just as much distressed by the surplus in the state treasury as they are by what they call the deficit in the national treasury. No prospect pleases.—Philadelphia Press.

WYMAN'S FUND IS PRIZE OF THIEF

Money Contributed by Light Plant Employes for Political Purpose Is Carried Off.

DETECTIVE FORCE IS BUSY

In the letters of the famous Billy Baxter it is related that at a moment of intense excitement, while he and his friends were settling a dispute with a man from Kansas City, some mean man "pinched" the Fresh Air Fund and made off with it when no one was looking. In the estimation of the lamented Billy this individual was the meanest man in the world, not alone because he robbed a worthy charity, but because the amount usually in such receptacles should be beneath the attention of an abject criminal. It was the opinion of Billy that the person who got the fresh air money established his real standing in society by the act, and the humorous author dismissed from his memory all further thoughts of the incident.

Mayor Wyman of Allegheny is experiencing some such emotion just now, and if the culprit is discovered he will certainly be made so ashamed of himself that he will not care to stay longer on the North Side. The thief who has so disturbed Mayor Wyman got more money than was ever found in the little round glass boxes that are to be found on the end of every first class bar, but if the mayor's sleuths catch that man he certainly will be terribly punished. Briefly the story is this:

Contributed Their Wages.

Last Wednesday the employes of the city light plant contributed their "willing" offering to the Wyman administration in the shape of 1 per cent of their wages. The other 1 per cent was collected last month. The assessment, amounting to something near $500, was locked in a drawer of the desk of Superintendent Alexander Gray, and was to be carried up to the city hall on Thursday morning and dumped into the campaign strong-box. During the night a thief entered Superintendent Gray's office and pried open the drawer and took the treasure. He shoved the money into a sack, or in his trousers pocket, and went away.

When Mayor Wyman was informed he must have been angry for since last Thursday the affair has been guarded as a great secret. What penalty was threatened for the person who told about it is not known, but fear of it worked silence among the men until yesterday. Then one of them told a Gazette reporter.

Of course no one about city hall knows anything about it. Everyone looks dumb when it is mentioned. The entire detective force has been gum-shoeing on the job since last Thursday and apparently none has yet proved himself possessed of the powers of deduction and detection that were the making of Sherlock Holmes. Someone working in the light plant is suspected of knowing where the money went, but it seems the police "can't get the goods" on the guilty one.

Mayor Wants the Money.

There is some doubt as to what course the mayor will pursue if the $500 never returns. He has already made two political assessments of 2 per cent each, and all within less than a year. The light plant employes are afraid another assessment will result and will not feel easy until Mayor Wyman makes some statement regarding his intentions.

Just what was the exact amount taken could not be learned because no one in city hall will acknowledge that the theft happened. The books in Controller Brown's office show that there was $4,463 78 paid out to 56 employes at the light plant on last Wednesday. The assessment is 2 per cent of the annual salary, so that the aggregate of the contributions lifted last Wednesday would amount to $535 62. It is said that 11 men at the plant who belong to the electrical union did not chip in, so that this amount would be reduced somewhat. However, there was a nice sum taken out of the drawer and Mayor Wyman has put it up to his detectives to run down the thief before all the money is spent.

EMBEZZLEMENT IS CHARGED.

Insurance Man Is Said to Have Failed to Turn In Premiums.

An information was made against J. A. McDonald, a Pittsburgh insurance man, yesterday morning, in which he is charged with the embezzlement of funds aggregating $2,515 65 from the Security Trust and Life Company of Philadelphia. The suit was entered by Daniel B. Luper, the manager of agencies in Pittsburgh for the company. Luper claims that the embezzlement resulted from the collection of premiums during the past two months which were never turned in. The late Robert E. Pattison was president of the Security Trust and Life.

McDonald has been in the East End hospital for a couple of weeks. While at the home of a relative he was wounded by the discharge of a revolver. At first it was thought he was fatally injured, but an investigation proved that he would recover.

Heavy Fog Handicaps Business.

Heavy fog enveloped nearly the whole of Allegheny county yesterday morning and the stores, schools and office buildings were lighted until noon. The fog was responsible for two traction accidents in Homestead. At Seventh and Eighth avenues a car struck a sand wagon owned by Contractor Frank Erbleck of Homestead, and wrecked the wagon. The horse ran to Hays borough before it was captured. At Third avenue and Amity street another car struck a baker's wagon and tore a wheel off.

Directors Asking Questions.

Members of the Sterrett sub-district school board have sent a letter to Superintendent of Schools Samuel Hamilton, chairman of the teachers' salary commission, asking on what basis the decision as to what teachers should be enrolled in class B was reached. The letter states that no member of the commission has visited the Sterrett district schools, in three years to investigate the teachers' work, and wants to know how decisions could be based on practical work of the teachers in the recent examinations.

TECH EXAMS BEGIN.

Director Hamerschlag and Faculty Are Pleased With Showing Made by the 300 Applicants.

The first examination for admission to the Carnegie Technical schools opened at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when about 300, ranging in age from 18 to 25, appeared at the new school buildings. The rooms in which the faculty conducted the examination have been fitted up with chairs with a desk arm. Director Arthur A. Hamerschlag after the session was concluded at 4 p. m., stated that he and the faculty were greatly pleased by the preparations the applicants had made.

Examinations in arithmetic, algebra, English, geography, mechanical drawing, physics and chemistry were conducted. The examinations will be continued until next Saturday, and the schools will be opened for the regular sessions on Monday. Director Hamerschlag said he was unable to estimate how many applicants will appear for the examinations. During the day the office of the schools in the German National bank building was kept busy filling the orders for supplies needed for the examinations.

The Greatest Of all Musical Instruments Is the

Steinway Piano

This is in no sense an exaggeration.

The Steinway Piano has been pronounced by the music artists of the world as the sovereign instrument.

The preference shown for the Steinway by the crowned heads of Europe is proof that they appreciate and indorse the verdict of the greatest music critics.

The beautiful, liquid tone of the Steinway and its enduring quality give it its greatest distinction. The Steinway tone is exquisitely, indescribably melodious.

Price of the Vertegrand, $500. Price of the Miniature Grand, $750.

The Vertegrand Steinway has been pronounced by musicians as the greatest achievement of modern progress in piano construction.

The Minature Grand is the smallest of the Steinway Grands—as small as a Grand piano should be to retain compass and power.

FIRE QUICKLY EATS UP QUARTET OF TENEMENTS

Pandemonium Reigns Among More Than Score of Families Occupying Buildings.

A seven-story frame tenement house, occupied by 12 families, and three three-story dwellings, each of which contained five or six families, were destroyed by fire last night. Three of the buildings were situated in Harmar street and numbered 344, 346 and 348, while the seven-story tenement was directly in the rear, separated by a 10-foot yard. Harmar street is situated on the hillside above Thirty-third street and the Pennsylvania railroad.

The fire was first discovered in the house in the rear and had already gained considerable headway. The owner of the four houses, John Templing, occupied the big one with the other families, and the entire household was thrown into a panic. Many of the tenants threw their belongings out of windows and the hillside was strewn with furniture and bedding which rolled down the hill. An alarm was turned in from box 137 at 6 o'clock, but by the time the firemen responded the flames had spread through the building and leaped across the yard to the houses in front. There the occupants had already begun to get their belongings out, much of which they also threw out of the windows.

The streams of water thrown into the larger building had no effect in subduing the flames, which enveloped it in less than half an hour and totally consumed it inside of an hour. Meantime the flames spread through the houses in front, but the firemen prevented their destruction, although they were left uninhabitable.

Templing placed his loss at $10,000, but said he carried $6,000 insurance on the property. All of the tenants are Poles, whose loss was immaterial, consisting mostly of broken furniture which they threw out of the windows. Officer A. J. Schulty was compelled to arrest Ludwig Nieman of Brereton avenue, who insisted, like others, in breaking through the fire lines in an endeavor to help carry out their friends' goods.

SECTIONAL LINES ARE OBLITERATED

Members of Gen. Alexander Hays, Post G. A. R., Observe Passing of Old Comrades.

Seventeen members of Alexander Hays post No. 3, Grand Army of the Republic, died during the last year, and at the Post hall, 314 Fifth avenue, the annual memorial services were held last night for the dead. It was a characteristic gathering of the old comrades and their families. War times were recalled, but there was no sectional feeling shown. Maj. Boroughs of the Sixth Virginia regiment was there, and he told the comrades how the men who wore the gray felt. All parties were thoroughly reconstructed. During the evening the fact was brought out that it was the people who did no fighting who are now the most eager for the drawing of the Mason and Dixon line.

Adjt. A. Filson Dalzell read the records of the comrades who died during the last year. A wreath of laurel was placed on the chair of each deceased comrade and taps were sounded by Comrade T. C. Brady at the drum and James A. Rutledge, bugler. Mrs. J. Sharp McDonald and Miss Bessie S. Layton sang, with Edward W. Campney, tenor, and J. Harry Horner, basso, with Miss Jenks as accompanist.

The Rev. Dr. John H. Prugh, pastor of Grace Reformed church, delivered the address. He referred to the spiritual welfare of the dead. Of the present he spoke but little, save of the holy ties which bind a national brotherhood. It was a thorough sermon on the subject of reconstruction. It brought old enemies together once again, and he told why they should remain steadfast in brotherhood until death.

The comrades who died during the year and for whom services were held were:

Sigmund Fisher, Company C, Sixth New York volunteers; Adolph Ludwig, Thirteenth Pennsylvania volunteers; John McGiffin, Company D, Seventy-seventh Pennsylvania volunteers; Nicholas Fitzgerald, Company B, One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Pennsylvania volunteers; S. CROWD MATRICULATES AT NIGHT SCHOOL OPENING

First Ward Institution Starts With Students of All Nationalities in Study of English Branches.

"Do you teach readin'?"
"We do."
"Do you teach writin'?"
"Yes."
"How far can you put me in 'rithmetic?"
"Clear up to cube root, if you wish."

This is a sample of the dialogue between Prof. M. J. McMahon, principal of the First ward public school and a goodly number of his applicants for tuition in the night school yesterday evening. The applicants wanted the essentials in education. Beyond this they evinced no uneasiness. It was the occasion of opening the famous First ward night school, an institution where the three "r's" are taught to the exclusion of the more pretentious. For years the First ward night school has been famous, and there was the same congregation of matriculates last night.

Altogether there were about 50 students. They represented every nationality. They didn't want higher education. They would be contented with the three "r's" and on this they insisted. Prof. McMahon was glad to be able to say that he could furnish this. He did not have his school thoroughly organized, but stated that his curriculum likely would follow that of previous years. His teachers soon would be ready and the rudiments of an English education would not be lacking.

And not a man failed to matriculate—it was indeed a wonderful showing. Ten minutes later the lessons were assigned and everybody started to work.

LITTLE HOPE FOR MARINE HOSPITAL

Bids Will Probably Not Be Asked for Institution for Pittsburgh.

WOULD BE OF LITTLE USE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building. WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.

Within two weeks the plans for the marine hospital at Pittsburgh will be completed and the supervising architect will be ready to advertise for bids. But bids will not be invited at once. There will be delay. In fact, Pittsburgh may never have a marine hospital. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor today said as much when Representative James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh called at the department to make inquiry as to the status of the matter. Furthermore Mr. Taylor intimated very strongly that the treasury department would not go ahead with the erection of a hospital at Pittsburgh unless congress specifically instructed to this effect. He also stated that a recommendation would be made to congress that all of the marine hospitals of the country be closed and the patients turned over to municipal institutions.

Representative Burke called this morning to ask when the plans would be started on the building. He found that the matter was progressing very well, but when he reached Assistant Secretary Taylor he struck a snag in the form of a conviction held by the department that to build a marine hospital at Pittsburgh would be a waste of public money. Mr. Taylor explained the situation to the congressman and outlined the views of the department.

When seen by The Gazette correspondent today, Assistant Secretary Taylor said:

"In my opinion it would be folly for the government to go ahead with the construction of a marine hospital at Pittsburgh. The average number of cases treated there is six a day. Why should the government pay $125,000 to build a hospital and spend $50,000 more in furnishing it, besides detailing surgeons, nurses and other employes, when it can have its patients treated at the city hospitals for 94 cents a day? No, there will be no hurry about letting the contract. Personally I think it will never be let."

"Would not the same objection apply to other marine hospitals? Do they not treat few cases compared with the number treated at municipal hospitals?" was asked.

"Yes, that it true," said Mr. Taylor, "but at no other city where a marine hospital is now in operation is the number so small. At Pittsburgh there is absolutely no reason for the establishment of a marine hospital."

"Is it true that the department has in view the closing of the marine hospitals now in operation?" was asked.

"The department will not take any such action on its own responsibility," he replied. "Whether we have authority to do that or not I am not certain, but a recommendation will be made to congress that they be closed and then congress can take whatever action it sees fit."

"What would you do with all these hospital buildings that the government now owns?" was asked.

"Sell them and turn the money into the treasury," promptly replied the secretary.

The plans for the Pittsburgh hospital are now nearly completed and Supervising Architect Taylor said today that in about two weeks they would be ready to invite bids from contractors. He was not aware that there was any hitch and if he was informed of the attitude of the department toward increasing the number of marine hospitals he did not indicate it. However, the supervising architect's duty is merely to prepare the plans in accordance with instructions from the secretary of the treasury under the act of congress making the appropriation.

There are now 22 marine hospitals in operation in various parts of the country. Plans are being prepared for one at Buffalo and the Pittsburgh hospital.

ORDER IN MOSCOW.

Military and Police Restore Peace in Ancient Russian Capital—Strike Extends Elsewhere.

MOSCOW, Oct. 9.—Complete order has been restored in the streets by the police and military patrols, reinforced by a regiment of dragoons from Tver. Work was resumed today in some sections of the city, but the strike continues elsewhere.

At a meeting of street railway employes today a majority voted to accept the concessions offered by the employers, and it is believed the service will be resumed tomorrow. It is persistently reported that the steam railroad employes will strike Wednesday.

It has been definitely ascertained that no one was killed during the disturbances of Saturday, but 75 persons were wounded, including the officer commanding the gendarmerie, three Cossacks and one policeman severely, and 20 policemen, gendarmes and Cossacks slightly.

IS CONSERVATIVE GAIN.

Wall Street Journal Figures That U. S. Steel Corporation Earnings Will Reach $140,000,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—According to the Wall Street Journal the net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the calendar year 1905, based on book orders, the reports of subsidiary presidents and the general trade outlook, should touch $140,000,000. That is the conclusion of well-informed authorities. This would compare with net earnings of $72,982,977 in 1904, of $108,171,153 in 1903, and with $133,808,764 in the banner year of 1902.

Considering the great progress made by the steel corporation since 1902 in modernizing its mills, harmonizing its plants and in the installation of methods reducing cost of production, an increase of $7,000,000 in net earnings over the returns of 1902 is estimated as a conservative gain.

PLATT DENIES LETTER.

Senator Declares That He Has No Intention of Attempting to Take Leadership from Odell.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—United States Senator Thomas C. Platt denied emphatically today that he had summoned Republican leaders to confer with him. A published report gave the text of a letter alleged to have been sent out by Senator Platt, and intimated that an attempt was to be made to win the support of the leaders away from State Chairman Odell.

"There is not one word of truth in that article," said the senator very emphatically. "It is absolutely false from beginning to end. I have not sent out any such letter nor have I contemplated taking such action. Nothing that I have done or intend to do could in any way be used as a basis for such a story."

Double Tragedy; No Clue Found.

HASKELL, I. T., Oct. 9.—The bodies of Miss Margaret Lindsay, a school teacher, and Joseph B. Young, a barber, were found today in the road, three miles north of Haskell. There were marks of violence on the bodies, and a revolver was found near the scene. The couple were last seen alive on Sunday evening, when they drove out of Haskell in a buggy. There is no clue.

Denman Thompson Robbed.

KEENE, N. H., Oct. 9.—The postoffice safe at West Swanzey was blown open by burglars today and papers belonging to Denman Thompson, the veteran actor, stolen. The stamps and cash of the postoffice had been taken home by the postmistress Saturday night. The value of the papers stolen is not known. Thompson owns the building in which the postoffice is located.

SHAKEUP IN TENDERLOIN; AX FOR POLICE OFFICIALS

Raids and Sensational Discoveries End in Transfers for Many Downtown New York Coppers. Blackmail Charge Made.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Sensational raids upon alleged pool rooms, in which doors were battered down and furniture and decorations ruthlessly smashed, a series of so-called "pink teas," at which keepers of disorderly houses were the guests and the police captain the host, and raids upon a number of large apartment hotels, which took place after the transfer of Police Captain Dooley from Coney Island to command of the Tenderloin district, were followed today by several changes in the personnel of the force in the city's busiest section. Police Captain Bernard Gallagher, who for some time had been in command of the Forty-seventh street (upper Tenderloin) district, was the most important personage to fall beneath the ax.

It was in this district that a number of large apartment hotels were raided Saturday night on suspicion that they were being conducted as disorderly houses. The raids were made by Capt. Gallagher's men on complaints made by detectives of his precinct. Only one arrest, a clerk in each instance, was made at each house. All the complaints were dismissed and the prisoners released when their cases came up in court. Today Capt. Gallagher was removed to a Brooklyn precinct.

The manager of one of the hotels raided declared today that money at the rate of $6,000 a month had been collected from 389 places in the police precinct where the raids took place. The collections, he said, were made by a man not connected with the police department and on behalf of persons unknown.

DIVIDENDS DO NOT SPELL SUCCESS

Secretary Shaw Pleads for More Conservatism in National Bank Management.

BANKING AS A PROFESSION

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—"I grant that the American banker is not always as conservative as one would wish. The desire for big dividends is altogether too potent with many boards of directors," is the welcome Secretary Shaw has extended to the 2,500 bankers who are coming to Washington for the 31st annual convention of the American Bankers' association, beginning tomorrow.

These sentences are found in an article on "Public Credit," which has the place of honor in the souvenir volume prepared by William V. Cox, president of the Second National bank of Washington, for the convention. After reviewing the necessity for the treasury's policy of meeting the periods of monetary stringency and supplying by artificial means the elasticity which the monetary system lacks, Secretary Shaw says:

"The success of a bank should not be—must not be—measured by dividends earned. Banking may not be a profession, but in ethics it should approach a profession rather than the avocation of the speculator. We count the lawyer, the doctor and the preacher most successful who best serve only those who rely upon them. Fortunately for the lawyer, the doctor and the preacher who best serve their clients, their patients and their parishioners are seldom forsaken, and their seed seldom beg bread.

"The bank that best serves the public, whose servant it is, may not pay the largest dividends, but in the swing of years it will build for itself a name not the envy of the world, but the pride of those who have had to do with shaping its policies."

In an article on the customs revenues James R. Reynolds, second assistant secretary of the treasury, states that of the 157 customs ports, 45 are not self-supporting. The worst examples are Beaufort, N. C., where $1.55 in revenues was collected at a cost of $1,500 in salaries, and Crisfield, Md., where $22.70 was taken in and $2,700 paid out.

WOULD OUST OLD MEN FROM ARMY

Gen. Williams Believes All Officers Should Be Able to Do Field Duty.

FAVORS GARRISON CANTEEN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—In his annual report to the secretary of war, Brig.-Gen. Constant Williams, commanding the department of the Columbia, expresses decided views about the inexpediency of retaining in the military service officers who by reason of age, mental condition or physical ailment are unable to endure the hardest field service and intelligently direct their troops. He would have no captain over 49, and he suggests a rigid physical, mental and technical examination for every officer before he shall be placed in command of a regiment. A corollary of this project is a plan for the compulsory retirement of officers to insure the accession to high commands of men young enough for active field work.

Gen. Williams also urges more liberal treatment of officers in the matter of expense. He thinks they should not be obliged to pay for the heating and lighting of their quarters and they should be furnished their own mounts at the government expense. He also suggests an improved form of officers' mess and the strengthening of the sea fortifications on the north Pacific coast. In Alaska, he believes Fort Davis, near Nome, might be profitably abandoned and Fort Michael reservation should be considerably reduced in size so as to retain so much land as is necessary for military service. Like everyone of the general officers of the army commanding the great military divisions and departments who have yet been heard from on the subject, and only one remains to report this year, Gen. Williams urges the restoration of the army canteen, and he says:

"This is a most unusual and interesting question, for in it we find the union of the two most antagonistic elements in American society working hand-in-hand against the best interests of the soldier. In the first place we have the great temperance society, whose general influence for good and notable work cannot be too highly commended, but who, in this particular case, with best possible intentions, are making a serious mistake; and joined with them in the agitation against the army canteen are the producers of whisky and their creatures, the saloonkeepers, who make a livelihood by the sale of alcoholic drinks, often of the most unwholesome and villainous character. The whiskey guild argues quite correctly that if the soldier is prevented from getting beer and light wines in the canteen, he will be virtually forced to patronize the saloons and doggeries, which under this system have sprung up like mushrooms at the very gates of all army garrisons.

"As an example, in Vancouver, with a population of about 4,000 there are 22 saloons, all situated as near the garrison as practicable. Some of them in addition to selling a poor quality of whisky, also furnish facilities for gambling. To these dens of iniquity the anti-canteen law is a big dividend paying charter, securing them power to degrade, demoralize and rob the American soldier."

NOT FROM MISSOURI.

Nevertheless, Senator Platt Asks That Court Require Miss Mae Wood to "Show Him" Cause for Action.

OMAHA, NEB., Oct. 9.—T. J. Mahoney, counsel for United States Senator Thomas C. Platt of New York, and for the United States Express Company, defendant in a civil suit recently brought by Mae C. Wood for $25,000, which she alleged to be due her for services rendered, today filed answer to the petition. The answer is made as a motion that Miss Wood be required to give more detailed information as to the services she rendered the company.

E. P. Fitzwilliams, local manager of the company, took the stand and testified that Senator Platt owned none of the express company's property in Omaha. This was in reply to a petition for garnishment asked for against the senator. The motion prays that Miss Wood be required to explain in detail how she secured information from the postoffice department.

Appoints a National Staff.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9.—Col. H. V. Speelman, commander-in-chief of the Sons of Veterans, today announced his staff appointments, including national counselor, A. B. Stephens, Cincinnati; national treasurer, James Lewis Rake, Reading, Pa.; chaplain-in-chief, Russell K. Bagood, Lafayette, Ind.; inspector general, Edward K. Depuy, Washington, D. C.

LARGE EXPORT OF COTTON CROP

Sixty-One Per Cent of American Product Is Shipped to Foreign Countries.

INCREASE OVER OTHER YEARS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The census bureau today issued a bulletin showing the production and distribution of the cotton of the United States available between September 1, 1904, and September 1, 1905, to be 14,465,394 bales. Of this 61 per cent was exported, 30 per cent was used in domestic consumption, leaving a surplus of 9 per cent. The domestic consumption includes 26,078 bales destroyed by fire.

The exportation amounted to 8,834,929 bales, the domestic consumption to 4,315,756 and the surplus to 1,295,259. Of the total, 13,980,279 bales were included in the crop of 1904, and the remainder in that of 1905. The surplus included stocks held in mills, at ports, at interior towns and on plantations and in transit on the first of last September.

Of the quantity consumed in the United States, 2,138,829 bales were used in northern mills and 2,140,151 in southern mills. In addition to the totals given, 124,469 bales of foreign cotton were imported into the United States during the year.

Exceeds All Other Years.

The exportation for the year covered exceeded that of any previous year by 1,144,462 bales and exceeded the average for the past 10 years by 2,352,918 bales. New Orleans, with a total of 2,463,421 bales, held first rank as an exporting point, but was closely pressed by Galveston with 2,388,218 bales. Savannah, Ga., with 1,250,989 bales, held third place. The value of the total export of raw cotton was $404,209,292, aggregating 8,834,929 bales, distributed in bales as follows: To the United Kingdom, 4,043,999; Belgium, 161,151; France, 857,153; Germany, 2,135,672; Italy, 536,929; Russia, 125,463; Spain, 230,688; Japan, 324,968; British North America, 125,407; Mexico, 72,276; all other countries, 9,461 bales.

The total number of producing spindles in the United States is reported at 24,077,524, of which 8,211,734 were in the south and 15,865,790 in the north. Notwithstanding the great difference in the number of spindles of the two sections the consumption of cotton is practically the same. The annual consumption of cotton per spindle in the northern mills is 67 pounds, compared with 124 pounds in the south. The difference in the spindle consumption indicates that the northern mills are spinning yarns of very much greater fineness than those turned out by the southern mills. The large output of the southern mills this season has been mainly of heavy fabrics to supply a greatly increased demand from China and the orient.

Shows Steady Increase.

The report shows that in 25 years the production of the United States has increased from 5,762,892 to 13,436,279 bales. The total consumption of cotton in this country has increased from 1,671,383 to 4,278,966 bales. Within the last five years the cotton consuming estimates of the United States have increased from 1,483,711 to 2,140,151 bales. During these five years the northern cotton consuming establishments have actually decreased their consumption by 18,995 bales, explained by these mills being engaged during the period in replacing old machinery by more modern. The world's cotton production for 1904, entering commercial channels, was 18,041,859 bales, with a total consumption of 15,474,389 bales. This indicates a world's surplus of 2,567,379 bales. Of the total production, 2,960,000 bales were grown in the East Indies, 1,187,000 in Egypt and the remainder in Brazil and other countries.

Owing to the sensitive character of the cotton market the report emphasizes the importance of accurate information on the question, and adds:

"While there has been some refusals in both sections of the country to supply the data required by the law, the information has as a rule been cheerfully and promptly given, and when the totals are compared with the figures of the commercial movement, it is evident that the returns made to the bureau of the census have been remarkably accurate. In those cases where manufacturers refused to give the desired information, statistics for such establishments received through reliable sources have been included in the totals of this report."

The report also says:

Total Production Known.

"Since the inauguration of the census reports on cotton ginning the cotton crop has been brought more completely within the purview of the statistical method than any other farm commodity. The total production of each year is now known, within a few thousand bales, as early as the following March. The progress of the crop can be traced, bale by bale, to the mills north and south and to several foreign countries. It will be a part of the purpose of these reports to learn what proportion of their purchases the mills have consumed and what the mills have on hand at given dates. In time it is hoped that this exact knowledge can be extended so as to include foreign countries. With this knowledge in his possession the producer can himself determine what is a fair price for him to demand and the consumer what is a safe price for him to pay."

The bulletin is the first to be published on the subject under the act passed by congress last February.

Here Vanishes a Sensation.

DES MOINES, IA., Oct. 9.—The skull found in a pawnshop here last week was left by City Physician Miller a few weeks ago and forgotten by him. It was the upper portion of the skull of an unknown tramp, murdered here a few months ago, and has been fully identified.

One New Case of Cholera.

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—The official bulletin issued today announced that no new cases of cholera had been reported from Saturday noon to noon yesterday and that one case had occurred between Sunday noon and noon today. The totals now are 265 cases and 99 deaths.

Wilmerding Business Increasing.

Receipts for last month at the Wilmerding station were $1,700 in excess of the same month last year. Receipts for freight in the last nine months reached $245,500 in an average of $40,000 a month. There is an increase of $75,000 over last year. The passenger traffic has increased greatly during the last few years and now runs from $9,000 to $10,000 a month.

HEAVEN, SAYS DOMINIE, IS IDEAL APARTMENT HOUSE

New York Parson Therefore Gives Janitors a Few Timely Admonitions—How St. John's Passage Reads to Moderns.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The Rev. Ezra T. Sanford, pastor of the North Baptist church, has discovered scriptural foundation for the belief that the modern apartment houses are the kind of structures all good people will find lining the golden streets of heaven. The question hinges in the interpretation of the Bible verse in the fourteenth chapter of the gospel according to St. John. In telling the disciples of the life beyond, the text says:

"In my Father's house there are many mansions." Now, according to the Rev. Sanford, the word "mansions" should be translated "apartments." With this discovery made, the minister went on to prove that heaven is an ideal apartment house. Some good advice to janitors was given in the following words:

"It is very sad that so many owners of apartment houses object to children and welcome dogs. Children are a part of God's plan for the earth, and heaven's halls re-echo with the songs of children, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

"The janitor of an apartment house stands at the entrance to admit only those who have a right to enter. The correct judge of the earth declares who shall hear 'come ye, beloved of my Father,' or 'depart.' Therefore, janitors should be Christ-like. Let them ask the question, 'What would Jesus do?'

"Because owners are sometimes not God-like the city makes laws seeking to give light and air to the persons who dwell in them. Architects should seek to study God's plan.

"If there are songs in heaven, why should they not be considered in the apartment house problem. If there is companionship in heaven, why not apartments planned for happy home life? Why not have a great reception hall to cultivate friendship?"

The Rev. Mr. Sanford defends the piano and violin. He says there ought to be rooms for them in every apartment house.

PRESIDENT SEES NEW OPERA.

Mr. Roosevelt and Party of Friends Witness First Production of Victor Herbert's Play.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt with a party of friends consisting of Secretary of State Root and Justice Holmes of the supreme court of the United States and Mrs. Holmes tonight witnessed the performance of the new opera entitled "Mlle. Modiste," which began a week's engagement here with Miss Fritzi Scheff in the title role.

Miss Scheff was given a splendid reception and was well supported by a large company. Busing an intermission the composer, Victor Herbert, who wrote the music for the opera, stepped out to the director's chair and led the orchestra in a rendition of the "Star Spangled Banner." The President joined in the applause in the hearty applause which followed.

Will Take First Sea Voyage.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The gunboat Paducah has left New York for a cruise to shake down her machinery and to drill her crew. This is her initial trip to sea.

Poisons and Poisons.

There are many deadly poisons. Some work quickly; some slowly. Some will kill a man in a minute; some in an hour; some in a month; some in a year; some take half a lifetime. Some work on the blood; some on the brain; some on the nerves; some on the will.

Tobacco

does all these. Nicotine is a most insidious poison. Its work is slow, but often surreptitious. It changes a man into the belief that it is even beneficial to him. Then it "has him" thoroughly. There is no antidote for him then but one—the one provided by nature.

Tobacco Specific.

This is a marvelous vegetable remedy for curing the tobacco habit. It is the wonderful discovery of a Cincinnati chemist. It is composed of certain simple vegetable extracts. When absorbed into the human system it immediately sets up an active reaction against the poisons or poisons of tobacco. It works wonders. It removes tobacco throughout the entire body. It gradually relieves the tobacco user to feel a distaste for the pipe, cigar or cigarette. This distaste develops into a positive and violent dislike for tobacco or even the smell in any form.

We declare it to be an absolute cure and preventive of the tobacco habit. It is practically without taste or odor and can be administered to the coffee or food without being discovered. It can be given secretly by wives to husbands, brothers with perfect success. Sometimes but a single package will work a cure. Sample package free.

Read the following letters. These letters are very brief to the point. They tell their own story.

This is to certify that I have used Tobacco-Specific in myself, and I find it has entirely cured me entirely of smoking cigarettes. I cannot speak too highly of it. Yours truly, Chas. Wilson, Tobacco-Specific is a remarkably effective antidote.

Mrs. F. Kohnenkamp, 180 Fremont St., Cleveland, Ohio.

I had used tobacco almost 40 years, and my system was used to it years. One package of Tobacco-Specific cured both of us of the tobacco habit. M. A. Bowers, Chamber Creek, Ohio.

Just send Tobacco-Specific and address to Thomas Drug Co. Cincinnati Company. Fifth and Race streets, Cincinnati, Ohio, for the FREE trial treatment of this wonderful Tobacco Specific. Bellevue Extension

$5 to $15 Per Foot

It is just what the name implies—an annex to the beautiful residence town of Bellevue.

Thomas Avenue, one of the borough's finest streets, has been extended through it. Rogers Avenue, noted for its attractive homes, passes close by it. Forest Avenue, on which the new Bellevue traction line has been laid, skirts the property.

THE FIGURES TELL THE TALE

Investigate and you will find that residence frontage on the streets mentioned has sold during the past year at $50 per foot and higher.

Walk one block farther, into "Bellevue Extension," and you can buy a lot for $5 to $15 per foot. We have only 160 of them in the plan. If they are not snapped up by investors and home seekers before the week is out we shall be astonished.

Why, residence frontage in the remotest outskirts of Greater Pittsburgh cannot be bought for less money, and here you have property lined up alongside of the very best that Bellevue affords, and we offer it at Less Than One-Third of the prevailing price.

Graded streets, substantial sidewalks, natural gas, electric light, telephone service and Pure Water are among the improvements offered at the very start.

There is no conjecture about the safety and certainty of these lots as an investment. They will double and treble in value just as sure as land is land.

They are only five blocks from Lincoln Avenue, the main business thoroughfare of Bellevue, and only a few minutes' walk from the churches, schools, banks and stores.

There are not many of them—only 160 lots—so if you want one, be quick about it.

NOTE THE PRICES!

We have a few lots for $150 to $250, and the choicest will go for $500, $600 and $750. A few larger ones, ranging from 100 to 120 feet in width, are priced at $1,000 to $1,500.

But don't forget that $15 per foot is the maximum price.

The terms of sale are 10 per cent cash, 3 per cent per month, 10 per cent discount for cash in 60 days. We pay taxes and interest till you get your deed. Every title is insured—a policy goes with each lot. Building restrictions all over the plan.

HOW TO GET THERE

Take a "Bellevue" car. Get off at Thomas and Forest Avenues and you will find yourself within 300 feet of the property. Sales days Friday and Saturday, October 13 and 14—but don't put it off till the end of the week.

BERRY IS SCORED FOR HIS SPEECH

Temperance Workers Take Exceptions to Legislator's Remarks in State Meeting.

SAYS PRAYERS STOPPED WAR

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 9.—The Hon. John M. Berry, member of the legislature from Washington county, proved the feature of the day's session of the state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance union. Mr. Berry, who is a well-known temperance advocate, was called upon for an address this afternoon. His first sentence produced an uproar. He said:

"I know of no way to better advance the cause of prohibition than through the Republican party." Scarcely had he uttered these words than a dozen delegates were on the floor protesting. The legislator was compelled to suspend his remarks until the president, Mrs. Chambers, came to his rescue and asked that he be tendered the courtesy of a hearing. Mr. Berry was allowed to finish his address, but was later subjected to severe criticism by the temperance committee in a lengthy report.

The most important action of the convention today was the election of officers. Mrs. Rebecca B. Chambers of West Grove was re-elected president for the eighth successive term. The other old officers were re-elected as follows: Vice president at large, Mrs. H. H. Forrest, Allegheny; corresponding secretary, Miss H. Frances Jones, Philadelphia; recording secretary, Mrs. Olive Pond Aimes, Philadelphia; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth F. Criest, Lancaster. The branch secretaries and state vice presidents will be chosen later.

Upon the invitation of Mrs. Edward A. Sowers, it was unanimously decided to hold the next annual state convention at Hildreway, Elk county. Vice President Mrs. Mary L. Pardy of Waynesburg, superintendent of the department of peace, made the statement that the consummation of the peace treaty between Russia and Japan was due to the prayers of the Women's Christian Temperance union of Pennsylvania. She said that at the last state convention prayer was offered that the United States would be instrumental in bringing peace to these two warring nations.

Mrs. Maria C. Weed of New York, formerly of Utah, made an address today on Mormonism. She asked that every delegate send a personal letter to the United States senators from Pennsylvania asking the expulsion of Reed Smoot of Utah. The credentials committee made its report today showing 255 delegates present out of a total enrollment of 296, which makes the present convention the largest ever held in the state.

The reports of superintendents today showed that all departments were flourishing. The evening session was taken up with the address of the Rev. Dr. Anna H. Shaw of New York. The convention will close tomorrow evening.

DISORDERS MARK THEIR CONVENTION

Washington County Prohibitionists Indulge in Hot Talk and Much Excitement.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 9.—The annual convention of the Washington county Prohibitionists was characterized today by one of the most heated controversies ever known in a "cold water" assembly in Washington. A full county ticket, with the exception of judge, was named and red-hot resolutions passed. The nominations follow:

Treasurer, Samuel W. Hall, Washington; prothonotary, J. C. Patterson, Nottingham township; clerk of courts, Joseph B. Kenyon, Charleroi; register of wills, D. G. Bamford Midway; director of the poor, W. R. Caruthers, Taylorstown; coroner, Milner H. Day, Washington; commissioners, W. H. Mitchell, East Pike Run township, and W. O. Russell, Judger; auditors, Lindley Thomas, Morris township, and J. C. H. Maxwell, Hopewell township. The officers of the county committee follows: President, R. C. McGrew, Washington; secretary, Louis Van Orden, Washington; treasurer, Samuel W. Hall, Washington.

The principal discussion arose over a resolution presented favoring the adoption of the Citizens-Fusion ticket. An effort was made to stampede the convention to this ticket and the greatest excitement prevailed. Carrymen, delegates almost passed the ile, and order was not restored for several minutes. The resolution was unanimously voted down.

The platform arraigns both Republican and Democratic organizations for their attitude in favor of license and in "breeding political corruption." The county Republican organization was charged with the grossest corruption, and the assertion made that "The false registration, illegal voting, dishonest practices and unclean methods of the workers of our state and municipal affairs are promoted by the saloons and breweries."

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Masterly pitching by Christy Mathewson, backed up by glit-edged playing by the men behind him, gave the New York National league champions a victory today over the Philadelphia American league pennant winners in the first of the series of seven games for the world's championship. Philadelphia failed to score, Mathewson allowing the home team only four hits, while the New Yorkers managed to score three runs off Plank. Although defeated, Philadelphia played a brilliant game.

It was a clean victory for the visitors, the element of luck cutting no figure in the contest. The National league champions played hard for the game, and it was only their persistency in touching up Plank at the right moment that gave them the contest. While the visitors were gathering their runs, New York's great pitcher was mowing down the home players in almost one, two, three order. Of the 31 men who faced him only eight reached first, four of them on hits, three on fielders' choice and one on Donlin's muff of a short fly. Only one Philadelphia man, Schreck, reached third, and he was thrown out at the plate on a close play. New York also excelled in base running, four of the visitors being credited with stolen bases.

The only department wherein the Philadelphians outshone the New Yorks was in fielding. They gave Plank as brilliant support as has been seen here for a long time. Monte Cross at short and Capt. Lave Cross at third made some phenomenal stops and quick throws while on the run. The team played without an error. For New York Dahlen and Devlin were all over the infield, the latter making several hard stops and throws.

Donlin made New Yorks' only misplay. He started too late on a short fly ball and muffed it. It resulted in nothing, as the runner was doubled up at second on the next play.

New York came near scoring in the first inning. Plank hit Bresnahan, the first man up, with the first pitched ball. He was forced at second by Browne. Donlin sent up a pop fly to Davis and McGann bit into the crowd in left field, the ground rules allowing him two bases. With Browne on third Mertes fell a victim to Plank's cross-fire balls and struck out.

In the second inning Devlin and Gilbert bunted safely and worked a double steal. Bresnahan was purposely sent to first on balls, but New York was unable to score.

The visitors went out in order in the third and fourth on sharp fielding.

Mathewson singled to center in the fifth inning, but was forced at second by Bresnahan, who stole second. Browne was an easy out and Bresnahan scored on Donlin's single to left field. McGann was purposely sent to first on four balls. Mertes hit to the center field, scoring Donlin with New York's second run. Dahlen was an easy out.

The visitors were easily disposed of in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings. They scored their third run in the ninth on Gilbert's third hit of the day, Mathewson's sacrifice and Bresnahan's single.

The nearest Philadelphia came to scoring was in the sixth inning, when Schreck opened the inning with a beautiful drive for two bases. He reached third on Plank's sacrifice, but was thrown out at the plate by Mathewson, who gathered in Hartsel's sharp grounder.

Murphy opened the eighth inning with a two-base drive, but the next three men went out in order. Davis hit for two bases in the ninth, but was left at second.

While the interest in the series is widespread, the crowd was not as large as that which saw any one of the three games between the home team and Chicago when they played their series about ten days ago for first place. Counting those who saw the game from the roofs of houses surrounding the grounds, more than 18,000 persons witnessed today's struggle. The paid admissions were officially announced at 17,255.

Scattered through the big pavilion were many men prominent in baseball, either as players or club owners.

The National commission had seats in the upper tier on the home players' side of the field.

The two teams will play in New York tomorrow. The visitors left for home tonight and the Philadelphia team will go to New York tomorrow morning. Score:

SCHEDULES WILL BE APPROVED

Executive Committee of the Bowling League Will Hold Important Confab Tonight.

LATEST FROM THE ALLEYS

The executive committee of the Allegheny County league will meet at this office tonight to act on the schedule of the three sections. The Monongahela Valley league adopted a schedule last week, which will hardly be approved by the committee. It is extremely lopsided. For instance, in the first half the North Braddock and Arcade teams are not scheduled to meet at all. Neither the Braddock nor the Arcade teams is booked to roll a game at East Pittsburgh. East Pittsburgh is not scheduled to roll the Colonials at Turtle Creek, and the Colonials are not scheduled to roll either at Braddock or McKeesport. McKeesport is scheduled to roll four games at Wilmerding and Wilmerding, according to the schedule, will not roll a game at McKeesport or Braddock. The committee will have a schedule drafted for the Monongahela section, which will give all the teams a fair show. A schedule of the Pittsburgh section has been submitted, and with a few changes will, no doubt, be accepted. The Allegheny section schedule is complete in every sense, and only awaits the approval of the executive committee.

The Excelsior teams Nos. 1 and 2 met on the Friendship alleys last night and No. 2 won two out of three games. Scores:

The Mercantile Bowling league will commence their season on the club alleys this evening. The following houses are represented: T. C. Jenkins, C. C. Mellor Company, limited, McCreery & Co., J. G. Bennett & Co., Hardy & Hayes and Boggs & Buhl, William G. Johnston Company, Arbuthnot-Stephenson Company, Oil Well Supply Company, M. H. Pickering, Bailey-Farrell Manufacturing Company, Joseph Horne Company employes, Rauh Brothers. Harvey Klock of J. G. Bennett & Co. is president, E. M. Peter of William G. Johnston Company is vice president, G. Blackburn of T. C. Jenkins is secretary, Clarence A. Whiteside of William G. Johnston Company, assistant secretary, and J. B. Lambie of Hardy & Hayes treasurer. The trophy for the team having the highest percentage at the end of the season is the most valuable sterling loving cup presented to a bowling team in this section. It is made from a special design and is well worth contesting for. Beside this trophy the majority of the houses represented have donated some valuable prizes to be distributed by the executive committee to individuals. These prizes, as a rule, represent some line of merchandise handled by the several houses. The league also is putting up a line of prizes that will make the contests more interesting. The tournaments for the Mercantile league will be played every Tuesday evening excepting during the month of December until the close of the season. The schedule for this evening is as follows: T. C. Jenkins vs. Arbuthnot-Stephenson Company, C. C. Mellor Company, Ltd., vs. Oil Well Supply Company, McCreery & Co. vs. M. H. Pickering, J. G. Bennett & Co. vs. Bailey-Farrell Manufacturing Company, Hardy & Hayes—Boggs & Buhl vs. Joseph Horne Company employes, William G. Johnston Company vs. Rauh Brothers.

The Barbers' league made its initial bow last night on the Wylie avenue alleys in a match game between the Jeffries' Leaders and Rudy's. The Rudy's won two out of three games, they having a tower of strength by having the services of Klippick, the County leaguer. The scores will undoubtedly improve as the season progresses. The principal fault of the game was that someone broke in a chicken coop and the referee could see nothing but fouls—there were about three dozen executed in the match. There will be some close shaves and well trimmed up costumes before the season is over. The scores:

BASEBALL CHATTER.

One for the National league, and on American league grounds, too.

Connie Mack's boys could get only four hits off Christy Mathewson.

Funny thing this: Gilbert of the Giants made three hits off the American league pitcher yesterday. He never made that many off any one National league pitcher during the season.

Matty did not give a base on balls, and struck out five of the Athletics.

The shortstops in the world's championship game each accepted nine chances.

Hans Wagner is practicing for the ball of the Exposition park employes on November 1. He is later to lead the grand march.

The Pirates will play at Canton, O., today.

The National league won all along the line yesterday.

The Giants will play the Athletics on the Polo grounds today.

The Chicago National and American league teams will meet today in the first of a series of seven games for the championship of Chicago.

Leifield played a swell game in right field yesterday.

Millvale patrons swear that Pat Flaherty's hit would have gone over right field fence at Exposition park. He got only two bases on it.

The Pirates will play at Homestead tomorrow. They intend to beat the All-Stars out of their socks.

YALE COACHES AGAIN ADOPT TIME-HONORED FORMATION OF TACKLES BACK

Princeton Instructs Its Center Men in Snapping Back the Ball.

FROM THE OTHER COLLEGES

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 9.—Yale today began work on her time-honored and standard tackle formations in earnest. During a short half that was brisk in spite of excessively warm weather, Forbes and Bigelow were in turn pulled back from tackle and sent against the opposing tackle, guard or center, all of the backs behind them to shove or pull forward. Both Bigelow and Forbes are quick starting tackles and sure on their feet and good gains were the rule. They were given a rest when the half backs, Stevenson and Veeder, or Flinn, from full back, carried the ball in plunges at tackle or on end runs.

The coaching today was in charge of Ralph Bloomer and Frank Hinkey, as Mr. Camp and Field Coach Owsley were guests of President Roosevelt at the White House. Considerable time was spent this afternoon in practicing a new protective formation to guard Veeder when punting from a position close up to the rush line. Zinowski today rejoined the squad, having cleared away scholarship difficulties.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The afternoon's practice was brief and unusually light owing to the heat, and much time that would otherwise have been put on the regular scrimmage was devoted to rudimentary work. Backs were given a careful drill in punting, while Waller and Carothers were trained in passing. The scrimmage was made up for the most part of plays directed at tackle and guard and the varsity plunged and awirled through to good purpose most of the time. The trouble is that the scrub is really too weak to be a fair test of their strength.

The varsity went down the field rapidly today on straight football, and at last McCormick stormed through for a touchdown after a somewhat stubborn defense from the scrubs when they saw the goal line threatened. A notable feature of the day's work was the playing of the ends, Fryer, O'Brien and Munn. O'Brien, especially, showed high speed, and made clean tackles. Cooney, in spite of his weight and comparatively heavy build, sometimes travels the ends at their own game and is often down the field as soon or sooner than they can make it. McClintock and Dillon were at quarter, but Tenney was left out. The quarterback problem is one of the most interesting ones of all those presented by Princeton's curious team and it is a puzzle to tell as yet who of the present candidates is finding favor in the eyes of the coaches. Rafferty is doing very well on the whole and is trying hard. His playing is quiet, but becomes more effectual as time goes on.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Coach Warner said today that the greatest faults of the Cornell varsity exhibited in the contest with Bucknell Saturday were fumbling, lack of spirited and fast offense and tendency on the part of some of the players to mix up with their opponents instead of putting them out of the play and then following the ball. Rice at quarterback was partly to blame for Saturday's fumbling, but he walked 10 miles with a surveying class in the morning and then the ball was blown up too tight. Today he was given a lot of instruction in passing. Walders, Hallday and Cook were not in the lineup and only light work was given with the perfecting of new formations and starting signals with speed. The coaches have ordered secret practice for three days of the week. It was announced that the former players do not wish to take the risk of being injured and that the alumni game scheduled for next Saturday has been declared off.

W. & J.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The Washington and Jefferson football team took regular practice today minus Specht, fullback, and James, right tackle. These men are on the injured list and neither will be able to play against Geneva on Wednesday. Coach Pixlarski as usual after Saturday games gave the varsity squad severe work for nearly three hours. Swaney limped a good deal today, but was able to practice. The varsity played horse with the scrubs, and made long gains through the center and around the ends. Tomorrow's game will be the final practice before the game Wednesday with the strong Geneva eleven.

Westminster.

NEW WILMINGTON, PA., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The Westminster eleven arrived home from Pittsburgh today in good conditon and spirits, and were accorded an enthusiastic reception by the student who were well satisfied by the showing made by the team in their battle with Western university. It is a remarkable fact that Westminster has gone through three of the hardest battles on her schedule, the games with Washington and Jefferson, West Virginia university, and Western university, with but twelve men, and making but one solitary substitution. This speaks well for the condition and training of the men. Light practice was indulged in this afternoon, consisting mostly of signal drill. The men were told of the defects which appeared in Saturday's game, as well as their good points. The scrubs were given some new formations which will be tried against the varsity tomorrow. Everhart and Clark, the two big linesmen who have been out of the game for some time, will appear in the lineup tomorrow, and the team will then settle down to a good hard week's practice in preparation for the game with Allegheny college at Meadville Saturday.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—In a ten-minute period of play today, Harvard's varsity eleven scored its third touchdown of the season against the scrubs. The best work of the afternoon was done by Channing, a new halfback, whom Coach Brown recently brought up from the second squad. Channing made two 20-yard end runs and punted an average of 50 yards. Starr, who has been laid up with a weak leg for some time, took his old place at quarter on the varsity and infused new life into the team. Cavanee, the big law school student, played against Brill in the scrimmage and opened up some magnificent holes. Blagden, right tackle on Dave Campbell's team, played on the scrub, as did also Coach Kernan.

Pittsburgh Horse Wins the Second Heat in the Unfinished 2:16 Trot.

JIM FENTON IN HARD LUCK

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 9.—The feature of the sixth day of the Kentucky Breeders' association meeting was the trotting of the Walnut Hill farm cup, $3,000 guaranteed, by Lu V. Harkness. It took four heats to decide the event, Turley winning from Glenwood M., the favorite. In the first heat the stake record of 2:07¾, made by Billy Buck in 1903, was equalled by Turley. In the second heat, Glenwood M. clipped a half second from the record. Fast time characterized every heat and the finishes were close.

In the 2:16 trot, Boreazella, the heavily played favorite, was able to take only the second heat. The first went to Pat T., and the third and fourth to The President. The race will be concluded on Tuesday. Summary:

WOMEN'S TOURNEY STARTS.

Field of Seventy Contestants Play Qualifying Round for the National Golf Championship.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—With weather conditions favorable for good golding, the tenth annual women's championship tournament of the United States Golf association began today with a qualifying round of 36 holes medal play. There were 70 players entered, and 65 took part in the preliminary round. Just nine years ago this event was inaugurated on the links of the Morris County Golf club, New Jersey. Since then the links have been improved so as to make them more difficult. The playing distance is about 3,800 yards, and today's test of the ability of the aspirants for championship honors was a good one.

Two players of note, Miss Georgianna Bishop of Bridgeport, Conn., who won the national title last year, and Mrs. C. T. Stout, Apawamis, N. Y., who had won the title twice in succession, as Miss Genevieve Hecker, were among the competitors today. Miss Bishop turned in a card of 87 for the course, which is a new record on these links for a woman, while Mrs. Stout took 90. Miss Margaret Curtis of Essex county, Mass., tied Miss Bishop for medal play honor with another 87, and Miss Adita E. Phipps of Springfield, Mass., Miss M. W. Phelps, Brookline, Mass., and Miss F. L. Vanderhoef, Ardsley club, N. Y., tied with scores of 90, 91, 91, respectively.

At the close of the preliminary round it was found that 33 players with scores of 104 and under had turned in cards, and as four of them had tied for the last three places on the eligible list for the principal prize, they had to play off. Miss F. C. Griscom, Philadelphia, and Miss E. W. Allen, and Miss M. C. Dutton, both of the Oakley club, Boston, Mass., got into the first division, Mrs. W. Fellowes Morgan of Baltusrol, the other one of the quartet being forced into the second division when the tie was played off, the decision being made on the first hole.

Following is the list of qualifying players with their scores:

SOCIETY TURNS TO SEWICKLEY

Equine Aristocrats the Magnet Which Now Attracts Attention of Smart Set.

COMPETITION WILL BE KEEN

Sewickley Heights will be the mecca today of all who love a horse, for it opens the Sewickley Heights Horse Show association's three days' open air exhibition on the grounds of the Allegheny Country club. With good weather the event will be a notable one. Added to the brilliancy of the event itself, marked social gaiety will be an attendant feature of horse show week.

Aside from the show quality appearing in trap and saddle bidding for honors in the ring, the Madison square of Sewickley Heights will be the rendezvous of the smartest and most up-to-date thing in trap, turnout and vehicle of quieter elegance. Fashion in equipage will be as much in evidence in the parking spaces about the ring as in the ring itself. From this vehicle gallery and from the boxes in the grandstand society will do homage for three days to the horse of fashion.

It is doubtful if ever before in Pittsburgh any event of similar nature approached in spectacular brilliancy that of the Sewickley Heights show. The scene will be most spirited, and a moving picture of taste and beauty in turnout. While the equine aristocrats are being put through their paces in the ring there will be concerts every afternoon.

Show Starts With Juveniles.

The short days necessitate an early start. Morning trains from the city will carry patrons of the show, but the special horse show train leaving Union station at 11:20 a. m. will be the one carrying the big horse show crowd. It will only stop at Allegheny on the way. The first class will be called into the ring at 11:30 and the last class of the day at 5 p. m.

The juveniles will start the show with a class for ponies in harness, to be followed by saddle ponies. Under the saddle Miss Madeline Horne will try to beat Livingston Rogers' Duerdye, Henry Oliver Rea's Don, and B. F. Jones II.'s Captain Jinks.

Competition will get keen when the pair horse class, 14.1 hands to 15.2 get into the ring. It will bring W. W. Willock's bay pair, Drexel and Oakwood, recently purchased, against outside aspirants. Grand View farm of Lancaster has two strings to its bow and will go after them with two chestnut pairs, Lord of the Vale and Lady of Quality, hitched together, and Francois paired with Jeannette. Mr. Willock will also try with the brown, Fritz, and the chestnut, Heacham Prince. H. P. Bope will make his initial attempt with the grays, Luck and Pluck. W. P. Snyder will have something to say with Wilpen Maid and Wilpen Lad, as well as Mrs. J. D. Callery with the bays, Little Star and Little Rocket, and J. G. Bennett with Sunny Jim and Swifty Russell.

Field of 24 Jumpers.

An almost unwieldly field of 24 will be put over the sticks. They are Outpost, E. L. Kearns; Gentleman John, David M. Smith; Gladstone, Harkaway, Willie's Darling and Glenmore, F. M. Lowry; Woodlack, Pittsburgh Country club; Pole Fuller, D. H. Collins; Silver Tail, Percy E. Donner; Pendennis, Miss Edith Flinn; Redfellow, Miss Mary Flinn; Bob, Mrs. J. V. Thompson; Boston, William Thaw; Jeffries, Walter Lyon; Boer Hunter and Rapidan, E. M. Byers; Judge Morrow, J. Wilson Porter, Jr.; Searchlight and Kildare, D. C. Byers; Bloomington and Jim Crowe, F. S. Hussey; Lucania and Empress, H. L. Collins, and Lord Zetland, George A. Harwood.

The fourth class shown will be pair of town horses, 15.2 and over, shown to victoria or other suitable vehicle. The entries are: Vanity and Venture, B. F. Jones, Jr.; Peacock and Woodcock, W. P. Snyder; Bob and Dewey, Mrs. B. F. Jones; Troubadour and Twiller, Mrs. A. M. Byers; Sewickley and either Look at Me or Duke, H. P. Bope; pair by Henry R. Rea; Diamond Jubilee and Lady Curzon, F. M. Lowry, and Don and Actress, James H. Childs.

The saddle horse class will bring together Daisy, Ralph Holden Binns, Jr.; Pronto, Miss Katharine French Kaufman; Peleth, A. R. Hamilton; Sunday, Grand View farm; Sis, W. P. Snyder, and Lady Jane, James H. Childs.

Interesting Tandem Competition.

The tandem class will afford an interesting competition. The entries are: Bobby and Don, Henry Oliver Rea; Luck and Pluck, H. P. Bope; Wilpen Maid and Wilpen Lad, W. P. Snyder; Fritz and Heacham Prince, W. W. Willock, and Francois and Jeannette, Grand View farm.

The class for saddle horses has brought in competition: Billy Boy and Black Diamond, Allan J. Coleman; Ina, Walter Lyon; Boston, William Thaw; Kentucky, Mrs. J. V. Thompson; Pompey, A. R. Hamilton; Blue Boy, Mrs. H. R. Rea; Musette, Henry T. Irwin, and Plateos, W. P. Snyder.

Pair horse class over 15.2 in harness, has an entry of 12. They are: Peanut and Primrose, Durbin Horne; Bob and Dewey, Mrs. B. F. Jones; Lady Algy and mate, Mrs. W. W. Willock; pair by W. W. Willock; Lightfoot and Ladybird, H. R. Rea; Troubadour and Twiller, Mrs. A. M. Byers; Captain Jinks and King Dodo, W. D. Henry; Bit and Spur, also Vanity and Venture, B. F. Jones, Jr.; Athos and Porthos, Mrs. J. V. Thompson; Brown Beau and Senator, Grand View farm, and Rollicking Girl and Captain Jinks, James H. Childs.

Perhaps the best class of the day, certainly the most spectacular, will be the four-in-hand, showing road fours. Those who will show are: Henry R. Rea, W. D. Henry, Pittsburgh Country club, A. R. Hamilton, W. P. Snyder, F. M. Lowry and the Grand View farm.

Busy Event for Judges.

The horse and runabout class will be one of the warmest of the afternoon, and the judges will have their work cut out for them. The entries are: Spur, Folly, B. F. Jones, Jr.; Oakwood, W. W. Willock; Heacham Prince, Mrs. W. W. Willock; Corling, F. M. Lowry; Wilpen Maid, Wilpen Lad, W. P. Snyder; Jerome Berry, A. R. Hamilton; Florodora, Hermon Griffin; Dalphene, Irvington farm; Rose, A. Flinn, Acteon, Mrs. A. M. Byers; Pluck, H. P. Bope; King of the Vale, Grand View farm; Prince, R. M. Gulick; Edna, J. D. Callery; Wild Rose, Actress and Lady Jane, James H. Childs, and Sunny Jim, J. G. Bennett.

The program for the day will conclude with the sporting tandem class. The entries will be first judges as a tandem and then the leader is to be saddled and shown over four jumps. The entries are: Peacock and Woodcock, W. P. Snyder; Diamond Jubilee and Harkaway, F. M. Lowry; Soda and Volley, Pittsburgh Country club; Count and Bob, Mrs. J. V. Thompson; Boston and Lady Curzon, William Thaw and F. M. Lowry, and Empress and Derby, Henry L. Collins.

Capt. Walter Orbin announces his lineup as follows: Cargo, ss.; Miller, 2b; Orbin, lf.; Calhoun, 1b; Lobert, 3b; Campbell, rf.; Sellers, cf.; Piper, c.; Moren, p. The game will be played, rain or shine.

RECORD SHOOT AT PITTSBURGH

Of 57 Entries 45 Went Through the Whole Day's Program Last Week.

LEW FLEMING IS PLEASED

In a conversation yesterday with L. B. Fleming, the local trap shot, who managed the big target tournament given last Wednesday and Thursday by the Herron Hill Gun club, he stated that the shoot was probably the best and most satisfactory ever held in this vicinity, excepting, of course, the state shoot held by the Herron Hill Gun club in May, which was by long odds the best state tournament ever held in the United States. Mr. Fleming said: "While the attendance at our shoot last week was no larger than at one or two others I have managed here, there were more who shot through the entire program in proportion to the number of entries than I have ever seen before. Of the 57 shooters who faced the traps 45 of them shot through the program of 100 shots. The reason of this, of course, was our liberal offer to pay back every contestant who failed to win his entrance the entire amount he lost, deducting only the cost of his targets. While a number of the poor shots made heavy inroads on our surplus, we carried out our guarantee and managed to come out exactly even.

"Some idea may be gained from the following figures: The 13 men who failed to win their entrance drew altogether but $329.65, at a cost of $780 entrance. The 10 low guns drew but $196.55, an average of $19.65 each man's winnings, at a cost of $40 entrance. It might be supposed that at a shoot of this kind, where no money was added to each event, that the good shots could win little or nothing, no matter how well they performed. Such, however, is not the case, as those who shot 90 per cent or better were fairly well rewarded for their skill. G. E. Kelly won the most cash, which was $44.70 over his entrance. L. E. Mallory, Jr., came next, with $39 50; J. Martin, $38 90; J. T. Atkinson, $24.60, and C. C. Smith, $17 75.

"Our shoot was attended by nine representatives of gun and ammunition firms, a number seldom equaled outside the largest tournaments, and shows that our plan of giving the entire profits to the shooters was highly appreciated. During the two days we trapped over 20,000 targets."

Concluding, Mr. Fleming said: "It is a simple matter to draw a large crowd of shooters to a tournament if you offer them a good program. The great trouble with most clubs is that they try to see how much money they can make when holding a shoot. Subscriptions are solicited from local firms, and every gun and ammunition firm in the country is tackled for an 'ad.' in the program. Of the money thus realized a few paltry dollars are offered as a sort of bait to draw the shooters, who will come and pay the club 2 cents each for targets which cost about ½ cent. The shooters are rapidly becoming educated to this sort of thing, which accounts for the small attendance at many tournaments. Give the entire profits of your shoots to the contestants and the sport of trap shooting will flourish as it never has before."

HOT FIGHT PROMISED BY OPPOSING FACTIONS

Eyre Machine and Its Enemies in Hard Legal Struggle for Place on Ticket Next Friday.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WEST CHESTER, PA., Oct. 9.—The legal battle to determine whether the Eyre ticket or the ticket made by the independent Republicans or either of them shall go into the Republican column on the ballot, will be fought next Friday. This decision was reached this morning after a conference of the judges and counsel. The new faction will be represented by ex-Attorney General Wayne McVeagh and C. Wesley Talbot. Followers of the Eyre organization will have the services of Alfred P. Reid and Thomas W. Pierce. That the legal contest will attract much attention is beyond doubt. It has been discussed for weeks all over the country.

The new Republicans are taking no chances, and in order to be absolutely certain of a place on the ballot, are preparing nomination papers. These are being signed and will in a few days be filed with the commissioners.

In these papers the men who are opposed to and fighting the Eyre machine have chosen the name, "People's party."

BUSINESS MEN ORGANIZE.

There are 60 members and the association will be a factor in the affairs of the borough henceforth. Meetings will be held every two weeks for some time, when monthly meetings will be called.

Tariff Revision Is Favored.

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—At the annual meeting held here today of the Boston Associated Board of Trade, composed of 23 constituent trade bodies, a stand was taken in favor of tariff revision. A resolution was adopted unanimously asking that congress at its coming session consider the question of reducing rates of duty on certain articles. The board recommended that a number of raw materials, such as coal, iron, lumber and hides be placed on the free list.

Holds Law to Be Defective.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—The superior court today decided that the law passed by the legislature providing for the destruction of wildcats, foxes and minks in Pennsylvania is ineffective. The court holds that the title of the bill is defective and that there is nothing in the act to show who would pay the bounties. The case came before the court from Sullivan county and was a test. The Sullivan court is reversed by the decision.

Etna Loses a Good Councilman.

At the meeting of the Etna borough council last night, the resignation of Councilman Charles C. Henderson was accepted. Mr. Henderson has been a member of the council for six years, and has also served as burgess of the town for four years. He was for many years manager and superintendent of the Spang, Chalfant & Co. mills in Etna, and is about to change his residence from the latter town to Aspinwall.

Sharpsburg Council Receives Petition.

At a meeting of the Sharpsburg council last night, two petitions which were drawn up at the indignation meeting held last Wednesday evening by citizens opposing the granting of the franchise to the Pennsylvania railroad, giving a right of way along the river front, were accepted by council and will be considered by that body.

PRESIDENT CONFERS WITH THE FOOTBALL COACHES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—President Roosevelt entertained at luncheon today Dr. D. H. Nichols and W. T. Reid of Harvard; Arthur T. Hilderbrand and John B. Fine of Princeton, and Walter Camp and Mr. Owsley of Yale. The six guests of the President constitute the athletic advisers of the respective colleges named. The President desired to consider with them particularly the morale of the game of football with a view to eliminate much of its brutality if possible.

A general discussion of college athletics was had, but the talk centered around the game of football. It is hoped by the President that with the co-operation of the college authorities and the athletic advisers the rules of the game may be so amended as practically to do away with much of the brutality which makes the game objectionable to many people.

It is understood that no definite conclusions were reached. Indeed, none was expected, the idea of the President being simply to start the ball rolling in the direction of a modification of the rules of the game.

Too Much Worry.

Worry kills more people than disease. It turns our hair gray; draws wrinkles on our face, places lines of care on our brow. We worry because we have too much to do. We worry because we have nothing to do. We worry about our friends. Make our friends wonder at our impatient and irritable nature, and if we don't take the trouble to learn the great secret we will worry ourselves into the grave. Worry is caused by a diseased stomach. Lactonene Dyspepsia Tablets cure it. Get them today. A contented mind is surely yours—the greatest blessing man or woman can have. "Ask the Druggist."

REAL REFORM RESTS WITH THE REPUBLICAN PARTY

Charges Against Philadelphia Organization Reviewed by Dr. Joseph S. Neff—Opening Gun of the Campaign.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—The opening gun of the Republican campaign was fired tonight in the Twentieth ward, of which David H. Lane is the veteran leader. It was preceded by a parade in which bands and red fire played their part. Addresses were made by Dr. Joseph S. Neff, candidate for sheriff, and the other candidates. Dr. Neff talked very conservatively and created a good impression. He said all were agreed that in the past there had been sins of commission and omission, and that the only question now at issue was to whom the people shall look for betterment in municipal affairs. He believed that as a majority of the citizens of Philadelphia are Republicans they should look to the Republican party for such relief as required. From no other source could it be had, he said, and the man who is sincere in his desire for reform must look to those who have it in their power to give it. The Republican organization, he said, is pledged to legislative and municipal reforms, and the best guarantee of their fulfillment rests in the certainty that unless they are granted the organization cannot continue its supremacy.

Other speakers answered the charges made by the Weaver-Wanamaker-Gordon leaders. It was emphasized that of all the countless charges made against the Republican organization of Philadelphia, not a single one has been proved. Two men have been indicted, but that is not conviction, it was urged, and the people were asked to suspend judgment until those charged with crime have presented their defense. The filtration matter was exhaustively discussed and a demand made that Mayor Weaver make public the report of his experts.

Capt. James M. Clark of New Castle is now on Chairman Andrews' staff at Republican state headquarters. For several campaigns Mr. Clark has been first assistant handshaker and he is quite successful.

Lieut.-Gov. William M. Brown, H. B. Oursler of Pittsburgh, Representative E. H. Hohman of Johnstown, were the western visitors today at headquarters.

There was a mad dog scare yesterday in Millvale, caused by a stray mongrel with symptoms of rabies attacking and biting at least a dozen dogs in the borough. The brute started to fight with every dog he came across and snapped at people along the street. In the afternoon a number of residents went out with guns and the dog was shot by C. H. Shouey, a railroad engineer.

ARRESTED IN COURT ON BRIBERY CHARGE

New York Attorney Figures in Sensational Episode in Philadelphia.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—In the midst of the selection of a jury in the trial of Stanley Francis, in the United States district court today, a sensational turn was given the case by the arrest in the court room of a New York attorney on the charge of attempting to bribe two young women who are witnesses for the government.

William C. Byram, whose home is in Bradley Beach, N. J., is the man in custody. While watching the proceedings as a spectator he was placed under arrest by Postal Inspectors Cortelyou and Ryan and led from the court room. He made no protest, and so quietly did the inspectors do their work that even Judge Holland did not know of the arrest until court adjourned for the noon recess.

Byram was arraigned late this afternoon before a United States commissioner. He is not connected with the trial as counsel and is not known in Philadelphia.

The young women said to have been approached by the attorney are Miss Margaret Hoke and Miss Gertrude Sundheim. Both were employes of the defunct Storey Cotton Company, of which Francis is alleged to have been a promoter. Miss Hoke was chief stenographer for the concern and Miss Sundheim chief bookkeeper.

BUDAPEST IS PREPARING FOR TURBULENT SITTING

Hungarian Parliament's Meeting Expected to Be Prolific of Iolent Disturbances—Students Get Busy.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, Oct. 9.—When parliament reassembles tomorrow it will face a situation of the greatest confusion. The compromise program which the coalition leaders requested Herr von Szogyenyi-Marich, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Berlin (at present on his estate at Csor, Hungary) to submit to the king-emperor, has seemingly proved a failure, as his majesty has not yet indicated any intention to receive the ambassador for this purpose.

Great numbers of students will proceed to the parliament buildings tomorrow, all wearing mourning and carrying a black coffin inscribed "The constitution has expired."

All possible steps have been taken to secure order during the sitting. The coalition leaders will protest against permanent adjournment, but will respect the king-emperor's message.

No serious street disorders are feared.

MOLTON STILL DRAWS.

Though Auditorium Is Larger Audience Still Overflows.

An audience of over 1,000 persons filled the auditorium of the First United Presbyterian church last night, filling the aisles and occupying all available standing room, to hear Dr. Richard G. Molton deliver the second of his series of University Extension lectures on "Studies in Shakespeare's Tragedies."

At the first lecture, last week in the Conservatory of Music hall, in Dithridge street, the audience overtaxed the capacity of that place and the management had to have recourse to the church. The indications are that it will prove of too small seating capacity for the third lecture.

The title of last evening's lecture was "Macbeth—A Study in Character Degeneration," and for an hour and a half the lecturer held the closest attention of his hearers, while he described the gradual development of evil in the mind of Macbeth.

SEARCH FOR A YOUNG PRINCETON STUDENT

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Percy Kutirof of New York city is missing. He is a member of the class of 1908. He left his home on September 18, and told his family that he was going to return to college, which opened on the 20th. He reached Princeton and was seen around here for about a week, although he failed to register at the university office. Last Thursday his brother became alarmed at not hearing and came down to see what was the matter. He failed to locate the young man or to find any clue to his whereabouts.

Expect New Pastor Today.

The Rev. George N. Spencer, the new pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, McKeesport, together with his family, will arrive in McKeesport today from Milwaukee. The Rev. Spencer will conduct the prayer meeting services in the McKeesport church tomorrow night, but no formal reception has been arranged for him.

"BUCK" WALLACE SERVES TIME IN OHIO PRISON

Stark County Records Show He Was Twice Sentenced for Violating Liquor Laws.

The records of the Stark county (O.) courts show that Alexander Wallace, superintendent of the Pittsburgh bureau of police, has served a term in the workhouse of that county for the violation of the liquor laws. For a subsequent offense he was fined and placed under a bond of $1,000 to abstain from this species of lawbreaking.

The Chronicle Telegraph has searched the court records of Stark county in order to ascertain something of the character of "Buck" Wallace whilst he kept a saloon in the city of Canton. Wallace appears twice on the criminal records.

The facts were ascertained from the common pleas court docket No. 3, page 1,690, May term, 1897. That Wallace was indicted for selling liquor on Sunday, May 2, 1897. Wallace first entered a plea of not guilty and gave bail for court. On May 14 he withdrew his former plea and admitted his guilt. The court sentenced him to serve 10 days at labor in the Stark county workhouse, pay a fine of $10 and the costs of prosecution, amounting to $17 70. He was committed to prison on May 14, 1897, and was discharged May 25, 1897. His number at the workhouse was 1,727.

Common pleas court docket No. 4, page No. 1,910, of the May term, 1901, of Stark county, shows Wallace was indicted for selling liquor illegally from March 24, 1901, to May 4, 1901. He entered a plea of guilty and the court sentenced him on May 21, 1901, to pay a fine of $50, the costs of prosecution, and ordered him to give a bond for $1,000 conditioned that he would not sell liquor in Stark county in violation of the law. On May 22, 1901, the bond was given.

Relief Association Organized.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—A new relief association has been formed in the American steel hoop plants here of the Carnegie Steel Company. The old association went out of existence when the strike started last year, and the new one is formed along the same lines. The election of officers will be held Saturday night.

INJUNCTION ISSUED

Court Order Which Applies to Several Guilty Firms.

Common pleas court No. 2 has issued an injunction restraining several firms of this city from the use of the word "CARTER" in all shoes and shoe advertisements. The court has decided that the Griswold Shoe Company of 217 Smithfield street, is the only concern in Pittsburgh or Allegheny legally entitled to sell or advertise Carter shoes.

The writer called upon the Griswold Shoe Company to learn more about the court order. The manager of the establishment talked freely on the subject, and said that the move to restrain competitors from infringing upon the company's rights was rendered necessary by the persistent efforts of certain firms to mislead the public. Continuing, he said:

"The Griswold Shoe Company has the exclusive agency for the sale of the CARTER SHOE in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. We control this shoe in this section absolutely, and no other firm has any right to use the name 'Carter' in any way for the sale of shoes. Certain firms have tried to get business on the reputation of our shoe by using some other word in connection with 'Carter.' One or two of these firms have placed shoes in their windows with some such combination of words to catch the unwary passerby. However, all such methods have received our attention, and it is our determination to prosecute to the limit of the law every firm that in any way infringes upon our rights.

"You can easily understand," the manager went on to say, "how very unfair it is for one firm to try to steal the business of another by such contemptible methods as those I have referred to. We are only maintaining our rights in taking the matter to court, and we are very glad that the court has so readily sustained us by issuing an injunction restraining the guilty firms from the use of the name 'Carter' in the shoe business.

"This whole thing has been brought about by the simple fact that the CARTER shoe everywhere is conceded to be the best shoe for men in all the world. It is known as the 'shoe for tender feet,' and, of course, there are many imitators. Imitations are bad enough, but when it comes to firms deliberately stealing the name, we are obliged to call a halt, and hereby serve notice that any others who may undertake to misappropriate the name 'Carter' will be dealt with according to law.

"We know that the public is with us in this matter, for numerous customers have told us of the imposition practiced upon them by firms that led them to believe they were selling the genuine CARTER shoe, which is to be had only at this store, 217 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh."

THE WINNING STROKE

If more than ordinary skill in playing brings the honors of the game to the winning player, so exceptional merit in a remedy ensures the commendation of the well informed, and as a reasonable amount of outdoor life and recreation is conducive to the health and strength, so does a perfect laxative tend to one's improvement in cases of constipation, biliousness, headaches, etc. It is all important, however, in selecting a laxative, to choose one of known quality and excellence, like the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., a laxative which sweetens and cleanses the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after effects, as it acts naturally and gently on the internal organs, simply assisting nature when nature needs assistance, without griping, irritating or debilitating the internal organs in any way, as it contains nothing of an objectionable or injurious nature. As the plants which are combined with the figs in the manufacture of Syrup of Figs are known to physicians to act most

AN EVENING WITH PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Two Holdovers in Local Theaters—Drama, Burlesque and Vaudeville in Plenty.

LARGE AUDIENCES THE RULE

Novelties in the theaters are this week confined to the popular priced field. Miss Mabel McKinley makes her Pittsburgh debut in a melodrama garnished with some of that singer's favorite songs. Vaudeville has fine representation and burlesque continues popular. The plays that remain received increased attention from the public and an old melodrama made new was revealed out at the Empire. The opinions of the various Gazette reviewers are embodied in the following articles:

Alvin—Miss Mabel McKinley.

In preparing "The Parson's Wife" its author, who modestly and wisely keeps his name off of the program, had only the fact that Miss Mabel McKinley has a fine stage voice and had pleased vaudeville patrons in songs of her own and classic composition. In the rural melodrama, of which the singer is now the star, there is only Miss McKinley and her songs, including "Anona" and several new ones. A church setting is given the first song and the spot-light gave an effective scenic quality to a religious song that Miss McKinley sang with much success. The movement of the play transfers the star to a roof garden in New York, where she again sang to the delight of the audience, which insisted upon a half dozen encores and sent some beautiful roses over the footlights to the singer.

The play is an exceedingly tame affair, and succeeds only in spoiling an excellent vaudeville number, for Miss McKinley is first of all a singing artist; not an actress. The first act is laid in Virginia, though so far as atmosphere is concerned it might just as well have been laid anywhere else. The story concerns the struggles of a young choir singer, whose father's debts must be paid in order to appease a villain who wants to marry her. Incidentally, the clergyman of the village church is in love with the heroine and wants to marry her, despite the fact that the stage manager clothes him in the robes of a Roman priest in the second act. Her brother is enticed to New York by the villain and arrested. Thither the entire company goes and the tangle is finally and happily straightened out and the heroine becomes the parson's wife in the end.

The company supporting Miss McKinley is by no means a strong one. In her own work the fair singer is both sincere and earnest, and her singing is certainly a popular and praiseworthy feature of the performance.

Belasco—"The Girl of the Golden West."

Rarely has a play of modern authorship, dealing with such simple facts of life and set in so familiar historical environment, received such immediate and unqualified approval as this western play of the days of '49. Mr. Belasco has made important excisions here and there in both the business and the dialogue, so that the play now runs to 11:30 p. m. only. The incident of receiving the finery from Sacramento by the "Girl" and her subsequent adornment of herself in her cabin have been eliminated and the dialogue changed in places, though nowhere weakening the lines. "The Girl of the Golden West" has its critics, but, taken all in all it is a play of strong and virile character. Added to this is the wonderful stage craft of its author. In stage effectiveness, in the use and distribution of properties, in giving to even the most commonplace incidents a vivid meaning and in reproducing the life and times of the period, this Belasco play is one of the most interesting things the stage has seen for a long time. The second week began last night with another immense audience, and the work of Miss Bates, Mr. Keenan, Mr. Cope, Mr. Bennino, Mr. Hilliard, Miss Sterling, Mr. Sawtelle, Mr. Deshon and Mr. McGrane was given enthusiastic applause. Mr. Belasco is exceedingly fortunate in his cast, for to the players must go a large share of credit for the realism and effectiveness of his play.

Nixon—"Humpty Dumpty."

This big English pantomime entered upon its second and last week last night and is naturally running much more smoothly than at first. "Humpty Dumpty" is by far the biggest and most perfect realization of the old-time pantomime that we have ever had, though it is less the farcical comedy show that some of its predecessors have been and for that reason, perhaps, possesses less vital interest. In its gorgeous pictures, clever acrobatics and aerial ballets it is a pleasing entertainment. Frank Moulan continues to sing his famous song, "Men," and give women the benefit of his monologue advice. Maud Lillian Berri, Diamond Donner, the Schrode brothers, J. C. Smith, John McVeigh and Nellie Daly are admirable factors in the comedy, singing and acrobatics.

Grand—Agoust Family and Vaudeville.

If all the guests in all restaurants would juggle the dishes, bouquets, lamps, buns and things as dexterously as the Agoust family at the Grand this week—well, Diamond alley at noon would look like the simultaneous performance of the third act of all the melodramas in existence. Nothing in the line of novelty juggling specialties approaches that of the Agousts. The scene depicts a Parisian restaurant with the table laid for a supper of three. Besides the trio of guests are the waiter and head waiter. Everything in the room is thoroughly "juggled." The act is bright and clean. The Agousts head a good bill this week. Kit Carson, the crack shot from the slackwire, was yesterday rewarded with a "supper turn," but his work caused amazement among the comparatively few people left in the house, and it is probable that he will get a better place on the program. Eleanor Falk, the delightful singing comedienne, has some new songs, and sings them with her characteristic vivacious spirit. She has one French little song, with a dance to it, that is better than the others, and her success in this starts people to wondering why she does not give more attention to this class of work. Blocksom and Burns have some new things and some that are old, but all are funny in the line of travesty acrobatic feats. The Williams and Walker Glee club, a colored male chorus, makes a hit. Lee Harrison, a man who has had boundless opportunities in vaudeville and out of it, does a monologue that falls flat. The comedy skit of Dixon and Anger has about equal merit. The other numbers are above par. These are Silvano in equilibristic feats; Eva Westcott and company in a little one-act comedy, written by Miss Westcott; Gorman and West, Finlay and Burke and several other acts. Proof of the popularity of the Grand's bill is shown in the large size of the audiences, which even yesterday afternoon filled the house.

Empire—"Hearts of Gold."

A melodrama of more than ordinary interest is "Hearts of Gold," which opened a week's engagement at the Empire last night. Its plot is unique—a beautiful girl falling passionately in love with a southern planter who she soon learns is her own brother from whom she was separated in infancy—and gives abundant opportunity for stirring scenes. Interwoven with this love story, weird and pathetic by turns, are chapters of action that bring out powerfully the strong points in southern character and phases of life that are seldom staged. Treachery and crime are made to add largely to the plot interest, but are not so prominent as to appeal to the maudlin sentiments of the patron of cheap and lurid melodrama. The play is clean in tone and presentation. Its humor is often contagious, especially when directed by Theodore W. Cameron, the ambitious young sheriff. A good cast led perhaps by Claudia Lucas, the betrothed sister, was well received last night and the scenery is much better than is usually seen at the up-town theater.

Gayety—"Blue Ribbon Girls."

A sensational horizontal bar swinging act is the feature of an olio at the Gayety this week that is in need of a strong act to make it even tolerable. This act is the Four Londons and it possesses some really dazzling features. The recklessness and grace with which four men perform daring feats in mid-air is unusual even for this day of sensational acrobatics. The two burlesques which the "Blue Ribbon Girls" present are notable only for the reason that they have larger choruses and prettier costumes than the average. They are not burlesques, but farces of a mediocre kind, though played with much ginger by James C. Morton, Carl Cunningham, Perry Ryan, Lulu Ryan, Stella Gilmore and a large company of assistants in the closing piece. Manager Orr is carefully superintending these farces and has occasion to use his blue pencil very frequently. The olio contained acts by Gilday and Fox, the Sidonians, the Austins, and others. The Four Londons constitute the star act and deserve the applause they received.

Bijou—The Rays.

Very large audiences greeted these favorite farceurs at the Bijou yesterday. "Johnny" is still the janitor of a flat in "Down the Pike," and furnishes fun as of yore for his admirers. New songs have been introduced and there is a chorus of pretty girls well costumed. An effective song hit is "Fare Thee Well, Annabell," sung by John T. Thomas and a military chorus, the finale of which is a travesty by Johnny Ray on the President. "Texas Dan" is another song number which makes it possible to hear that by no means distinguished ballad in two Pittsburgh theaters at the same time, it being one of Miss Berri's numbers in "Humpty Dumpty" at the Nixon.

Johnny Ray is in himself a sort of Simian classic. His janitor is based on facial and physical contortions that are extremely ludicrous and are doubtless the most amusing low comedy of its kind. His wife is a valued aid, and "Down the Pike" is the sort of entertainment that will make you laugh through sheer force of its broad farce. The song and chorus trimmings give a refinement to the piece that it needs.

Academy—Merry Maidens Company.

For fun of the boisterous kind the Merry Maidens Company stands close to the head of the burlesque class, and two big audiences, of the kind that enjoy that sort of humor, taxed the capacity of the Academy yesterday afternoon and last night. Sam Rice is the moving spirit of the company, having written the lines and originated most of the comedy business of the burlesque and appears as Moses Conghupski, the head fummaker. The piece is called "The Maiden and the Mule," and is pretty much the usual ensemble of girls in tights, late musical numbers and general nonsense by the comedians. The specialties caught the fancy of the audience to more than the usual degree, and included Patti Carney with several new coon songs, and Bangham and Gable in a good musical act in which one member performs the feat of playing two cornets at the same time. The Bans did so well that they received four encores and Ferrell brothers performed in a bicycle act which is funny as well as clever.

Robert Edeson in "Strongheart."

The theatrical season so far, which has been mostly made up of musical comedies and extravaganzas, will give way at the Nixon to a comedy drama on next Monday evening when Robert Edeson will present his college play, "Strongheart," by William C. DeMille. College boys are certain to recognize many familiar types. It was the most talked-of play in either Boston or New York last season, and Pittsburgh will be the first place outside these cities in which the play will be presented.

Yorke and Adams Coming.

"Bankers and Brokers," which is the title of the new musical comedy which B. E. Forrester will present at the Alvin next week, is said to be full of fun. Unlike most musical comedies it has a tangible plot and this plot is, in the main, responsible for the many ludicrous mishaps and complications that round out five hours and a half of merriment. The organization is headed by Yorke and Adams, surrounded by a company of funmakers second only to themselves.

Belasco Prices Will Not Be Raised.

The general impression that the prices for the "Babes in the Wood" engagement would be raised to $2, which begins next week, is not so. The attraction has charged $2 in other cities, but here in Pittsburgh the regular prices will prevail, even to the popular Wednesday matinee, when all seats on the lower floor will be $1. The sale of seats for this attraction will be placed on sale Thursday morning.

Mrs. Carter Reappears in Zaza.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Leslie Carter appeared tonight at the Belasco theater in a revival of "Zaza." The play, although familiar to New York theatergoers, through its previous presentation by Mrs. Carter, seemed to have lost none of its interest. Mrs. Carter gave an adequate performance of the name part, which calls for much emotional work.

NAMES DELEGATES.

Gov. Pennypacker Selects Men to Represent State at Prison Congress.

The Rev. Dr. J. L. Milligan, general secretary of the National Prison association, was notified yesterday that Gov. Pennypacker had appointed delegates to represent Pennsylvania at the annual congress of the association to be held in Lincoln, Neb., October 21 to 26.

The delegates named are: David B. Oliver, William J. Diehl, the Rev. Dr. E. R. Donehoo, Jail Warden Edward Lewis and the Rev. E. R. Woodside of Pittsburgh; Dr. O. J. Bennett of Allegheny, and the Rev. D. K. Imbrie and Dr. George Kelley of Hoboken.

THIEVES RANSACK MARION STREET HOUSE IN DAYLIGHT

Thieves broke into the home of Samuel Cooper, 32 Marion street, about 11 o'clock yesterday morning and ransacked the house while Miss Belle Cooper sat on the front steps reading a book. Cooper conducts a furniture store at Fifth avenue and Pride street, and, with his family, was attending the Yom Kippur services at the Washington street synagogue. The thieves cut the screen from the kitchen door and stole $78, holiday presents for the members of the family, broke open dresser drawers and turned over the bed matresses and covers in their search. A lot of clothing had been bundled up and carried to the first floor, but this was not taken. It is said the thieves got diamonds and other jewelry, but the family refused to admit the jewels were stolen.

LIGONIER HOTEL PROPERTY AGAIN CHANGES HANDS

The Ligonier Springs hotel, which for years has been a favorite stopping place for Pittsburghers, was purchased yesterday by G. W. McClure, Son & Co., engineers and contractors of Pittsburgh. The price reported paid for the property, which consists of a hotel, sanitarium, cottages, stables and four acres of land, is $70,000. Less than two weeks ago the property was purchased by ex-Sheriff Lucien Clawson of Greensburg, from the Mellon interests, for $60,000. Mr. McClure was not at home last night and his partner, Joseph B. Pearson, stated he does not know what will be done with the property.

Allegheny Man Is Held Up.

Earl Fagan of 231 Brighton road, Allegheny, was held up by three highwaymen shortly before midnight Sunday, and, while struggling with the trio, was slightly cut on the arm with a knife. Fagan was on his way home, and near the corner of Brighton road and Marshall avenue was set upon and knocked down. His hands were tied behind him, and the robbers were preparing to search his clothes when a car approached. This frightened the thieves away. Fagan reported the affair to the police.

Dynamite Blows Up Bake Oven.

After starting a fire in a bake oven in the yard of her home on the bluff, between Etna and Millvale, yesterday, Mrs. Maggie Rogers entered her home and a terrific explosion followed. Bricks from the oven were hurled through the windows of the house. Mrs. Rogers' husband has made a practice of keeping sticks of dynamite on a shelf in the wood shed and it is thought a stick fell down among the wood and was thrown into the oven.

Hears Report of Attempted Suicide.

It was reported to the South Thirteenth police station that Mrs. Krajezozics of 1118 Carson street had tried to commit suicide by swallowing corrosive sublimate, and that Dr. J. B. Grimes administered antidotes which would probably save her life. The woman's husband owns a clothing store in Carson street.

SOCIETY

A WEEK giving promise of greater gaiety has never before opened for the Sewickley Heights colony. One of the smartest and most delightful of the week's happenings was the barn dance, at which Mr. and Mrs. William Walter Willock were host and hostess, at "Gladmore Farm" last evening. The square coach house was thrown open for dancing, its walls being hung with decorations in the farm colors, yellow and green. Long festoons of the colors were stretched from corner to corner, while over the wall was southern smilax, with here and there a horseshoe of yellow dahlias and smilax, alternated by whips crossed and tied with huge bows of yellow and green ribbon. There were two figures danced just before supper, William J. Patton and J. Denniston Lyon leading. For the first figure the favors were bits, spurs, stirrups and whips, all tied with the horse show colors, red, black and white. Wands, topped with gold horseshoes, hunting flasks, jockey caps and horseshoe-shaped boxes, were distributed in the second. Mrs. Willock being assisted by a number of her friends who did not dance. Supper was served at the house, and here the Gladmore colors were again seen. The banisters were wound with southern smilax, while on the newel post was a huge bow of soft ribbons. Great bowls of yellow chrysanthemums and autumn leaves occupied the tables in the hall, and beyond in the living room were immense jars of American Beauty roses. Small shoes of yellow chrysanthemums and greens dotted the walls of the breakfast room, while on the dining table was a centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums, surrounded by various small horseshoes of the same flowers.

The decorations for the breakfast which Mrs. Willock will give at the club tomorrow morning will be as unique as they are beautiful. A silver coach horn will rise from the center of the table, red dahlias overflowing from it. The entire breakfast will be carried out in the horse show colors. Whips will be stacked here and there about the room and horseshoes of the predominant flowers will figure prominently, while as favors there will be dainty silver trifles, suggestive of the paddock. The place cards are exquisite, hand-painted affairs, representing a beautiful up-to-date girl and a horse, each card giving a different pose of both figures.

Nearly every one of the fashionable homes on Sewickley Heights shelters one or two guests over the horse show. Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Singer are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. William Ross Proctor of the East End; Miss Janet McCook of New York and Miss Louise Wood of Philadelphia are Miss Madeline Laughlin's guests; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Herbert of Lakewood, N. J., are with Mr. and Mrs. William Walter Willock; Mr. and Mrs. James Wood Scully are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hanna of Cleveland, while Mr. and Mrs. James Harold Childs have Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McK. Cook of Allegheny. Mr. and Mrs. Dan R. Hanna of Cleveland, who were to have been guests at "Gladmore Farm," are unable to be present at the show.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert will be the recipients of much social attention during their stay at the Heights. Mrs. Willock gave a small family luncheon for them yesterday, and this was followed at 4 o'clock by a smartly-appointed little tea at which Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., was hostess. Mrs. William Booth Trainer assisted Mrs. Jones. Quantities of autumn flowers from the "Fair Acres" gardens were used to decorate the house. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert were again honor guests in the evening, when Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., gave a dinner at "Franklin Farm." Her guests, 14 in number, were those who have come from out of town to be in attendance at the horse show. The centerpiece was of American Beauty roses.

The calendar of social events for horse show week is a full one. Scheduled for today there is Mrs. Alexander Laughlin's "cold" luncheon before the horse show. Mrs. Willock will be hostess at a breakfast at "Gladmore Farm." Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., will entertain with a dinner at the Allegheny Country club, and the day's gaiety will be concluded with a dance at the club house. Mrs. Willock gives a breakfast at the club tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Hermon Griffin entertain with a dinner at the club and Mr. and Mrs. Willock give a small dinner, while Mr. and Mrs. William P. Snyder fill the evening with a dance. On Thursday Mrs. Herbert will be honor guest at the breakfast which Mrs. Elizabeth M. Horne will give at "Ridgeview," Sewickley Heights. There will also be a dance at the Country club. Mr. and Mrs. William P. Snyder will give a dinner at "Wilpen Hall" on Friday evening, and on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. James Wood Scully will be host and hostess at dinner.

Hoburg-Williams Wedding Plans.

The wedding of Miss Ella Hoburg, daughter of Hugh Hoburg, of West Etna, and Edward R. Williams of Sharpsburg, will be quietly celebrated on Thursday at the residence of the bride. The bridal couple will make their home in Sharpsburg where they will be at home after December 1. Both young people are well-known in the two boroughs, Mr. Williams being vice president of the Joseph Williams Chemical Company, of which his father is president. On Thursday, October 19, the couple will be guests of honor at a large reception to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Williams, parents of the groom, at their home in Sharpsburg.

Luncheon, Rehearsal and Dinner.

The entire bridal party which will attend Miss Alice Thomas and Lieut. William Goff Capels was entertained at luncheon yesterday by Miss Irene Succop of Ellsworth avenue. After the rehearsal for the wedding, which took place in the Point Breeze Presbyterian church last evening, Mrs. Joseph D. Thomas, mother of the bride-elect, gave a dinner for the attendants, the guests also including Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Stone and Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Fickelson. Miss Thomas presented her maids with dainty pearl brooches, and to his best man and ushers Lieut. Capels gave cuff links. The dinner decorations were in red and white dahlias, these being the colors of the engineers' corps in the army.

Miss Moorhouse is a daughter of the late John L. Moorhouse, a former resident of Pittsburgh, and is well known here, where she has visited on several occasions since the family removed to the east.

Colvin-McEwan Wedding Date.

An important date just added to the autumn's social calendar is that set for the wedding of Mrs. Eleanor Fulton Colvin and the Rev. Dr. William L. McEwan, Tuesday, October 17, is the date selected, with 6 o'clock in the evening as the hour for the ceremony. Among the Clubs.

Wonderful Public Baths of Germany.

Mrs. Archibald A. MacLachlan, the new president of the Tourist club, gave a very entertaining talk yesterday about her recent tour of Europe, speaking particularly of the various public institutions which she visited. The wonderful public baths of Germany especially interested her, and these she described yesterday to the Tourist club, telling of the splendid buildings erected and conducted under the government, where there are special baths for officials and for the rich and the poor, the professional and the laboring classes. She commented also upon the neat appearance of the cities and the villages of Germany. Austria and France, where anything offensive to the public eye is removed at night.

Mrs. MacLachlan also visited Oberammergau and saw the miracle play of David, regarded by critics as the strongest of the great miracle plays, and given this year to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the presentation to the city of a statue by King Leopold.

The Tourist club yesterday held its first meeting of the season, which was attended by the presidents of nearly all of the other women's clubs in Pittsburgh. Following the president's address, Mrs. John Cowley gave a complete report of the summer playground work in Allegheny during the past season, Miss Louise Loy telling of the playground in the Tenth ward, which was the special care of the Tourist club. Miss Mary Ure, the chairman of the music committee for the summer playgrounds on the North Side, reported 18 specially arranged programs presented in the different playgrounds during the term of 25 days, the committee giving two programs in each playground.

The music yesterday afternoon was rendered by Miss Ella Stephens and Miss Emma Foltz, vocalists; Miss Ure, pianist; Miss Gertrude Hefferman, violinist, and Miss Nellie Good, accompanist. The rooms in the Business Women's club, where the Tourists met, were decorated with autumn leaves, and after the program Russian tea and cakes were served, the club having elected to study Russia this year. Mrs. John Cowley was elected delegate from the club to the annual meeting of the State federation in Cambridge Springs next week, Mrs. John Pritchard being the alternate.

Commence Study of Japan.

Colloquium met yesterday afternoon in the Pennsylvania College for Women and commenced its season of study. This year the club will take up Japanese history, literature and art, inaugurating the work yesterday with sketches of the mythology and legendary history of the island people. Mrs. Grace W. Warmcastle, the new president, presided at the meeting, and at the brief business session Mrs. A. G. Holmes and Mrs. Charles Felton Scott of Thomas boulevard were authorized to represent the club at the meeting of the state federation in Cambridge Springs next week. The literary program included several interesting papers and discussions. Mrs. Robert Linton spoke of "Mythological Japan and Its Symbolism;" Mrs. William D. Phelan of "The Legend of Amaterasu, or the Sun Goddess," and Miss Sara Ellis of the legend of Urashima, the Japanese Rip Van Winkle. "The Evolution from Old to New Japan, with its New Ideals and New Heroes" was sketched by Miss Jean Palmer; Mrs. Samuel L. Seymour talked of Murasaki Shikibu, the distinguished authoress; Miss Jean Lyons giving the story of Makudsu Kozan, a foremost potter. The roll call, each member present responding with items of interest about Japan, concluded the program. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. John M. Anderson in Fifth avenue, Shadyside.

New Committees Are Appointed.

Mrs. James McCrea is chairman of the committee in charge of the doll booth which, with the college booths, will occupy the large reception room in the Country club on the occasion of the Homeopathic hospital fair October 19 and 20. Mrs. William Watson Smith is vice chairman of the doll committee, which also includes the following women: Mrs. George Westinghouse, Mrs. J. J. Turner, Mrs. George L. Peck, Mrs. A. G. Collins, Mrs. William J. Moorhead, Mrs. Joseph Wood and Mrs. E. M. Ferguson. The doll committee is also arranging for a well out of which the children may draw a bucket filled with paper dollies. The lemonade committee is planning many pretty effects, among them being natural lemon trees from which the lemons may be picked to make the lemonade. Mrs. Harold R. Edwards is chairman of the committee, which also includes Miss Marion Bingaman and Mrs. Thomas K. Gillespie. At the special meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the hospital held yesterday morning, when 150 women were in attendance, it was announced that the dinner at the Country club on the evenings of the fair will not be reserved for the members of the club alone, but will be a feature of the fair itself, and open to all visitors as well as members of the Country club.

Will Correct the Error.

At the regular meeting of the Women's Press Club of Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon, held in the private dining-room in McCreery & Co.'s building, action was taken regarding the error which has appeared in the ballot for the biennial election in the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women. The club's delegate, Mrs. William F. Abel, was authorized to secure during the convention a correction of the error by which a nominee from another club was credited to the Women's Press club. Mrs. John W. Sherrer was elected alternate to take the place of Miss Blanche Craighead, who will be unable to attend the state meeting. A pleasant little incident of the meeting was the election to honorary membership of Mary Isabel Thompson, the infant daughter of Mrs. Joseph J. Thompson, who before her marriage was Miss Mary Applegate. Little Miss Thompson has the honor of being the club baby. The business of the afternoon was followed by the serving of tea. The club will meet hereafter in McCreery's.

Will Erect a Memorial.

Former students of the Pittsburgh Female college propose to erect a memorial to that institution. Just what form it will take has not been decided upon, but the most popular suggestion is the erection of a drinking fountain at Penn avenue and Eighth street, formerly Hancock. A meeting of the former students will be held on Saturday afternoon, October 21, the place to be announced later, when plans for the memorial will be considered. The old college building stood in Eighth street, midway between Penn avenue and Duquesne way, and after its abandonment as a college became the Home for Working Girls. A few months ago it was torn down, and now there is nothing to indicate the location of what was once a prominent educational institution in Pittsburgh. The first graduates were Miss Ada Holstott of Allegheny, and Miss Mary McKee of Birmingham, who graduated in 1857. Among other well-known alumnae are Mrs. Charles O. Scaife, Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, Mrs. Frank P. Necda, Mrs. Henry B. Birch, Miss Nataline Crumpton and Miss Kate C. McKnight.

Presbyterian Missionary Meeting.

The semi-annual meeting of the Allegheny Presbyterian Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church will be held in Emsworth on Thursday, October 12. There will be both morning and afternoon sessions, commencing with a meeting of the executive committee at 9½ o'clock. At the regular morning session, opened by devotional exercises led by Mrs. W. J. Longmore, an address will be made by Mrs. N. L. Wilson, general secretary of young women's work, on "An Open Door." Delegates to the Women's General Missionary society will be elected. In the afternoon reports from the Albany convention will be given by Mrs. John White on foreign missions; Miss Lida Magill, home missions; Mrs. Willard Starr, Indian missions; Mrs. William James, Freedmen's missions; Miss Jennie Grant, junior work; Mrs. J. W. Witherspoon, on the trip. There will also be an address by Mrs. Alice W. McCure of Rawal Pindi, India, followed by the thank offering conference conducted by Miss Anna M. Allen.

Pittsburgh Man for Director.

The Women's Musical club of Wheeling has elected James Stephen Martin of Pittsburgh musical director for the year. Mr. Martin will have charge of the club choral, which is composed of 50 women, well-known singers in Wheeling. The club itself is very large, having a membership of 400, and gives matinee concerts each month, which are among the special musical features of the season in that city.

BISHOP MAKES APPOINTMENTS

Clergymen of the Pittsburgh Conference Are Placed for Ensuing Year.

DR. JOHNSON GOES TO BUTLER

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM JEROME J. NORDMAN, Staff Correspondent.

BEAVER, PA., Oct. 9.—Appointments and disappointments were made public at noon today by Bishop Earl Cranston at the conclusion of the annual session of the Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. Fortunately the disappointments were not many and the surprises fewer, than usually prevail when a bishop makes known his mind regarding appointments. The greatest surprise was the announcement of the appointment of the Rev. D. L. Johnson of Union church, Allegheny, to Butler. The greatest disappointment was the announcement that the Rev. M. H. Lichliter of Verona would go to Jefferson Avenue church, Washington. The Rev. Mr. Lichliter had accepted a call to Olean, N. Y., a very important charge, and the Rev. Oliver Hutchinson of the Genesee conference was to exchange with him. At the 11th hour the New York state man changed his mind and refused to come. A special meeting of the bishop's cabinet was held at 8 o'clock this morning, and it was not until then that the Rev. Mr. Lichliter was definitely placed.

After much deliberation the Rev. Dr. Appleton Bash was reappointed to Beaver and the Rev. H. L. Smith retained in Bellevue. An important transfer was that of the Rev. Dr. C. L. Smith of Rochester to Salem and the Rev. Morris Floyd of that congregation takes Dr. Smith's pulpit.

Other Important Changes.

Other changes of import were as follows: O. H. P. Graham from Wilmerding to Verona, P. C. Brooks from Walton to Wilmerding, R. B. Cuthbert from North End, Allegheny, to Coraopolis, and B. F. Beazell from that place to North End; A. D. Mink to Aspinwall; G. W. Grannis from Grace church, New Brighton, to Walton; C. L. E. Cartwright of Scottdale to the First church, Braddock; E. S. White of Butler to Scottdale, N. H. Holmes to Asbury and E. M. Wood of Asbury to Lemington avenue. The greatest number of changes, proportionately, were made in the Blairsville district, where 17 changes occurred in 51 charges.

The Rev. Dr. R. I. McKee and the Revs. H. H. Household and J. E. Kidney were added to the list of supernumeraries, and the Revs. A. S. Hunter, T. J. Leak, H. L. Chapman, N. P. Kerr and William P. Turner were added to the list of superannuates.

That the age of commercialism has not ignored the religious field was in evidence here today by the establishment of a previously unheard-of procedure. Early this morning the bishop turned over his official list of appointments to a local printing house which wanted to make printed copies. At 11 o'clock this morning, at a time when the bishop and his cabinet had just begun an hour of executive session to finally consider the appointments, the agents of the printing house established themselves in the lobby of the church about a table, with hundreds of printed copies of the appointments. They were cautioned not to distribute the lists until the bishop had first read it officially, and as soon as the bishop had said the last word there was a concentrated rush to get the printed copies—at five cents each—the proceeds of which went to the printers. It has been the custom to give the official list to the Christian Advocate office.

Contribution Is Taken.

During the morning session the Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle suggested that a contribution be taken for the Rev. Dr. William P. Turner, who was compelled to resign the pulpit of the First church, McKeesport, after 15 years in the ministry, because of almost total blindness. Between $400 and $500 was raised in 15 minutes. Announcement was also made that Samuel Hamilton of Pittsburgh had contributed $5,000 to the permanent annuity fund. Accrued interest from the Liberty Street church fund was distributed as follows: Lemington Avenue church, $1,000; Grace chapel, $250; McKees Rocks, $1,000; Brushton, $1,000; Sheraden, $500; Knoxville, $1,000; Brookline, $1,000; Beechwood, $1,000; Ross avenue, $1,000, and North End, $500. Some exception was taken because all the beneficiaries were in the Pittsburgh district, but this was answered by citing the fact that the Liberty Street church fund was a Pittsburgh district organization.

The report of the Woman's Home Missionary society suggested that $2,000 be appropriated to Hope mission and $1,000 to other city missions. This brought Presiding Elder James Mechem to his feet, who asked that the report be recommitted because he had not been consulted. Explanation was made that he could not be found, and he finally gave his consent to the suggestion from the floor.

Tangle in Parliamentary Law.

A motion to set the memorial services for Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock for the next conference was debated at length, and lost by a vote of 48 to 48. The question was then reconsidered and, as it involved a similar motion and amendment to the rules made Saturday, which fixed 10 o'clock as the hour, the conference became involved in such a tangle of parliamentary law that it was decided to table the matter and strike it from the minutes of conference.

Bishop Cranston made a short address before announcing the appointments and stated that while all congregations and ministers could not have their wishes granted, that he acted in such cases because "preponderence of reasons lay in the other direction." He took opportunity to ask the clergymen going into new fields to evade the professional evangelist, and then read the appointments, which are as follows:

THE THREE RIVERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 2.7 feet, and the river was falling.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 9.—At 6 p. m. today the Ohio river at Cincinnati was 7.2 feet and falling. Today's departures of packets from the port of Cincinnati were: Greenland, Pomeroy; Courier, Marysville, and Indiana, Louisville. Many of the packets were delayed a few hours by the fog. All of them, however, got away on time with fair trips of passengers and freight. Kanawha coal operators are anxious to keep the mines supplied with empties, so that they can be loaded and ready for the early autumn rises. The Catherine Davis will arrive here Tuesday morning and take a tow of empties to the Kanawha. This is the third trip of the Davis to this harbor for empties. The larger of the boats on the Queen City marine ways will not be let off the cradles at present on account of the low stage of water. Clear and pleasant.

GALLIPOLIS—River 5 feet 2 inches and rising. Cloudy and warm.

PARKERSBURG—River 4 feet and falling. Clear and warm. No boats.

POINT PLEASANT—River 2 feet 2 inches and rising. Cloudy. Down, Greenwood.

WARREN—River .7 feet below. Clear and warm.

OIL CITY—River 4 inches and falling. Weather clear and cool.

GREENSBORO—River 5 feet 11 inches and stationary. Weather fair and pleasant. Woodward down Tuesday; Columbia up.

LOUISVILLE—River stationary; in canal, 3.7 feet; on falls, 1.5 feet; below locks, 8.8 feet. Cloudy and pleasant.

WHEELING—River 3 feet 2 inches and falling. Cloudy and cool. Departed: Bessie Smith, Parkersburg, 11 a. m.

MARIETTA—River 3½ feet and falling. Cloudy and warm. Bedford up, 6 a. m.

FOG INTERFERES.

Navigation on Local Rivers Is Stopped Temporarily.

Because of the dense fog in this vicinity yesterday morning all navigation on the local rivers was stopped for several hours. The packet J. C. Woodward was the only steamer scheduled to arrive at the wharf and she did not get in until noon. The boat was delayed by the fog between Pittsburgh and Brownsville.

Joseph Dunn, United States steamboat inspector, of Louisville, is spending a few days in this city.

Capt. Max Sebolt, one of the transportation men of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company at Louisville, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday and will be here for a few days.

Help! Help! I'm Falling

Thus cried the hair. And a kind neighbor came to the rescue with a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor. The hair was saved! In gratitude, it grew long and heavy, and with all the deep, rich color of early life. Druggists have sold it in all parts of the world for over sixty years. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

"I certainly believe that Ayer's Hair Vigor is a splendid preparation for the hair and scalp, for I have used it more or less for six years. I can cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of such a preparation."—MRS. KATE HOYT, Minneapolis, Minn.

WILL NOT HEAR SENATOR FORAKER

Ohio Statesman Cancels His Engagement to Speak at Philadelphia.

HAS NO PART IN LOCAL ROW

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9.—Because of troubles at Philadelphia and the impropriety of his participating therein, United States Senator Foraker has canceled his engagement to speak in Philadelphia, October 18, having sent the following letter in explanation:

"Cincinnati, October 8, 1905.

"Hon. W. R. Andrews, Chairman, Philadelphia:—I am satisfied from reports I am receiving from Philadelphia that if I go there to speak at this time it will be interpreted as having direct reference to your local troubles and differences, with which I cannot with propriety have anything to do, instead of national policies, about which and in behalf of your state ticket alone I was invited to speak. While I think this is unreasonable, and while I dislike exceedingly to recall an appointment that has been announced, yet I am unwilling to be put in such attitude, and therefore cancel my engagement for the 18th. J. B. FORAKER."

In an interview today Senator Foraker said:

"The telegram from New York to the effect that the administration is offended because I accepted an invitation to speak in Philadelphia, is ridiculous throughout. Where I shall speak and what I shall say are questions that I answer for myself, and no one concedes my right to do so more thoroughly or cheerfully and cordially than President Roosevelt.

"Neither in accepting the invitation nor in canceling the engagement, did I have any thought of the administration one way or the other, and would not have been influenced thereby one iota if I had. I have not made any attack upon the administration. I have supported the administration in all its propositions and policies, agreeing with it thoroughly, excepting the proposition to remedy railway evils by conferring the rate-making power on the interstate commerce commission. I believe in remedying these evils and that the administration is to be commended for calling attention to them and asking congress to legislate on the subject; but I don't believe the best way to do this is to confer the rate-making power on the interstate commerce commission or any other governmental agency."

Piles 14 Years

Terrible Case Cured Painlessly With One Treatment of Pyramid Pile Cure.

Free Package in Plain Wrapper Mailed to Everyone Who Writes.

"I have been a terrible sufferer of piles for fourteen (14) years, and during all this time you can have an idea of how many kinds of medicine I tried. But I found no relief whatever. I felt there must be something that could cure me without having to undergo an operation which might kill me.

"Now, after trying but one treatment of your 'Pyramids,' I am free, free to tell all sufferers of this dreadful disease to try this medicine—the Pyramid Pile Cure. It will cure when all others fail. Sincerely yours, George Branaigh, Schellburg, Pa."

Anyone suffering from the terrible torture, burning and itching of piles, will get instant relief from the treatment we send out free, at our own expense, in plain sealed package, to every one sending name and address.

Surgical operation for piles is suicide, cruel, unnecessary and rarely a permanent success. Here you can get a treatment that is quick, easy to apply and inexpensive, and free from the publicity and humiliation you suffer from doctors' examination.

Pyramid Pile Cure is made in the form of "easy to use" suppositories. The coming of a cure is felt the moment you begin to use it, and your suffering ends.

Send your name and address at once to Pyramid Drug Co., 4906 Pyramid Building, Marshall, Mich., and get, by return mail, the treatment we will send you free, in plain, sealed wrapper.

After seeing for yourself what it can do, you can get a regular, full-size package of Pyramid Pile Cure from any druggist at 50 cents each or, on receipt of price, we will mail you same ourselves if he should not have it.

Industrials Held Relatively Better Than Railroad Issues—Call Loans Easier—Liquidation Continued in Fire Proofing Preferred.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Liquidation in the New York stock market during the opening session yesterday was on a rather extensive scale, the sales for the first two hours footing up 465,000 shares, and prices showing declines of from ½ to 1½ per cent. In the afternoon the rate for call loans eased off to 3½ per cent. This was followed by covering of shorts and a temporary rally, but trading became extremely dull, and the market closed rather heavy in tone.

The future of the money market continued to be the paramount subject of discussion, but for the first time in weeks Wall street gave some attention to the probable course of legislation before the coming session of congress. The street is evidently trying to accustom itself to the idea of fairly firm rates for money for the remainder of the year. This view is forced upon traders by the fact that foreign money markets are low for the season, and the prevailing high rates for money in London fail to attract gold to that market; or rather the outside demand is greater and absorbs the gold as quickly as it arrives. Thus it was reported that $1,250,000 gold had been purchased yesterday in the open London market for shipment to New York. It was this announcement that possibly influenced the decline in rates during the latter part of the day. Initial loans were made at 6 per cent and the rate advanced to 6½ per cent, but after the demand had been satisfied there was a decline to 3½ per cent, the final loan being at 4 per cent.

The fact that industrial stocks held relatively better than railroad issues probably had something to do with reviving discussion as to the outlook for railroad rate regulation. Wall street recognizes the vigor with which President Roosevelt pursues a policy, and despite the presumed attitude of the senate on the subject, there is a growing feeling that the President will bring all the influence of his personality and the power of his office to bear upon the movement for railroad rate regulation. This is no new idea on the part of the President. In his messages and public addresses for years past he has pointed out the desirability for a change in the law governing railroads. However, Wall street is needlessly alarmed if it thinks that any legislation having the support of the President will adversely affect the earning power of the railroads or the market value of their securities. It will be admitted that legislation will not affect the volume of traffic; and if through the workings of a new law that proportion of the present tonnage which obtains secret rebates is made to pay the full rate, the railroads will be benefited instead of injured by any law which will abolish discrimination. The public demand is not so much for a reduction of the charge for service by the railroads as for the removal of discrimination as between shippers. Railroad rate regulation therefore—that is, the kind that will receive the support of the present administration—is not a "bear" argument on the stock market.

Opening transactions were generally at lower prices, due to the decline shown in London quotations, and the heavy tone of the foreign market for American securities. The Gould issues were not affected by the action of the St. Louis court in denying the injunction sought by Mr. Ramsey in the contest for control of the Wabash system. This group of stocks followed the course of the general market and closed fractionally lower. There was very heavy selling of Erie, which was credited to Morgan interests, and high-grade stocks like St. Paul, Illinois Central, Canadian Pacific and New York Central declined sharply. In the industrial list the largest net declines were in Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting. There was heavy liquidation in Locomotive common, which closed 1½ per cent lower. United States Steel issues closed ½ per cent lower.

There was continued heavy liquidation in National Fire Proofing preferred in the local market. At the opening 500 shares came out at 22½, the lowest price of the year. A recovery to 22¾ ensued, but late in the day the market declined to and closed at 22 asked. The impression is stronger than ever that the decline in the market foreshadows a reduction or passage of the dividend on the preferred stock at the regular meeting of the directors this week. The common stock was inactive and closed fractionally higher at 3½. The restoration of the full rate of dividend on Harbison-Walker preferred had no effect upon that stock, there being no sales or quotations. The common stock declined ½ point to 8½. American Sewer Pipe was inactive and closed ¼ lower at 32½. There was a fair demand for Philadelphia Company common, which sold at 45¾ to 48¾. The natural gas shares were dull and barely steady, Pittsburgh Coal was neglected, but there were sales of 200 shares River Coal preferred at 27, an advance of ¼. Crucible Steel common was fairly active at 12¾ to 13, closing at 13. The preferred was dull and lower, declining to 65¼, a loss of ¾ for the day. The Westinghouse stocks were extremely dull and barely steady.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The apathy prevailing in the local stock market was illustrated yesterday by the reception of the official announcement that the full rate of dividend had been restored on Harbison-Walker Refractories preferred, the directors having declared 1½ per cent for the quarter, payable October 20 to stock of record today. There were no transactions in the stock on the exchange, and no quotations. The common sold to the extent of 110 shares at 9 to 8½, closing at a net decline of ½. The dividend on the preferred was reduced in July last year, and the restoration of the full rate leaves an accumulation of only 2½ per cent. The Harbison-Walker stocks were never widely distributed, and the highest price reached after they were listed on the exchange in 1903 was 73½ for the preferred and 18 for the common. The low point on the preferred was 46 last year, when the dividend was reduced. Since then there has been a recovery to 69. At current prices the stock will net 5½ per cent on the investment. The management has been conservative, and the full dividend would not now be restored if the outlook did not warrant a continuance of the rate. And yet Pittsburg will overlook this and other stocks of its class to buy similar stocks in the New York market on a basis of 7 per cent or less. As one of the oldest members of the Pittsburgh stock exchange remarked yesterday: "Our securities are selling from 10 to 25 per cent below the parity of New York securities which have no better outlook. The reason for this disparity in values is that Pittsburgh is carrying a load of stocks which are at present unprofitable, because of the suspension of dividends during the past two years. All of these non-dividend payers, however, are steadily getting into better shape, as was revealed in the annual report of the Crucible Steel Company, and as soon as they become self-supporting improvement will appear in the local stock market. The situation here now is similar to that in the early 90's, when our gas, traction and electric stocks were all quoted at a heavy discount and the stock market was stagnant. With the recovery from that depression came the period of buoyancy from early in 1898 to the middle of 1903. Another year like 1904 will place most of our corporations in good shape, and then you will witness a great recovery in market values."

According to street gossip the directors of the Lustre Mining Company are tafonally considering a plan for financing that property, which will repay the patience of stockholders in waiting for dividends. It is said that the plan which is favorably looked upon is that which has been so successfully adopted by the Hlsbee copper companies. The latter were operated as development companies until it was demonstrated that the ore bodies were of large extent. Then they were reorganized as mining companies, the stockholders in the development companies being given a liberal stock dividend and the privilege of subscribing for new stock at par, thus furnishing each company with ample cash working capital. The present capital of Lustre is $1,000,000, a small portion of which, it is understood, has never been issued. It is proposed, according to street talk, to increase the authorized capital to $5,000,000. Of the increase $3,000,000 would be distributed in the shape of stock dividend, which would mean three additional shares for one now held, and each holder of the old stock would be given the privilege of subscribing for one share of new stock at par, $10 a share. This plan would give the company $1,000,000 cash in additional to its present working capital, out of which additions could be made to the smelter capacity of the company and any floating debt to cleaned up that may have been incurred in development operations. Persons who advocate this plan express the belief that dividends could then begin upon the entire $5,000,000 new capital, and they point to the history of the Hisbee copper companies as a precedent for the soundness of this kind of financiering.

The firmness of Philadelphia Company is said to be due to the revival of demand from the east. The revival of activity in the stock in August, when 12,500 shares changed hands at 45 to 47¼, was based upon rumors of a new deal, but the bulk of the selling at that time was credited to Philadelphia investors, who appeared to have temporarily lost faith in the stocks of public utility companies. Last month the dealings fell off to less than 2,500 shares on the local board, but so far in October there has been an increase in the demand, and it is said that Philadelphia has again turned a buyer of the stock.

There was nothing new in connection with National Fire Proofing affairs. The weakness in the preferred at the opening yesterday was merely a continuation of the liquidation which became pronounced on Saturday. Offerings of the stock at the extreme low price were not large, and there was a moderate recovery. It is thought that the short interest was largely reduced on Saturday and yesterday. The stock has apparently discounted the most unfavorable action which the directors may take at their meeting on Thursday. The head of a large brokerage house said he was confident that the company would have no trouble in realizing a good price for bonds if the latter were made a first mortgage on the entire property, instead of covering only a subsidiary plant, but that it would be better to temporarily pass the dividend rather than sell any bonds at a heavy discount.

The regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on Potter Title and Trust Company is payable October 15 to stock of record October 10.

United States 2s declined ½ per cent on call in New York yesterday.

In the local curb market a sale was reported of 300 shares Golden Anchor at 31c, and 500 was bid for more. Oriental & Mashala was quoted at 50c bid, 55c asked.

Pittsburgh Coal is were unofficially quoted at 102 and interest bid, 103½ and interest asked.

Pittsburgh brokers and bankers are being canvassed for subscriptions to the Dow-Jones Wall street news service, which will involve the installation of printing telegraph machines and the receipt of service similar to and simultaneous with the service that is furnished the New York financial district. It is reported that the nine Pittsburgh members of the New York stock exchange have either subscribed or indicated a willingness to subscribe, and that other prominent houses and some of the banks will make up the required number for the installation of the service.

A director in both the Cambria and Pennsylvania Steel companies says that 1905 earnings of each company bid fair to approach the large profits of 1902 and 1903 when Cambria Steel's net income ranged above $4,000,000 and Pennsylvania Steel's was nearly as large.

New York has realized $1,190,858 from the tax on stock transactions, which went into effect June 2.

The Illinois Steel Company of the United States Steel Corporation is taking contracts for steel rails for delivery in the fourth quarter of 1906. The company's capacity for that quarter will probably be soon taken. At the other steel rail mills of the corporation, capacity for at least nine months is already booked.

Up to this time the protection of the New York market has been facilitated by the unlooked for conviction that an advance in prices ultimately is to come. The policy of opposing reaction through the period of monetary strain has come into question, however. Criticism of the attempts to maintain artificial ease in the money market are having an influence. Financial authorities in London are reported as expressing fears of a raid on the London money market on behalf of the maintenance of the speculative situation in New York, which would threaten unfavorable consequences to the London situation. The reference is to the late engagements of gold in London and to the suspicion that they were designed to foster speculation rather than an outcome of the condition of exchange. Reports were again current of further engagement of gold in London, but they were not confirmed. Opinion in London leans toward the probability of an advance in the bank rate this week on account of the feeling prevalent there.

There were further large withdrawals of gold from London for Egypt and discounts advanced both in Paris and Berlin. There was no appreciable change in the exchange rates in the New York market. The call money market showed some relaxation from the tension of the latter part of the week, partly due to doubt as to the liquidation of stocks. Out-of-town institutions also continued to offer funds quite freely. Preparations are expected, however, before the end of the week for next Monday's payment on Japanese loan subscriptions, which will call for upward of $20,000,000. The time money market was called firm with an advancing tendency.

NO CHANGE IN BUTTER; BIG ARRIVAL OF FRUIT

Canned Tomatoes Are Stiffer in Market—Fair Receipts of Hay, Grain and Feed.

Advices from Elgin last night did not change the quotations on butter, somewhat to the surprise of some dealers who looked for a slight advance. The market was firmer yesterday for all grades. Eggs and cheese also remained at last week's closing prices. There were no changes of note in the grocery market. Canned tomatoes are stiff and will likely advance, owing to the short crop.

The fruit and produce market was distinguished by the larger arrivals of winter apples and the heavy receipts of grapes. Thirty-eight cars of grapes were received at the yards yesterday and 23 cars of apples. No record breaking receipts of apples are looked for this fall by dealers as the big apple sections, Twenty-three cars of pears arrived yesterday, making one of the big days of the season. The market was fairly active.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania lines, 37 cars hay, 14 cars oats, 3 cars straw, 3 cars feed, 1 car rye, 5 cars corn; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 14 cars hay, 6 cars oats, 1 car straw, 1 car corn; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 10 cars hay, 6 cars oats, 1 car corn, 3 cars rye.

Total receipts of hay and grain were 105 cars. This is only a fair supply for this season, as often the receipts on Monday total from 150 to 175 cars. Only seven cars of corn were received, which is expected to keep the price on that commodity firm at present quotations. Last week's advances on oats are being well sustained.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The market for coffee futures opened barely steady at a decline of 5 @10 points under scattering liquidation following disappointing European cables and reports of rain in droughty sections of Brazil. The pressure was not aggressive, but there was very little demand and the market closed steady at a net decline of 5@10 points. Sales were reported of 17,250 bags, including December at 7.15@7.20c, March at 7.40@7.45c, May at 7.55c, July at 7.70c and September at 7.80c. Spot Rio quiet; mild steady.

Sugar—Raw steady. Fair refining, 3c; centrifugal 96 test, 3⅝c; molasses sugar, 2¾c. Refined quiet.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Activity was radically interfered with today in the drygoods market by the Jewish holiday which kept many merchants out of the market. Jobbers in particular suffered from the dullness. Conditions, however, were very firm and sellers were not inclined to change their attitude.

WHEAT SCORES A HEALTHFUL GAIN

Many Factors Figure in Market Resulting in Advanced Price for Cereals.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Wet weather in the northwest imparted strength today to the wheat market here. Higher prices for wheat at Liverpool increased the bullish sentiment. At the close wheat for December delivery was up ¾c. Corn shows a gain of ⅜c. Oats are up ¼c. Provisions are practically unchanged.

With an active demand from shorts and commission houses the wheat market was strong the entire day. At the opening the December option was up ⅛@⅜c to ⅝@¾c at 83¼ to 83½c. Apparently the factor of greatest importance was the change in weather conditions northwest. According to the government bureau, rain had fallen in various localities, while at one point in Canada, snow was reported. Likelihood of a consequent decreased movement made the shorts uneasy and caused energetic efforts to cover. Scarcely less important a factor tending to augment demand here was the advance in the price of wheat at Liverpool, notwithstanding the weakness here Saturday. Reiterated reports of shortage in the Russian crops were said to largely account for the strength in the English market.

The fact that a leading bull here was a moderate buyer created additional sentiment favorable to an advance. Furthermore, cash wheat was in good demand at all the principal grain centers of the United States. For the December delivery here the highest point of the day was reached during the last half hour, the price touching 83¾. The market closed strong with December at 83½@83¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 282,000 bushels. The amount on passage decreased 1,301,000 bushels, and the visible supply increased 2,962,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,924,000 bushels, compared with 2,058,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 1,239 cars, against 1,470 cars last week and 1,367 cars a year ago.

Rain in Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas had a bullish effect on the corn market. Another strengthening influence was the continued small movement. A report from Odessa stated that the Russian crop of corn was expected to be a total failure. Shorts and commission houses were the chief buyers. The market closed strong with prices practically at the highest point of the day. December opened a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 44¾@44⅞c, sold up to 44¾c and closed at 44⅝@44¾c. Local receipts were 244 cars, with 119 of contract grade.

The oats market was firm in sympathy with the strength of other grain. Cash houses were the principal sellers. The export and shipping demand was again a feature. December opened a shade higher at 28½@28¾c, sold up to 28¾c and closed at 28½c. Local receipts were 386 cars.

Trading in provisions was exceedingly dull, but the market had a steady undertone notwithstanding a decline of 5c in the price of live hogs. At the close January pork was off 2½c at 812 60. Lard and ribs were each a shade lower at $6 85@6 87½ and $6 47½, respectively.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 55 cars; corn, 328 cars; oats, 353 cars; hogs, 15,000 head.

The leading futures, as reported by John D. Armstrong & Co., Farmers bank building, Pittsburgh, members of the Chicago board of trade, ranged as follows:

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The Calumet and Arizona is developing a new mine on what is known as the Dockrye claim, lying to the south of its shafts and adjoining the Duluth supplement claim and the northern part of the Lake Superior mine. The indications are that this will prove a very large mine, developments so far made are the best, with high grade oxide and sulphide ores and a large area of ground that promises rich returns. It is probable this part of the Calumet and Arizona ground will be mined through its Oliver shaft. This shaft is about ready to begin production and should be working heavily in about two weeks. Surrounding the Oliver on the north is the Shattuck-Arizona mine, which has been developed that is not second to that on the Mag claim, from which the company has so far produced all its ores. Ore has been found at 400 feet from the surface in the Mag claim, far above where the company is taking its daily production.

On account of accidents to the smelting works of the Cole syndicate at Douglas, it will be a week or so before No. 4 is blown in for regular production. In the meantime the shafts that were to supply ore for the new furnace are sending it forward to the smelter blue.

A car of carbonate ore shipped to the smelters from the Lake Superior and Arizona mine has netted $2,654. The company is shipping only an occasional car of selected ore, on account of heavy freight charges, but is developing underground with speed. It has opened some rich looking ground in tunnels and inclined shafts the past few weeks.

The Minnesota and Michigan stockholders of the Michigan and Arizona Development Company, now engaged in developing the mines, have taken 10,000 shares of the stock of the company, paying $10,000 therefor, for the purpose of completing the development agreed upon before they can exercise their option on its stock of the Helvetia Company.

The Warren Development company has begun taking water of the Lowell mine in addition to that from the Junction and Calumet and Pittsburgh. The Lowell adds about 300 gallons per minute to the flume's flow, and it is full to overflowing. The flume is carrying 1,800 gallons per minute, of which 1,500 is from the Pittsburgh, 1,200 from the Junction and the rest from the Lowell.

With the additional funds, derived from a call on the part paid stock, the American Development Company is paying up for some of its claims, on which the bonds were about to expire, and will run a diamond drill in the search for mineral beneath Superior. The statement that the Warren Development had bought this company's surface rights was incorrect.

Three improved drills are to be set at work near Jerome at once to test formations east from the shaft, south and north of the flood. The first is of 10 per cent ore, and is quite important. It lies in a fault plane, and on the west side of the ore-bearing formation, intersecting the general superposition of rock in the opposite side of the formation. Work has now just begun on driving a cross-cut tunnel from the Verde to connect with the shaft and the Hope and Wagner claims of the Calumet and Arizona, and this Shattuck find reaches it almost a survey that ore will be found there. The forty acres of Hope and Wagner will be thoroughly explored. The Pittsburgh and Duluth, which lies to the same part of the Verde, has just begun to sink its shaft. The discovery of high grade sulphide ores.

A telegram dated October 7, 1905, has just been received four, the president of the Pittsburgh Consolidated Company, who is at present in Hot Springs, saying that the dividend rate of the company is coming to 5%. One or two being added daily to the list. Over 500 Brighton cattle will be shipped to the company's farm and the animal will run all the season.

OVER 300 MEN IN RAILROAD PARTY

General Managers' Inspections of Pennsylvania System Start from Union Station.

BIG CONVENTION COMES HERE

Pennsylvania system officers will be in evidence more from 7:30 to 8:15 o'clock this morning, at Union station, than has been known for many years. Within the three-quarters of an hour there will assemble there 330 officers of the Pennsylvania lines east and west of Pittsburgh. At 8 o'clock, city time, 130 of these men from all of the divisions of the lines west, headed by General Manager George L. Peck, will start out on a four-day inspection trip. Fifteen minutes later 200 officers and employes of the divisions east will start from the station in five special trains for a similar inspection of the main line of the Pennsylvania from here to Jersey City under the direction of General Manager W. W. Atterbury. Incidentally this will probably be the largest number of railroad men out on an inspection in the history of the Pennsylvania system. This is the first time in several years that the inspections have been started from Pittsburgh at the same hour.

General Manager Atterbury, General Superintendent George W. Creighton and almost all of the Pennsylvania railroad inspection party arrived from the east last evening and registered at Pittsburgh hotels. General Manager Atterbury and his highest staff officers will travel on the first train, which will be composed of three cars. The other four trains will have four, three, three and two cars, respectively. Mr. Atterbury will be accompanied by all of the general transportation and maintenance officers, the division superintendents, assistant engineers and supervisors of the divisions east of Pittsburgh and Erie. The general mechanical department officers will travel with the party, the division master mechanics going over their respective divisions.

While most of the officers of the Pennsylvania lines west arrived in the city last evening in addition to those located here, a special train is scheduled to arrive here this morning from Columbus bearing the officers for the southwest system. General Superintendent R. S. McCarty is in charge of this party. The lines west inspection party will travel in three special trains, in which will be included sleeping cars and dining cars for the use of the party of 130 men for the entire trip of four days. The general superintendents, the general superintendents of freight and passenger transportation and of motive power, the chief engineers, superintendent of way and their assistants, the superintendent of telegraph, the signal engineer, the division superintendents, the engineers maintenance of way and the supervisors will compose the party of General Manager Peck. The higher officers will travel on the first train, which will have eight cars. There will be six cars on each of the other trains. In front of each engine will be placed a coach for the use of the officers. At the rear of one of the trains a similar car will be placed, while at the rear of the other two trains will be private cars with observation ends. This arrangement will give ample space for each member of the party to have a clear view of the track. On the officials' train will also be run the regular dining car service.

Upon the results of these inspections will depend the awarding of prizes for the best sections of trackage to the supervisors and their assistants. The Pennsylvania railroad party will travel only over the main line from here to New York. The lines west party will travel over the lines of the northwest system to Erie, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Toledo, Mansfield and Crestline, and thence over the Panhandle to Carnegie, Washington and Pittsburgh. On the lines west a different route for the general manager's inspection is taken each year. The inspection by President A. J. Cassatt and the boards of directors of the system will be made probably next week.

Two Important Railway Meetings.

Two important railway men's conventions are scheduled for this month, one of which will be held in Pittsburgh. The annual meeting of the American Railway Association will be held in Chicago on October 25. Among the Pittsburgh men identified with the committee work of the association are Robert Pitcairn, G. L. Peck and A. M. Schoyer.

The Association of Railway Superintendents of Bridges and Buildings will convene at the Monongahela house, this city, next Tuesday, October 17, for a three-day session. The only Pittsburgh railroad man who will read a paper is C. W. Richey, master carpenter of the West Penn division of the Pennsylvania, who will treat of the subject "Concrete Building Construction, Including Platforms." Wednesday afternoon the visitors will be taken on a trolley trip about Pittsburgh under the direction of a lecturer. Thursday afternoon the party will visit the McKees Rocks shop and yard plant of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie as guests of the officers of this road. In the evening a boat ride will be taken on the rivers. On Friday the visitors will be guests of the Pennsylvania system officers for a trip about the Pittsburgh terminals, with visits to the steel mills at Braddock and the Westinghouse electric works at East Pittsburgh. On Saturday a trip will be made to the American Bridge Company's plant at Ambridge.

Year's Work of the Commission.

The eighteenth annual report of the interstate commerce commission shows that 487 complaints were filed for consideration during the year 1904 although the number of tons of freight carried by the railroads was in the neighborhood of 1,200,000,000. The commission in its report states that these cases included both formal and informal complaints, as well as proceedings and investigations instituted on its own motion and two cases submitted to the commission by agreement of the parties for investigation and determination of the questions in dispute. The number of formal cases and investigations instituted during the year was 65, involving directly the rates and practices of 502 railroads. Fifty-eight hearings have been held in different parts of the country. Besides disposing of a large number of complaints through informal investigation and deciding numerous questions arising in relation to the publication and observance of tariffs, the commission has rendered during the year 27 decisions in reports and opinions upon contested cases or investigations made by the commission on its own motion.

Telegraph System in Good Shape.

The telegraph system of the Pennsylvania lines west is in excellent condition, the wires in superintendent of Telegraph George A. Cellar says that there are four pieces of construction now under way, but these will be completed before cold weather sets in. The largest piece of new pole construction is a stretch of about 40 miles on the Ft. Wayne route. There are two large stretches of this work on the Panhandle and one on the Cincinnati & Muskingum Valley road.

The signal system is also being placed in excellent condition for the winter season. Considerable new work is under way, but this will be completed and the interlocking plants will be in operation within a couple of months.

To Develop Farm Product Traffic.

Stewart B. Shaw has been appointed assistant industrial agent of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, with headquarters at Parkersburg, W. Va. Mr. Shaw is a graduate of the Maryland Agricultural college, and his duties will consist of giving expert advice to fruit and truck growers and farmers along the line of the road, with the object of improving and increasing the crops and thus making more traffic for the railroad. Mr. Shaw was previously assistant professor in the Maryland Agricultural college. W. W. Wood is the industrial agent of the road.

Railroad Notes.

L. H. Turner, superintendent of motive power of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, is in the west on a business trip.

Col. Samuel Moody, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines west, accompanied by his family, is enjoying a vacation of two weeks.

Ralph Noss, clerk in the office of General Supt. J. B. Yohe of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, is enjoying a vacation at Washington and Baltimore.

C. W. Welsh, station master of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, accompanied by his wife, is taking his annual vacation in a visit to Washington. S. M. Work, assistant station master, is officiating.

It is said that George J. Gould is expected to visit Pittsburgh in a few days, probably immediately after the Toledo meeting today. Vice President P. A. Worthington left last evening to attend the meeting.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad is making good use of the excellent harbor at Fairport, O., and, as a result of the careful attention given dredging, a very satisfactory depth of water is maintained. The steamer J. C. Wallace, with 10,210 gross tons of ore, recently entered the harbor, winded and went out without the use of a tug.

Royal N. Allen, secretary to General Passenger Agent P. N. Austin, has been appointed city passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio in Chicago, as successor to Frank C. Wells, who has lost his eyesight entirely through an accident, but who is being cared for by the company in special work at Chicago. Mr. Allen has been with the Baltimore & Ohio several years.

R. M. Sheats, train master of the narrow gauge branch of the Baltimore & Ohio's Pittsburgh division, arrived in the city last evening for a conference with Supt. E. W. Doer and other officers. Mr. Sheats reports that the narrow gauge has had an unusually heavy traffic season and says that the shippers would be pleased to have the road made a standard gauge, which will likely be done next year.

A WATER STREET CORNER IS SOLD

A. R. Bassett Buys the James Scott Property at Corner of Cherry Alley for $100,000.

TWO FLATS BRING $70,000

Through the agency of George Brothers the James Scott holdings at the northeast corner of Water street and Cherry alley were sold yesterday for $100,000. Title to the property will be taken by A. R. Bassett, treasurer of the Pennsylvania Malleable Company. The property has a frontage of 36 feet and extends along Cherry alley 130 feet to First avenue. The improvements are of only nominal value as they consist of an old brick and frame warehouse and sheds formerly occupied for a long time by agents of the DuPont Powder Company. These buildings, it is understood, will be replaced in a short time by a modern eight-story warehouse.

This sale is the third deal of $100,000 made within three weeks for property at or very near the corner of First avenue and Cherry alley, a fact that cannot fail to have considerable significance in the minds of realty investors. The Walther-Robertson Drug Company secured the Mason lot, 60x80 feet, at the southwest corner as the site for an eight-story warehouse to cost $100,000. This sale figured at $1,666 a foot for the First avenue frontage, or $20.83 a square foot, but it was on a trade basis, W. B. Bennett last week purchased the Mellor holdings, 80x75 feet, on the north side of First avenue, just above Cherry alley for $1,250 a front foot or $16.67 a square foot. The Scott property just bought figures at the rate of $1,333 a foot for the Water street or First avenue frontage, as one may chose to consider it, or $20.83 a square foot, exactly the figure paid by the Walther-Robertson Drug Company for its corner opposite. Mr. Bassett's purchase has another significance in that the property he secures is directly opposite the proposed new terminal of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, which is expected to have a marked influence on property values, and especially on improvements in that district.

$70,000 for Two East End Flats.

The two Neff apartment houses at 6710-6712 Thomas boulevard, East End, have been sold for $70,000, but the name of the buyer could not be learned yesterday. The buildings were erected last year by Jacob Neff and are handsome three-story brick structures on lots 45x100 feet each. Each building contains six suites of six rooms and bath each, which are rented for $20 and $25 a month. They face on the south side of Thomas boulevard, just east of Fifth avenue, and in the rear of the Point Breeze church. In part payment for the flats Mr. Neff secured, it is said, an $18,000 residence in Lincoln avenue, Bellevue.

Through the office of H. B. Mohler, A. E. Niemen, treasurer of the Germania Savings bank, has purchased from A. H. King one of the most desirable vacant corners in the Nineteenth ward, being 124x202 feet at the southeast corner of North Negley and Elgin avenues for $24,824. The purchase was made for a site for a $40,000 residence on which work will be started soon. This property adjoins the $50,000 residence of R. R. Bennett in North Negley avenue, and is almost directly across that street from the $35,000 house which J. G. Vilsack is now building. There are now 15 fine residences under way in the near vicinity of this site, and since June 1 $130,000 worth of property in the neighborhood has changed hands. Several deals are now pending for choice residence properties nearby which amount to about $50,000, and some of which are likely to be announced this week.

Contract Let for Drug Building.

Architect F. C. Sauer has awarded to S. H. Mecum of Allegheny the contract for the eight-story warehouse which the Walther-Robertson Drug Company will build at First avenue and Cherry alley at an estimated cost of $100,000. The building will be strictly fireproof and will afford the firm one of the finest drug establishments in the state.

Seezer Brothers have plans for a brick and stone fireproof stable to be built for Mrs. William Craig in Beechwood boulevard at a cost of about $25,000.

The Henry Shenk Company is taking bids on the buildings of the State Hospital for the Insane at Warren, Pa., which were designed by Architect William J. Shaw of this city.

Two church contracts have just been awarded. H. T. Watson & Co. have the contract from Architects Klepper & Mofitt for the Brick church of the Methodist Episcopal congregation, West End, McKeesport, to cost $30,000. J. C. Flick has the contract from Architects E. J. Carlisle & Co. for a $15,000 addition to the Methodist Episcopal church in Swissvale.

Irwin Brothers have awarded the contract to John Belsch for a three-story brick addition to the Christian Home for Women in Locust street, to cost $18,000.

The Braddock Lumber Company has the contract from Architect H. B. Mills for a three-story brick store and apartment building in Ninth street, Braddock, for Adolph Hollander, to cost $12,000.

All Sold at East Bellevue.

East Bellevue is "sold out." Whether it was the strenuous efforts of the goose which appeared for the first time as the herald of prosperity on a new allotment or the energetic management of the Freehold Real Estate Company or the fine weather which precipitated a crowd of buyers upon the property day after day, it is certain that the lots are gone and that the sale has been one of the most remarkable that has ever been seen in the Pittsburgh district, not excepting the famous events of 1901-1902. The first lot was sold on September 14 and on Sunday the last buyer was handed his articles of agreement. During this period 732 lots were disposed of, and their sole means early development of a very desirable suburb.

J. Palmer O'Neil is having plans prepared for three more eight-room brick reception hall houses in Reading avenue, Ben Avon, to cost $6,000 each. Mr. O'Neil now has under way one frame residence in that street and two frame houses in School street and one in Brighton road, Ben Avon, which will cost $4,500 each. There has been a marked increase in the number of realty sales and the amount of building projected in Ben Avon since the extension of the Pittsburgh Railways Company's line was assured, and it is predicted that next spring the pretty borough will see a boom similar to that enjoyed by Bellevue this year.

Allegheny's Banner Building Record.

Allegheny came to the front in September with a total of building operations that places her near the head of 25 large cities in the country in point of relative gains. During the month 71 permits were issued, calling for an expenditure of $462,590. In September, 1904, there were granted 82 permits, totalling only $214,500. This shows a gain of more than double the amount of building projected last year and again refutes the oft repeated statement that Allegheny is "dead."

Yesterday permits were granted by Building Inspector Ellsworth Murphy in Allegheny as follows: To the Italo-French Wood Company for a six-story brick warehouse in Dawson street, to cost $15,000; to Joseph Hite for a two-story brick store and apartment house at Washington avenue and Fulton street, to cost $5,000; to John Mugis, for an addition to a frame house at 1211 East street, to cost $1,000.

Building permits issued yesterday by the Pittsburgh bureau of building inspection were as follows: James Jones, brick veneer dwelling, Trenton avenue, Twenty-third ward, $4,000; Pittsburgh Vehicle Company, frame automobile factory, Summerlea street, Twentieth ward, $8,000; H. N. Benedict, brick veneer dwelling, 1526 Denniston avenue, Twenty-second ward, $8,000; David Bassett, frame dwelling, Lella street, Thirty-second ward, $3,200; the Rev. B. Massullo, one-story brick veneer church, Immaculate Conception Italian Catholic congregation, Edmond street, Twentieth ward, $10,000; Dr. Richenbach, frame dwelling, Grandview avenue, Thirty-fifth ward, $2,000.

IS ON TRIAL FOR BIG MIKE'S DEATH

Croatian Before the Bar Is Accused of Committing Murder During Card Game.

WOES OF MARRIED COUPLES

That justice may be meted out for the death of "Big Mike," said to have been a professional gambler, who was stabbed at a house in the rear of 2906 Carson street, the commonwealth has placed on trial Milos Miloscivic, who is charged with his murder. Both men were Croatians, and the killing is alleged to have resulted from a fight over a game of cards. Mike Kovacevic, the man said to have been stabbed, was found dead in a chair. He had a wound in his neck. There were no witnesses to the killing, but it is claimed Miloscivic was seen leaving the house with a blood-stained knife clutched in his hand. He was arrested several weeks later at Masontown. Attorneys W. M. Price and W. E. McClure represent the defendant and John S. Robb, Jr., the commonwealth. Two physicians testified to the wounds and Special Officer Charles McAfee told of finding the body and of being informed that Miloscivic was the murderer.

Marcko Marovic, a bartender, testified that Miloscivic and "Big Mike" had been drinking and that Miloscivic wanted to borrow 50 cents from his companion with which to play cards. He also said he had talked to Miloscivic after he had been brought back from Masontown and that the latter had told him he had killed "Mike" and was not sorry, even if he had to hang for it, as the latter had won $4 from him a year before.

Wanted to Play Cards.

Samuel Manula, who formerly conducted a saloon on Carson street, said both men were in his saloon the day of the murder and that Kovacevic was very drunk. Miloscivic invited him to play cards and the two men left the saloon together, the murder occurring about 30 minutes later a square away from the saloon. The prosecution had not finished their testimony when court adjourned.

Arthur C. Gibson, an employment agent, was acquitted of three charges of false pretense. Gibson, it was claimed, had secured $ 50 from a number of Hungarians on a promise to secure them jobs painting railroad cars, which, it is alleged, he failed to do.

John Gordon pleaded no defense to a charge of burglary and larceny preferred by H. M. Arts at North Braddock, and stealing clothing valued at $50. He was sentenced 30 days to the workhouse. Edward Brown and George Hoffman were indicted with Gordon, but the indictment was not pressed.

In the divorce suit of Stephen Pezzavost against his wife, Rose, the libellant filed his answer, claiming his wife deserted him a month before the birth of her daughter, although she had taken all the household goods, and entered into an agreement to pay her certain sums monthly. She finally ran away January 15, 1905. He says she has called on his employers and tried to have him discharged.

A decree in divorce was granted to Sadie Kaplan from her husband, Louis Kaplan, a South side merchant, on the grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment and malicious desertion.

The couple were married in March, 1901, and the libellant says that all the money the respondent gave her from July 11, 1903, was $1 a week, and this was paid to her on an order of court. Thomas J. Morley, a police officer, testified that about two years ago Mrs. Kaplan called at the store and told him that her husband had whipped her and taken all the money in the store but four cents. Morley said that Mrs. Kaplan had a discoloration on one arm and that there were marks of finger-nails on her throat. Three months later Morley says he met Kaplan on the South Side and said to Kaplan that he had a notion to break his nose for the way he had treated his wife. Morley says Kaplan then asked him to have a drink, but he refused, telling Kaplan he "was no man." Dr. W. J. Riggs testified that he was called to attend Mrs. Kaplan, and that as a result of the injuries and abuse she had received she was compelled to remain in bed, and was out of her mind for a week.

The report of Attorney Ralph Longnecker, master in the divorce case of Annie N. Doran against William J. Doran was filed. The libellant says her husband would not work and she had to take in washing. Their landlady's children fell sick, and she wanted their room. The libellant says she asked her husband if he was going to get another room and he said no. She then asked him what was going to become of her, and he said he didn't care what became of her. Doran then went to live by himself in a pool room, and his wife says she found him later living with a woman in a house in Forty-third street.

In No. 2 court divorce cases were heard by Judges Frazer and Young. The list was not long. Desertion was the allegation in the case of Birdie Holland against James H. Holland, the libellant testifying that she was left to support their two children. In the case of James L. Colhopp against Marie R. Colhopp an attack was made on the character of the respondent, one witness saying she kept a disorderly house. Walter T. Frank made a charge of desertion against Maggie M. Frank, whom he married in 1894. She left in 1898 and the testimony showed she had gone traveling several times and was about to go again. Valens Habeggar charged that her husband, John Habeggar, was once a rich dairy farmer, but had drank his money away.

Want Letters in Brother's Estate.

A petition has been filed in orphans' court by H. J. Bock for letters of administration on the estate of his brother, George Bock, Jr., who disappeared 24 years ago. His estate consists of bank stock worth $3,500, $953 in personal property and an interest in some real estate in the Nineteenth ward. When Bock left he was 32 years of age. The estate of his mother, recently deceased, is worth $120,000.

A preliminary injunction was granted in the equity suit of William H. Scott against T. P. and Mary Dunn and the Farmers National bank. The defendants are restrained from contracting or disposing of certain money in the bank in the name of T. P. Dunn, trustee or guardian of Mary Dunn. The money now tied up by the injunction is the result of the sale of some rare books made by Dunn.

A petition was filed in the case of the city of Pittsburgh against John Kleppel for an appeal from the decision of Alderman Louis Aspern. Kleppel was sued by the city before Alderman Aspern on September 28 for a violation of the building laws. He was fined $50 and costs by the alderman, and now says that the sentence was excessive and illegal and asks that an order be made allowing him to appeal.

Morton K. Leffler entered suit against the Pittsburgh Steeplechase and Amusement Company, operating Kennywood park, to recover $1,000 damages. Leffler claims he was assaulted by a policeman in the employ of the defendant company at the park and badly hurt.

A preliminary injunction was granted in the case of the Griswold Shoe Company against Abraham, Simon and Jennie Pearlstein, restraining the defendants from using the words "Carter Shoes," or "Captain Carter Foot Form Shoes" on their official paper or on the shoes sold by them.

A petition was filed asking for permission to amend the charter of the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Bethel church of Braddock. The petition is signed by Joseph Ahlberg as president and August Roy as secretary of the board of trustees of the church.

ARGUES JUDGES' RIGHT TO ACT

DEFINES THEATER STATUS

The supreme court opened its fall session in Pittsburgh yesterday morning, all the justices being present, including Justices John Stewart and John P. Elkin, who are sitting for the first time in this county. A number of orders were made and opinions filed when the court adjourned. When the argument list was taken up the case that attracted the most attention was that of Morgan against Iliff and others, an appeal from common pleas No. 2 of this county originally argued in Philadelphia, and a reargument allowed. Attorney G. W. Quail appeared for the appellant and Chantler, McGill & Medling for the appellee. The case will test the constitutionality of the law authorizing orphans' court judges to sit in common pleas courts.

A new feature was advanced by the introduction of a paper book giving the report of a committee of the law association of Philadelphia, appointed to consider the advisability of wiping out the present court lines and having but one court of common pleas instead of four, in that county. The argument in favor of but one court is that cases would then be tried in their order, and there would be no such thing as one court with little to do and another with congested dockets. The report goes back to the first constitution of the state, and cites numerous precedents to show that the legislature has ample power to arrange the courts as it deems best.

The appeal of Louis O. Hine, convicted of first degree murder in Philadelphia, was argued. Hine and his wife had a "gypsy camp" in Woodside park, Philadelphia. Hine grew jealous of a man named Roberts, who made another show in the park, and after a quarrel with his wife he left the park. Subsequently he met Roberts and knocked him down. On August 3, 1904, Hine went back to Woodside park, found Roberts and his wife sitting in the gypsy tent, and opened fire on them. He killed his wife and badly wounded Roberts. His appeal for another trial is based on evidence discovered since the first trial, and the allegation of his attorney that the assistant district attorney in charge of the case having agreed to accept a verdict of second degree, he had not prepared the case for trial.

Many Cases Argued.

Other cases argued were: Catherine Behns vs. the Pennsylvania railroad, appellant, common pleas, Cambria county, an action over the death of the plaintiff's husband; Mary Morse, appellant, vs. the Hartmont Walker Company, common pleas, Cambria county, an action based on personal injuries; Bernard Gibney, jr., vs. the Hartmont Walker Refractories Company, appellant, common pleas, Cambria county, an action over the closing of a private road.

The case of the county of Venango vs. the Penn Refining Company was continued. Justice Dean of Mercer was appointed to the place of Shields, appellant, vs. Kaylor Morgan et al., vs. Hartley Oil and Gas Company, appellants; Wilcox, appellant, vs. Kendall, Jr., et al., vs. West Shore Land Company vs. Venango, appellant; Shaner et al. vs. Hicks et al. appellants; McElhose et al., appellants, vs. Robinson, appellee; Hall et al., appellants, vs. Hartley Oil and Gas Company; Collins et al., appellants, vs. Gaupp et al.

The applications for leaves were in eastern circuit cases and but two of them were of general interest. One got an end to a strong attack upon the seventh court, the act creating it being explained at all points by the supreme court in the opinion which was written by Justice Brown.

Frank Fisher was sent to the house of refuge by the court of quarter sessions of Philadelphia sitting as the juvenile court. An appeal was taken to the supreme court, which sustained the court's action. Under the question as to the right of the supreme court, upon an appeal from the actions of both lower courts in the juvenile manner, the decree reading: "In one of the objections urged against the constitutionality of the act can prevail. The assignments of error are, therefore, all overruled and the order of the superior court affirming the commitments before is affirmed."

The appeal was based on allegations that the defendant was tried without the panel by the process of law; that he was denied trial by jury; that the court was an unconstitutional body; that the act provides different punishment for the same offenses by a classification according to age, and that the act embodies more subjects than one, some of which are not expressed in the title.

For Salvation, Not Punishment.

Justice Brown places great stress on the fact that the act is not for the punishment, but is for the salvation of children. It picks no particular class, but takes within the protection of the state all children under 21 years of age. That prisoners may be classed according to age is shown by numerous acts which are cited. The opinion asserts that no court is created. The act only confers new duties on the quarter session court. The latter is not merely a criminal court in appellate cases, but is given by statute and by common law and statute both here and in England, has for generations been a court of broad, general police powers in its way connected with its criminal jurisdiction. With its jurisdiction unrestricted by the constitution it is for the legislature to declare what powers shall be exercised by it as a general police court. As for the composition of juvenile court, the opinion says, the judges are the records remain those of the quarter session court. The opinion is commended by the appellate court because it avoids the question of the right of the juvenile court to try adults, because there being an opinion of Lord Mansfield in the case of an old supervisor act, delivered in 1436.

Theater-goers will be interested in another opinion written by Justice Brown in the case of Wilbur Horney against Nixon & Zimmerman, an appeal from common pleas court No. 4 of Philadelphia county. Owing to changes made in the theater by order of a fire commission the seat sold by Horney was not available. He would only take another seat, but elected to accept the return of his money and brought suit for damages. He lost in the lower court and carried the case up.

Rights of a Theater Owner.

Justice Brown, in affirming the lower court, lays down some general law. He says the proprietor of a theater is a private individual, engaged in a strictly private business, invited to those whom he may agree to admit to his entertainments. There is no duty, as in the case of a common carrier, to admit everybody who may apply, or who is willing to purchase a ticket, for the theater proprietor has acquired no peculiar rights from the state, and is under no implied obligation to serve the public. After quoting from other cases Justice Brown says:

"In the light of these and other authorities a

Judge Nathan Goff's Producer Best in the Southwest Field

The best producer reported from the lower southwest field is Judge Nathan Goff's No. 49, on his farm located on Rock Camp run, Sardis district, Harrison county. The first 24 hours after the well was drilled into the Gordon pay it produced 250 barrels. The South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the J. W. Edgell farm 40 feet into the stray and has developed no oil or gas. This location is about 1,000 feet northeast of the good producer just drilled in the Judge Goff farm. When drilled into the Gordon it should make a good producer. The prospects for a pool of some dimensions are rather promising. There has been drilling in that section, but the territory has not been carefully tested and if it should prove good producing territory there will be room for a number of wells.

Near Sardis, Harrison county, the Hope Natural Gas Company has drilled its test on the Ladin Ash farm through the Gordon and has a small gasser. It is now drilling to the fifth sand. Near Wilsonburg, in the same county, the Hutton Gas Company has drilled its test on the M. J. Francis farm through the Gordon and has a very good gasser. In Freemans Creek district, Lewis county, the Crude Oil Company has drilled its second test on the H. W. Rondine farm through the Gordon and found a light gas pressure. It is now drilling to the fifth sand and should make an oil producer from that level. In the same district the Philadelphia company has drilled its test on the M. T. Tate farm into the fourth sand and has a light gasser. In the same locality the Reserve Gas Company has drilled its test on the W. G. Bailey farm into the Gordon and got some gas and is now drilling to the fifth sand. In the Hebron district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil company has drilled its test on the Garrison farm into the Cow Run sand and has a show for a very light producer. In the Burning Springs district, Wirt county, the East and West Oil Company has completed its No. 34 on the Frank Rex farm and has a 10-barrel pumper in the Cow Run sand. In the same district Shrier Bros. have completed a test on the Thomas Lewis farm and have a very light pumper in the same formation. G. W. Roberts, trustee, has started to drill at No. 3 on the Robert Perrine farm. In the Yellow Creek district, Calhoun county, the Guaranty Oil Company has completed No. 8 on the W. W. Knight farm and has a show for a 15-barrel pumper in the Berea grit. The South Penn Oil Company has completed and shot its No. 2 on the M. J. Snyder farm and has a 20-barrel producer. This location is 600 feet north of the first well drilled on this farm. The Eastern Oil Company has drilled its test on the Calvin Wilson lot into the Maxon sand and has developed a fair gas pressure. It will not be drilled to the Berea grit at present. The gas will be used for fuel in the field. The South Penn Oil Company's No. 12 on the H. I. Jackson farm is holding up at 125 barrels a day. In the Wellsburg field, in Brook county, the Hickman & Co. test on the Sabina Lewis farm is holding up at 125 barrels a day.

On the Ohio side, in the Woodsfield district, Monroe county, the Carter O
